Kennedy Lays It On The Line In Soviet Press Interview

Says Effort 'To Communize' Is Root Of World Conflict

WASHINGTON (AP) — President John F. Kennedy told the Soviet people through their own government newspaper today that the root of East-West troubles is the Russian effort to "communize . . . the entire world."

In an interview with Alexei Adzhubei, editor of Izvestia and son-in-law of Premier Nikita Khrushchev, the U.S. chief executive laid heavy stress on the aim of freedom of choice for peoples—and he said the peoples of Eastern Europe do not have it.

Kennedy dealt with the Berlin conflict as the focus of East-West tensions, overshadowing issues such as trade and disarmament. An agreement on Berlin could lead to "peace in this century in Central Europe," Kennedy said. But he firmly turned thumbs down again on a settlement that would give the East German puppet regime control over West Berlin or its access routes.

On another major point of East-West conflict, Kennedy told the Soviet editor:

"It is this effort to push outward the Communist system, on to country after country, that represents, I think, the great threat to peace."

'NATIONAL INTERIOR'

"If the Soviet Union looked only to its national interest and to providing a better life for its people under conditions of peace, I think there would be nothing that would disturb the relations between the Soviet Union and the United States."

The lengthy interview, which took place last Saturday at Kennedy's home in Hyannis Port, Mass., was as much dialogue as a question-and-answer session.

To Kennedy's comment on the Soviet's attempt to spread its system around the world, Adzhubei replied, "I cannot agree with you in that part of your answer where you are saying that we are trying to 'communize' the world."

'AGAINST EXPORT'

Adzhubei said the Communist party congress last month declared "that we are against any export of the revolution, but we are also against any export of counterrevolution."

He told Kennedy that from the Soviet viewpoint, the United States is interfering in the affairs of many other countries.

In response to Adzhubei's remarks, Kennedy said he did not want to get into a debate. But he asserted that the United States wants every nation to have the right to make a free choice as to its government.

The president noted that in the beginning the great majority of Cubans supported the revolution led by Fidel Castro, but he said Castro has failed to keep his commitments on free elections and progress.

Until Castro permits free and honest elections, Kennedy said, his regime cannot claim to represent the majority.

With reference to Cheddi Jagan, leftist leader of British Guiana, Kennedy said: "Mr. Jagan, on the other hand, who was recently elected prime minister in British Guiana is a Marxist, but the United States doesn't object — because that choice was made by an honest election, which he won."

Giving a general view, Kennedy said:

"If the people of any country choose to follow a Communist system in a free election, after a fair opportunity for a number of views to be presented, the United States would accept that. What we find to be objectionable and a threat to the people, is when a system is imposed by a small militant group by subversion, infiltration, and all the rest."

Kennedy added that the United States hopes the Soviet Union will also accept and recognize the right of free choice by other peoples.

"If we could get that on both sides," Kennedy said, "I believe the Soviet Union and the United States, which have so

State Might Relax Date On Hospital

Fusselman Says Prospects Good For Time Change

Prospects for a slight relaxation of the state's Dec. 11 "first deadline" for county hospital solution are good, Chairman William D. Fusselman told his fellow supervisors yesterday.

Fusselman reported informally on events since last week, including instruction to County Engineer Harold M. Engle to busy himself at top speed in preparing plans and specifications for temporary strengthening of the present hospital in Lucas Valley.

Engle thought he "might need two or three days more" than allowed by the Dec. 11 deadline, said Fusselman. He said Robert J. Barnecut, the state's engineer, had agreed and intimated extra leeway could be arranged.

LETTER READ

Just before adjournment, Asst. Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell handed the board a letter reporting investigation of the recent offer by attorney Peter Allen Smith on behalf of clients showed that it would be "definitely feasible to Marin County" to take up this private construction deal, entailing care at $350 per patient monthly.

Mitchell had been asked to check figures submitted by Smith as against current cost to the county, which he gave as $346.50 per patient, including items not in the Smith offer. Deducting doctors' salaries and cost of prescriptions and drugs, this figure came down to $319.60.

$665,000 COST

Assuming a county construction cost of $665,000 for a new hospital, Mitchell estimated $37.40 monthly depreciation cost which brought the over-all county cost to $357, which was the figure he compared with Smith's $350.

Mitchell explained he got the $665,000 cost figure from another private offer by Frank E. March, consisting of $585,000 for cost of structure plus $80,000 for equipment, but not including land cost. Marsh's proposal, one of three private offers so far laid before the board, calls for construction on county-owned property.

Since acceptance of the temporary strengthening plan by the state is conditional on supervisors' agreement on some scheme for providing a new hospital — this decision being due no later than Dec. 18—further consideration of permanent plans was on this afternoon's agenda.

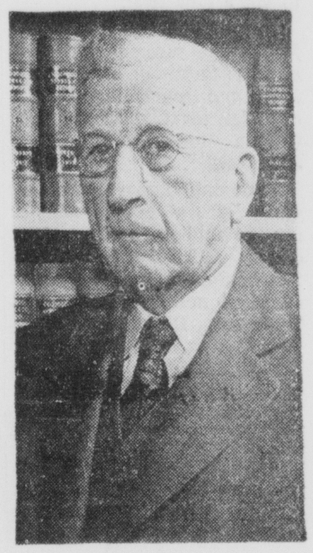
Edward I. Butler Succumbs At 87; Former Judge Of Superior Court

Marin Public Service Dates Back To 1906



EDWARD I. BUTLER
Court service set record

Edward I. Butler, who served 31 years as Marin Superior Court judge, died early today in a local hospital after a series of strokes. He was 87 years old.

Requiem High Mass will be celebrated for him at 9:30 a.m. Thursday at St. Raphael's Catholic Church, with the cortege forming at 9:15 a.m. at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery. The Rosary will be recited at the mortuary at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

Judge Butler entered the hospital Nov. 18 after suffering a heart attack at a rest home at 1535 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, where he had resided since his health began to fail about two years ago.

Judge Butler's 31 years on the Superior Court bench is a record for Marin County. He was appointed in 1920 to fill out the term of Judge Edgar T. Zook, who had retired. Re-elected five times without opposition, he retired in 1951.

The judge-to-be entered politics in 1906. He was successful in his first race, being elected assemblyman from Marin County. He served four years in the Assembly, then ran for district attorney, failing to unseat the incumbent, Thomas Boyd, father of present San Rafael attorney Thomas P. Boyd.

CITY ATTORNEY

In 1912, he was elected city attorney of San Rafael. He served in that office until 1915, then was elected district attorney in his second bid for that office. He served as district attorney until appointed to the bench.

His years on the bench embraced the period of the "noble experiment" — prohibition — during which liquor runners unloaded their wares in secluded coves along the Marin shore. Many prohibition cases, as well as other crimes, including murder, which rose from underworld contests over the liquor traffic, were tried in his court. It was the only Superior Court in Marin until 1950, the year before Judge Butler's retirement.

BORN IN MONTEREY

He was born Nov. 21, 1874, in Monterey, the son of Michael Butler, a carpenter, and Mary A. Butler, both immigrants from Ireland. When he was a small child, the family moved to Napa, and in 1880 moved to Inverness, settling in what was then known as Carlin Gulch and starting a dairy business. Later they lived for a time in the White House, near Point Reyes Station, then acquired a large dairy ranch on the Point Reyes Peninsula near Drake's Estero.

Butler attended Point Reyes School and the old Black District Grammar School. In 1896, he entered old St. Mary's College in Oakland, and completed both high school and college courses to receive his A.B. degree four years later. During his last year at college, he was student body president. He was on football, baseball and track teams at the college.

Three years at Hastings College of Law in San Francisco followed. After admission to

Mrs. Smith Says She Would Like To Resign

Mrs. Elizabeth Rudel Smith of Kentfield, treasurer of the United States, told a hometown audience at College of Marin today she would like to resign to participate in the California campaign next year, "but I will discuss the situation with people in Washington."

Mrs. Smith gave a talk entitled "The Role of the Educated Woman in a World of Tension" to a crowded assembly today at 11 a.m., in Olney Hall.

Mrs. Smith stressed the importance of the United States system of government over the dictatorship type of government. She was against radical right and radical left theories.

"I am, by nature, an active participant in government affairs," she said.

"The 1962 elections in California are more significant than any other state in the United States," said Mrs. Smith.

She said she would not be able to participate in the California campaign and remain at her position in Washington.

"Our world today, the future is yours to mold, I wish you luck," she said in closing her speech, which was followed by questions from the audience.

Among the questions was a query on the progress of her plan for various colors of currency. She answered that she had not yet taken it up with Secretary of the Treasury C. Douglas Dillon, but plans to in about two weeks.

A similar question regarding changing the size of currency for various denominations was brought up but she said the problem in the Bureau of Engraving would be too great at this time. "One thing at a time," she declared.

$60,000-Plan For Paradise Park Discussed

A $60,000 project for renovating the fishing pier and building a boat launching ramp at Marin Country's Paradise Park near Tiburon was discussed by state and county officials today.

Ray J. Nesbit, coordinator of the State Wild Life Conservation Board, outlined a proposal by which the board would reconstruct the pier and build boat facilities, then turn it over to the county for operation and maintenance.

The dock, an adjunct of the former Tiburon Naval Net Depot, would be reinforced and resurfaced, a rail placed around it and benches installed. The boat-launching ramp, 35 feet wide, would be constructed south of the pier.

Supervisor J. Walter Blair invited conservation board representatives to attend a meeting of the board of supervisors to explain the project. Nesbit suggested that it be considered by the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission, scheduled to meet Dec. 6.

Gibbs Lawson, chairman of the parks commission, said an earlier plan for a boat-launching ramp at the site had met with opposition from property owners. The present master plan for the park, up for consideration at the next meeting, does not include a ramp.

Literary Life Gets Rough In Sausalito

The Sausalito literary scene was unusually turbulent today —so turbulent that two editors of Contact magazine and a part-time janitor wound up in jail after a battle with police.

The literary flavor of the fisticuffs was heightened by the fact they occurred just outside the Bar With No Name at 757 Bridgeway, which is frequented by the avant garde literati and publishes a literary journal of sorts itself.

Jailed were William Harvey Ryan, 33, of 317 Bridgeway, Sausalito, editor and publisher of Contact; his co-editor, Calvin Brice Kentfield, 37, of 100 Greenbrae Boardwalk, Larkspur, author of the book, "Mrs Bridge," and Norman Anthony Disher, 35, the part-time janitor, who gave his address as P.O. Box 94, Sausalito.

The affair started as a tussle, for unknown reason, between Ryan and Kentfield.

Police Officers Robert Ward and John Higgins were on duty at 2 a.m., sitting in a patrol car outside the police station with Officer Ted Zink, who had gone off duty at midnight. They saw a crowd on the sidewalk across the street and investigated.

At that point, Higgins claimed, Disher grabbed him from behind and gave him a hefty shove. Higgins crashed into the

Strike In Paris

PARIS (UPI)—Paris became almost a ghost city today when public utilities and transportation were cut off by a nationwide strike of a half-million French workers.

Railway workers began a 24-hour strike at 4 a.m. Parisian subway and bus employees walked out an hour later. Gas, electrical and water services were cut off at 6 a.m.

The strike, supported by all three major trade unions, was aimed at forcing the government to end its freeze on wages and prices.

Trial Plea Rejected

RUSSELL, Kan. (AP) — Two young soldiers condemned to the gallows for one of seven murders have lost an attempt to get a new trial.

Judge Benedict P. Cruise rejected the motion yesterday, and set Saturday for sentencing James Douglas Latham, 19, of Mauriceville, Tex., and George Ronald York, 18, of Jacksonville, Fla.

York and Latham were found guilty of first-degree murder for the robbery slaying of an elderly railroad worker near Sharon Spring, Kan. They also admitted murders in Florida, Tennessee, Illinois and Colorado.

Knight In Hospital

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Former Gov. Goodwin J. Knight's doctor says he's 90 per cent sure the 64-year-old Republican has hepatitis and will need at least four weeks to recover.

The doctor's statement came as Knight's campaign aides were denying yesterday that illness would knock him out of the 1962 gubernatorial contest.

Knight has been in a suburban Burbank hospital since Saturday and tests for infectious hepatitis were ordered. Results of the tests are not yet in hand.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Western actor Gene Autry, 52, co-owner of the Los Angeles Angels, has pleaded guilty to a drunken driving charge and paid a $1,500.

He was given a 10-day suspended sentence and placed on probation for three years.

3 Die In Crash

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (UPI)—A B-47 six-jet Air Force bomber crashed in flames last night attempting an emergency landing at Plattsburgh Air Force Base where another crippled B-47 managed a safe landing.

Three crew members perished in the flaming wreckage, but the fourth staggered away from the crash scene and was reported in "good" condition at the base hospital with a sprained back.

Both of the two-million-dollar planes were attached to the 100th Bombardment Wing of the Strategic Air Command at Pease Air Force Base, New Hampshire.

ANKARA, Turkey (UPI)—Premier Ismet Inonu said yesterday the new Turkish government's foreign policy would continue to be based on its alliance with the West.

Inonu, outlining the program of the coalition government he formed this month, said Turkey "sincerely wishes" to join the European Common Market. It already is a member of NATO and CENTO, the western military alliances.

Hollywood Pair Weds

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Actor Ben Gazzara and actress Janice Rule eloped to San Francisco last weekend because "it is such a romantic place" and they decided it was time to get married.

Gazzara, 31, and Miss Rule, revealed yesterday they were married.

We have been going together for two years and decided it was about time we got married . . . we chose San Francisco because it is such a romantic place and I had never been there," Gazzara explained.

It was the second marriage for both.

The couple took out a license here Saturday morning and that night were married in the San Francisco home of judge Leland Lazarus.

Philco Corp. Sale To Ford Is Approved

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Stockholders of the Philco Corp. today approved sale of the company to Ford Motor Co.

Stockholders approved the sale by a vote of 3,426,653 to 80,801.

Philco President James M. Skinner Jr., announced that the transaction will be closed on or before Dec. 11, probably in Dearborn, Mich.

Common stockholders voted 3,335,940 in favor of the sale with 80,471 against. Preferred holders voiced approval by a vote of 90,713 to 330.

Approximately 250 persons attended the meeting at Philco headquarters here. There was extensive questioning of Skinner by stockholders who objected to the sale on the grounds that the proposed exchange of 4½ shares of Philco stock for 1 share of Ford stock was "unfair."

Clash Over Bridges' Vacancies Discounted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George D. Aitken (R-Vt.) discounted today reports that Republican liberals and conservatives may clash over filling party posts vacated by the death of Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N.H.).

Aiken, who quarterbacked an unsuccessful 1958 effort of liberals to capture the GOP floor leadership which went to Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.) said in a telephone interview he has given no thought to organizing a similar drive next January.

"I hope the vacancies will be filled with men who will add to the progressive image of the party in the 1962 elections," he said. "But I doubt that we're going to have any fight about it."

Aiken said he assumes that if Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass.) wants it he can have the job of chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, which Bridges held. Saltonstall, who takes a middle road course, is regarded as far less conservative than Bridges.

If Saltonstall takes this job, his own chairmanship of the conference of all Republican senators would be open when GOP members meet in January to realign their forces.

Aiken, who has been mentioned as a possible choice for the conference chairmanship, said "some mighty unusual circumstances" would have to arise for him to take the job. He said he prefers to operate as an individual, without assuming responsibilities for party policies with which he might disagree.

Sen. John Sherman Cooper, (R-Ky.) who made the unsuccessful race against Dirksen in 1958, has told friends he isn't particularly interested in trying again for a leadership spot.

The policy and conference chairmanships are less attractive than they were when a GOP president was in the White House but the leadership posts carry a measure of prestige and add to the audience of any senator who holds the title. For this reason several Republican veterans may be in the bidding for them.

Among these may be Sens. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind.), Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) and Karl E. Mundt (R-S.D.). All are classed as conservatives.

Rockefeller Ends Personal Search For His Missing Son

HOLLANDIA, Dutch New Guinea (AP) — New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller today abandoned his fruitless personal search for his youngest son Michael in the treacherous New Guinea jungle and began the long, sad journey home.

"The chances of finding Mike are greatly diminished," Rockefeller said as he left search headquarters in Merauke, on the south coast of Dutch New Guinea.

"A miracle could happen and perhaps it will. But we must be realistic. The hope is very small," the governor said.

The governor's 23-year-old son has been missing since his native catamaran raft capsized off the swampy jungle south coast area and he tried to swim to the shore three and one-half miles away on Nov. 19. A Dutch companion stayed with the overturned raft and was rescued the next day.

Although Rockefeller left for the United States, the hunt for his son will continue. Australian helicopters planned another day of criss-crossing the 1,000-square-mile search area, and ground parties of Papuan natives and Dutch officials will comb the jungle for at least another month, checking isolated native villages in the chance that the youth lies hurt or ill in one of them.

The search for young Rockefeller was the biggest ever made in New Guinea, enlisting between 6,000 and 7,000 persons on the ground, ships of the Dutch navy at sea and Dutch, Australian and private planes.

Bowles Job: 'Neglected Countries'

New Post Deals With Africa, Asia And Latin America

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chester Bowles, President John F. Kennedy's new special adviser on African, Asian and Latin American affairs, will be dealing with countries he feels the United States has neglected.

Kennedy announced the new post for Bowles late yesterday, 24 hours after removing the controversial Democrat from the No. 2 job in the state department.

AMBASSADOR

Bowles, in his new assignment, will report directly to Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk on "long-range planning and policy in this area and the improvement of our operation and representation in the countries involved," the White House said.

He will have the title of ambassador. Press secretary Pierre Salinger refused to say whether the new job would be a promotion or demotion for Bowles. However, sources said Bowles would get a raise from his present $22,500 a year salary and an increase in his protocol rank.

White House officials sought to emphasize the positive aspects of Bowles' new job.

REPLACEMENT

Bowles was replaced as undersecretary of state by George W. Ball, the former undersecretary for economic affairs. The move, included in Sunday's job reshuffling in the White House and state department, was expected to give Rusk a firmer grip over the department and afford better coordination of foreign policy operations.

Salinger said Bowles' new job carries "particular emphasis on problems of the new and developing countries."

"He will undertake special missions for the president in these areas," Salinger said, and will be an ex-officio member of the policy planning council.

JFK DELIGHTED

"The president is delighted to have Bowles in the new job, which deals with an area Kennedy "considers second to none in importance," Salinger said.

Stories have been rife that Bowles was on the way out of the State Department because of a lack of administrative talent.

Bowles was assigned to the territory he knows and likes best.

He has maintained since joining the administration that the United States too long has turned its back on Africa, Latin America and Asia.

"Right now," Bowles said Aug. 15, "most Asians, Africans and Latin Americans are profoundly skeptical of our capacity consistently to live up to our revolutionary tradition in support of self-determination and equality for all peoples."

U.S., Britain Agree To Turn Down Russ 'New' Test Ban Plan

Soviet Bid For Uncontrolled Ban Held Loaded By West

GENEVA (UPI)—U.S. and British nuclear delegates agreed formally today to turn down Russia's new bid for an indefinite uncontrolled nuclear test ban, it was reported here.

U.S. delegation chief Arthur H. Dean and British Minister of State Joseph Godber decided at a strategy session on firm opposition to Moscow's loaded "new approach" nuclear plan, informed sources said.

Soviet delegate Semyon K. Tsarapin was scheduled to present the Kremlin's new four-point test ban proposal to the Geneva conference which resumes this afternoon after a three-month recess.

The United States and Britain agreed to reaffirm at the Geneva conference table their insistence on effective, international policing of any nuclear test ban, the sources said.

They were calling for an explanation of Russia's latest "nuclear offerings" to determine whether the Soviets intend to back completely out of their previous agreement that a test ban should be properly policed.

The two Western nuclear powers had not received any direct information from the Soviets on the so-called "new" plan 20 hours after it had been handed out by the Kremlin to neutralist nations.

"They did not even have the courtesy to hand us a copy," one Western source said.

They refuted as "ridiculous" charges by Pravda, the Communist Party organ, in Moscow today that the United States and Britain were "utilizing information from French atomic tests."

But the Moscow rumblings were considered an ill omen for any fruitful negotiations. Hopes for agreement on a test ban were slimmer than ever.

Bay Area Telephone Strike Is Settled

OAKLAND (AP) — A four-day strike of Bay Area telephone workers against the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. and the Western Electronic Co. ended early today.

Announcement of the settlement came at the end of talks that began at 5 p.m. yesterday.

Cal Lord, president of Communications Workers of America, Oakland Local 9415, emerged from the final bargaining session at 3:40 a.m. and announced:

"We have reached a settlement of the entire dispute on the condition we order the people back to work this morning."

A telephone company spokesman confirmed the statement and said that pickets were already being withdrawn.

The strike began Friday to back up demands that two women operators suspended by the telephone company be reinstated. The CWA estimated that 8,000 workers were off the job yesterday.

Lord said officials of 30 other locals in Northern California and Nevada had agreed last night to join the walkout unless the dispute was settled.

Lord said the company had agreed that there would be no disciplinary action or recrimination on the part of either PT&T or Western Electric.

"We won the point that all PT&T grievances will be settled immediately," Lord said. "The Western Electric Co. stated that it is ready to submit its suspension and other issues to immediate arbitration."

Western Electric, which supplies equipment for the telephone company, was struck after more than 400 workers were suspended for using company time to join the protest against PT&T. Western Electric workers are also members of Local 9415.

Main effect of the strike was delay in some long distance calls, the company said.

U.S. Votes For Asian-African Plan In U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The United States split with its major Western allies last night and joined 96 other U.N. members in overwhelming endorsement of an Asian-African resolution creating a 17-member committee to make recommendations for speeding an end to colonialism.

There were no opposing votes. Britain, France, Spain and South Africa abstained, Honduras was absent and Portugal—a chief target of the resolution—was listed as not participating.

The General Assembly rejected a Soviet proposal to have the assembly declare 1962 "the year of the elimination of colonialism." The vote was 19 in favor, 46 opposed and 36 abstentions.

Thus for the second straight year the assembly refused to let the Soviet Union take the leadership away from the newly independent countries of Asia and Africa in their drive against colonialism.

Last year the United States abstained on an Asian-African resolution urging a speedy end to colonialism. Some members of the U.S. delegation made it plain they personally opposed the abstention—cast on orders of the Eisenhower administration then in office.

Buy an annuity and live

Financial insecurity can lead to a barren and lonely existence for the older person. Those years after 60 can also bring the fear of out-living capital and the worry of managing the savings of a lifetime. The result—often severe stresses that can be dangerous to both physical and mental health.

People who buy annuities buy freedom from worry and fear. Our annuitants find that a regular income guaranteed for life brings peace of mind, helps make those sunset years a rich and satisfying experience. And we know that many live to a ripe old age.

Whether you are 30 and buying an annuity in advance or you are 70 and want payments to start now there's an annuity designed to bring you peace of mind. The Man from Manufacturers would be pleased to give you the complete story. Be sure to ask him about the favourable tax picture.

Two Accused Of Swindle Attempt Are Arraigned

Two Los Angeles men accused of attempting to swindle a retired 72-year-old Larkspur banker were arraigned in Marin Superior Court yesterday on extortion charges and granted a continuance by Judge Richard M. Sims Jr. to Dec. 11.

William A. Simon, 56, remained free in $5,250 bail. Robert T. Brown, 25, who had been free in the same amount, was returned to Marin County Jail when a bondsman reported one of the persons guaranteeing the bail had withdrawn.

The two are accused of trying to extort money from Redmond Everhard of 210 Murray Avenue, Larkspur, after Brown met him last September in Pershing Square in Los Angeles.

Everhard told Larkspur Police Chief Howard Clark that Brown persuaded him to go to a hotel room and then flashed what appeared to be a police bodge and told him he was under arrest on suspicion of lewd acts.

Everhard said he talked Brown out of the "arrest." He said a few days later, after he had returned to Larkspur, both Brown and Simon appeared at his home, showed badges and said they had come to return him to Los Angeles, then said he could post bail with them and skip any court appearance. Everhard locked the pair in the house and called police.

Records show Brown was arrested 11 times in five states since 1953, Clark said, and Simon had been arrested in 1926 in Dallas on a charge of bilking a hotel.

DEMO SPEAKER — Howard H. Jewell of San Francisco, assistant attorney general of California, will speak on "The Radical Right Versus Civil Liberties" before the San Rafael Democratic Club at Bermuda Palms at 8:30 p.m. on Wednesday. The meeting is open to the public.

Second Trial Is Scheduled For Accused Wife-Slayer

A second trial for Robert Burdett Rogers, 42, San Gabriel contractor, on a wife murder charge was set in Marin Superior Court yesterday for Jan. 9. The trial by jury is expected to last about two weeks.

Judge Richard M. Sims Jr. denied the request of attorney George T. Davis of San Francisco, who recently took Roger's case, for a change of venue. He also denied a request for bail and Rogers remained in Marin County Jail.

Rogers had received a number of continuances when his Southern California attorneys said they could not appear in court. He pleaded innocent to the new charge Oct. 23.

Rogers was convicted of slaying his estranged wife, Bertie, in San Rafael two years ago, and sentenced to five years to life in prison. Last July the State Supreme Court set aside the conviction and ordered a new trial on the basis that improper testimony was allowed in evidence in the first trial.

Canned Fruit Sales On Increase In U.S.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Canned fruit sales in the nation's supermarkets are increasing at a more rapid rate than overall store sales, the grocery edition of Chain Store Age reports.

Customer demand for canned fruit has pushed the total to $421 million in 1960 — a gain of 49 per cent over the last six years as compared with a gain of 42 per cent for the food chains as a whole.

Novato Club Directors Will Discuss Disbanding

Whether the Novato Community Club will be disbanded or kept alive will be discussed by the club's directors at 8 o'clock tonight in the clubhouse auditorium at the same time the Novato City Council is meeting in the dining room.

John Sorenson, president of Novato Community, Inc., said if the directors vote to disband the club, they must dispose of its remaining physical assets.

Although the club lost the clubhouse to the city, it still owns the furnishings, Sorenson said.

The city council will meet in the temporary city hall at 8 p.m. and then adjourn to the clubhouse dining room for its first meeting in the clubhouse. It introduced an ordinance two weeks ago to move its meeting place to the clubhouse.

The city was awarded the clubhouse on Sept. 14, in a suit in Marin County Superior Court.

"The city council will be using our chairs and tables for its meeting," Sorenson said.

Club membership is now 181, or within 40 of the all time high, Sorenson said. He maintained that the garden, book and drama sections are still in the club, although they have voted to withdraw. The drama section changed its name to Novato Community Theater. The garden section voted to withdraw to become the Novato Garden Club.

Persons injured in accidents in the United States last year totaled 46.4 million.

KENNEDY

much to gain from peace, could live in peace."

Kennedy told Adzhubei, for the Russian people to read, that if progress could be made on the problem of Germany and Berlin, "then in my opinion it would provide a most important step in improving our relations in other areas."

Kennedy said also that an agreement to ban nuclear tests would lead to other agreements on disarmament.

The interview was published just as U.S. and British negotiators met with Soviet representatives at Geneva in a resumption of nuclear test ban talks which collapsed when the Soviet Union began testing in the atmosphere last September.

Kennedy said Berlin is a critical area of great concern to both East and West.

"If we can solve the problem of Germany and Berlin, I believe we can find our relations substantially improved," Kennedy said.

Declaring that both countries had suffered heavy losses in World War II, and that he personally had lost a brother and a brother-in-law in that war, Kennedy said: "We want to prevent another war arising out of Germany."

Throughout the interview—not one in the U.S. tradition—Adzhubei persistently made little speeches to lay the Soviet line against what Kennedy said.

He contended that "social changes" which have occurred in the world have been voluntary instead of the result of instigation from Moscow.

"What we object to," Kennedy said, "is the attempt to impose communism by force, or a situation where once a people may have fallen under communism, the Communists do not give them a fair opportunity to make another choice."

Kennedy asserted that peoples of Eastern Europe — behind the Iron Curtain — lack the privilege of free choice.

Adzhubei countered by saying the Communists do not consider certain elections to be free in the Western world. He asserted that "for a long period of time you considered that Trujillo (the assassinated dictator of the Dominican Republic) was elected in a way. You have been saying the same about the regime of the Shah of Iran as well."

Then Adzhubei asked about the Soviet proposal for an agreement on what the Russians call general and complete disarmament. He asked what Kennedy's views are as to the prospects of such a pact.

Kennedy reminded him that the United States and the Soviet Union in their joint declaration last September agreed on the principle of general disarmament.

But, the president added, there is a "basic disagreement" in this area.

The Soviet Union, Kennedy reminded, would permit only inspection of weapons which are destroyed and would not allow inspection of weapons which remain.

"One side could destroy 100 bombers but still have 1,000 or 2,000 bombers left," Kennedy said.

"If you are really going to provide orderly disarmament, it seems to me you have to inspect not only those weapons which have been destroyed, but also these weapons that remain."

The Soviet Union has repeatedly branded similar Western proposals as an attempt at spying.

Kennedy, continuing his reply, said the United States cannot now withdraw its forces from Europe when the Soviets would, as their part of the arrangement, withdraw their troops only a few hundred miles.

Therefore, he added, there must be an "understanding" on the Berlin and German questions.

Kennedy said he is "hopeful" that the Soviet Union in future negotiations "will permit us to continue to exercise the rights which we now have in West Berlin."

The United States, he said, wants to stay in West Berlin only as long as the people ask for this country to stay.

Then Kennedy repeated that if the two big powers can reach an agreement on West Berlin and on "a peaceful settlement in the center of Europe" then relations between the two countries will greatly improve.

Adzhubei again spelled out the well-known Soviet position, saying his country does not intend to turn West Berlin over to East Germany and that the freedom of West Berlin could be guaranteed by adding Soviet troops to the forces of the three Western powers.

But he said it would be elementary to ask permission of the East Germans to visit West Berlin or to send goods into the city.

Then he said that according to the Potsdam agreement the entire city of Berlin was put under four-power authority and the Soviet Union violated this agreement by turning East Berlin over to East Germany.

Now the Soviet Union seeks to place Soviet troops in West Berlin, Kennedy said, but does not suggest that troops of the other three powers be placed in East Berlin.

As to access to West Berlin, Kennedy said the statements of East German Communist Chief Walter Ulbricht, "which vary from week to week" give no assurances whatsoever for freedom of access to West Berlin.

Russians Make One Change In JFK Interview

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House said today the Soviet government made one substantive change in President John F. Kennedy's interview with Izvestia editor Alexei Adzhubei.

Press secretary Pierre Salinger said the original transcript, agreed to by Adzhubei as accurate, quoted the editor as saying the results of Premier Nikita Khrushchev's 1959 visit to the United States "were not completely satisfactory."

As the interview was published in Moscow, however, this sentence was rewritten to say:

"But the positive results of that trip were wrecked and brought to nothing by the well known actions of the then American administration."

Maid Found Hanged In Basement

Lois Mooers, a maid for Dr. and Mrs. M. F. Allende of Sausalito, was found dead this morning in the Allende basement, hanged from a rafter with a length of clothesline.

Chief Deputy Coroner William C. Bradley said Mrs. Allende, who lives at 125 Santa Rosa Avenue, found Miss Mooers was not up and about this morning. Looking for her, she found her at 8:40 a.m. hanging from a rafter in the basement workroom.

A note in Miss Mooers' white smock read: "Dear Beverly, I may be down but not out. Haven't heard the count of 10 yet. Read someplace that it doesn't matter if . . ."

Bradley said her toes were barely touching the floor. He said she apparently tied the clothesline to the rafter and placed a loop about her neck while standing on a chair, then stepped off.

The deputy coroner said he did not know the identity of "Beverly."

Miss Mooers, about 48 years old, had worked for the Allendes for three years, living in the home. She spent her off time with her mother, Mrs. Carol Mooers of 127 Spring Grove Avenue, San Rafael.

Mrs. Allende could give no reason why the maid should have taken her life.

Study Set On Future Of San Jose

San Jose school trustees last night decided to make a study of six possibilities for the future of that district and present it to the Marin County committee on School District Organization.

Unification with Novato District was defeated in last Tuesday's election.

The six possibilities listed by the board were:

1. Another unification election, with election of a board to govern the proposed new district to be held separately.
2. Annexation to the Novato District.
3. Unification of the San Jose District alone.
4. Splitting the district between the San Rafael High School and Novato Unified School Districts by boundary change.
5. Unification with the Dixie District.
6. A high school to be built by San Rafael High School District in the San Jose District.

BUTLER

the bar in 1903, Butler was associated first with the legal firm of Lemmon and Haskins, then established his own law office in San Rafael, where his family had moved meantime to a house on Fifth Avenue.

In 1906, his father built a home on Laurel Place where Judge Butler resided until failing health caused him to enter a rest home on Fifth Avenue two years ago. He resided at the rest home until his fatal illness.

As a member of the California National Guard, Butler spent 34 days on guard duty in San Francisco after earthquake and fire destroyed the city on April 18, 1906.

Judge Butler served for 28 years on the San Rafael Library Board, resigning in 1940.

During six years service in the National Guard, in which he rose to lieutenant, he was a member of the state rifle team that represented California at the National Rifle Shoot at Camp Perry, Ohio, in 1907. His interest in firearms was allied closely to interest in hunting and fishing, which remained his principal hobby until his last years. He was a member of Marin Lodge 1108, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, and of the Knights of Columbus and Native Sons of the Golden West.

Judge Butler never married. After the death of his father, his sister, Mrs. Helen Butler Geary, and her two children shared the Laurel Place home.

The judge was the last of the four children of Michael and Mary A. Butler to survive. He also outlived his sister and two brothers. His closest surviving relative is a nephew, Harold E. Geary of San Rafael.

It took 15 minutes for the three policemen to overcome and handcuff Disher, Ryan and Kentfield — during much of which, they said, they were impeded by Dr. Irving Igdaloff of 45 Caledonia Street.

When the fight finally ended, they drove to Marin General Hospital, where Officer Zink was found to have a bruised elbow, and Ward, a groin injury.

Then the three civilian combatants were taken to the county jail. Kentfield and Ryan were booked on suspicion of resisting arrest, assault and battery, and disturbing the peace, and their bail was set at $1,522.50 each. Disher was also booked on suspicion of felonious assault, with bail set at $2,047.50.

The profits of avant-garde publishing being what they are, nobody had come up with the bail money by this afternoon.

Mrs. Parham contends a settlement made before her divorce from Kaiser in 1948 was the result of a deliberate plan to mislead her about the value of community property.

Actor's Food Firm Under FDA's Fire

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Mrs Mary Cummings, wife of actor Robert Cummings who is vice president of Nutri-Bio Corp., said today the firm claims no therapeutic value for its products.

A shipment of Nutri-Bio vitamin and mineral tablets and literature—including a copy of Cummings' book, "Stay Young and Vital,"—was seized yesterday in Washington by agents of the Food the Drug Administration.

The FDA charged the tablets were falsely promoted as cures for ailments ranging from heart trouble to impotency.

"This apparently was the work of an individual, independent distributor (R. B. Andrews) of the product," said Mrs. Cummings. "He apparently was not operating according to the rules of the Nutri-Bio. We make no claims of therapeutic value. If this person made any claims of therapeutic value he would be subject to termination immediately."

The actor's wife emphasized that Cummings' book was written long before his association with the firm "and has nothing to do with the company."

Cummings earlier said "The company itself makes no such claims. All it (Nutri-Bio) is is a dietary food supplement containing organic vitamins and minerals plus proteins.

"You are what you eat," Cummings has said.

Mrs. Cummings said the Beverly Hills firm is "happy to cooperate with the FDA. We do a job of educating people to get exercise, take care of themselves, eat the best foods they can obtain and to be sure to use supplements."

"We claim no therapeutic qualities for our product. You wouldn't say a carrot is therapeutic. Our product is food. We're in the food business," she said.

Larkspur Plans Unit Meeting Set Tonight

Larkspur planning commissioners will consider rezoning a strip of land 120 feet deep next to Magnolia Avenue, extending from Elite Cleaners 2,600 feet south, from commercial to multiple family residential at their meeting today at 8 p.m. in the city hall.

The planners will decide on architectural supervision for Fred Schefer to construct a new grocery store on Magnolia Avenue at Ward Street.

The commission will also consider a variance request from Robert Busse, Larkspur realty broker, for construction of a residence at Magnolia and Madrone avenues, in an area zoned commercial.

In spite of its description as "prairie wolf" the coyote is much smaller than the true wolf and more closely resembles the jackal.

Construction Contract Is Awarded By Hospital

The board of Ross General Hospital last night awarded to Herrero Brothers of San Francisco a $200,000 contract to build a psychiatric wing and remodel the east wing of its existing building, Dr. John C. Siemens, adminstrator, announced today.

The new construction, to start immediately and be finished by July 1, will provide 16 bed spaces on the second floor of the new structure and enable the psychiatric service to care for 25 patients instead of 10 as heretofore, Dr. Siemens said.

The 65,000 square feet of new construction will provide recreation space, a day room, dining room facilities, and an outdoor patio for patients.

Ground floor space will provide an occupational therapy room, a class room for nursing students and office space for outpatients.

The new psychiatric wing will be attached to the east wing.

Dr. Siemens said the expansion of the psychiatric wing, under the direction of Dr. J. M. Stubblebine, is being financed by the sale of stock to physicians, private loans from friends of the hospital, and an increase in the hospital's loan from Crocker-Anglo National Bank.

Novato Cars Are Pilfered

Apparently someone wanted to outfit his Volkswagen in tires and gasoline. Three people reported to Novato police after work yesterday that their cars had been pilfered sometime Sunday night.

Betty Tobin of 15 Harding Drive reported that someone took a five-gallon can of gasoline from her truck parked at her home.

Consideration of rezoning of Hanna Industrial Park from planned industrial to heavy industrial was continued last night by the Novato Planning Commission until Jan. 22.

A committee was named to work with the developers in drawing up deed restrictions to be applied to the various sections of the industrial park. Named to the committee were Commissioners Howard Schoof and Alfred Bellucci, the county planning staff, and a representative of Hanna Industrial Park developers. This industrial park lies north of Highway 37 and east of Highway 101.

A committee was also named to study Al Miller's request to build a detached building at his residence at 1250 Leafwood Drive which would require a setback variance. This committee is composed of Schoof, Lucille Cannon and Henry J. Kaehler. It is to report Dec. 11.

In other action, the commission:

1. Approved rezoning from limited agricultural to roadside business for John and Rose Rapozo for land adjacent to the Skylark Motel at 5613 Redwood Highway.
2. Approved architectural supervision for the Novato Community Methodist Church on South Novato Boulevard across from Yukon Way.
3. Denied a use permit for Jehovah's Witnesses to build a church on a 17,650-square-foot lot at 801 to 733 Lamont Avenue, contending the lot is inadequate for a church of any size.
4. Approved the tentative map of 2½-acre Canaveral Court subdivision, to be developed by Clark and Moosdorf south of Dutch Court subdivision on McClay Avenue.
5. Granted architectural supervision to Jim Keith for an industrial building on the north side of Grant Avenue 100 feet east of Reichert Avenue.
6. Continued until Jan. 8, a rezoning request of Ralph J. and Gladys A. Weseman to change from residential to general commercial, three lots on the east side of Fourth Street beginning 150 feet north of Grant Avenue.

Bus Is Missing For Several Days

It's one thing to lose a Greyhound bus and it's another not to miss it enough to report it for several days.

Elmer M. McVerry, superintendent of Western Greyhound Lines of San Francisco, yesterday reported to Novato police that someone had taken a Greyhound bus from the company's Novato parking lot on Highway 101 sometime between last Wednesday and Friday.

By the way, he added, the bus has been found—in a shallow ditch in Loma Verde.

Officer Hurt By 2 Youths Back On Job

San Rafael Police Officer John J. Kingston, who was severely hurt when two youths kicked and struck him at a San Rafael restaurant on Oct. 18, has returned to duty after a 16-day layoff.

Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa said Officer Kingston returned to his post yesterday but still requires daily therapy for back injuries.

Ronald D. Abrao, 18, of Marinwood and John D. Forwood, 19, of Novato, are serving six months in jail for the beating. They pleaded guilty to battery, resisting arrest and disturbing the peace. Judge Leonard A. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court gave the youths a scolding before sentencing them to jail and to three years' supervised probation on Nov. 17.

San Rafael police went to the Griddle Cafe on Oct. 18 on complaints that the two youths were bothering patrons. Police said the youths resisted.

Teachers Suspended In 'Triangle' Fight

Charles McCardell, 35, San Francisco naval architect, was free in $2,100 bail today after arraignment in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of felonious assault.

Victim of the assault, Denton S. Winn, 37, of Petaluma, and McCardell's estranged wife, Elaine, of Tamalpais Valley, were suspended from teaching in San Jose District schools last night, pending investigation of the affair.

Winn was released from Marin General Hospital late yesterday after 30 stitches were taken in his scalp and two stitches in his left arm to close wounds which sheriff's officers claimed were inflicted by McCardell with an 18-inch auto jack handle.

Judge Leonard A. Thomas gave McCardell until Monday to plead to the felonious assault charge, reduced from an original charge of assault with intent to commit murder.

McCardell's wife was not injured.

McCardell said he followed Winn and his estranged wife to her home at 366 Tennessee Avenue, Tamalpais Valley, early Sunday. He admitted he struck Winn three times with the jack handle, but claimed he did so in self-defense.

San Jose School District trustees last night decided to take no action on dismissal of Winn and Mrs. McCardell pending a closed session with the two teachers, which was set tentatively for Monday night. Both were suspended from teaching pending that session.

Braverman, owner of Braverman's Furniture in San Anselmo, is associated with W. P. Murray Jr., D. F. Murray, A. J. Bianchi, Forrest E. Brown, Lawrence P. McNear Sr. and Graham McPhail in the venture.

They have petitioned the California State Banking Department for permission to establish the Bank of Marin County, with initial capitalization of one million dollars.

American Deb To Wed Himalayan Prince

NEW YORK (AP) — Hope Cooks, 21-year-old debutante and Sarah Lawrence College student, will become the bride of the Maharaj Kumar, Palden Thondup Namgyal, of the Himalayan mountain principality of Sikkim.

The engagement was announced last night by Miss Cooke's uncle, former Ambassador Selden Chapin and Mrs. Chapin.

They said Miss Cooke is in Sikkim — a tiny country of 150,000 between Nepal and Bhutan just south of Communist China. She is studying the Tibeto-Burman language and the Buddhist religion.

There was no indication whether she plans to convert from her Episcopalian faith to the Buddhist religion.

The Maharaj, 38, a widower, has three children by his previous marriage. He virtually rules his small country and its nomadic population while his father, the Maharaja, occupies himself with religious affairs.

The principality, whose defense and foreign policy is governed by India, has been the target of recent Red Chinese incursions.

The romance between the debutante and the prince began three years ago when Miss Cooke was on a tour of India. Later, she went on a pack trip to Sikkim, where the two renewed their acquaintance.

The engagement will be a long one, with the wedding scheduled no earlier than January, 1963. Buddhist advisers to the ruling family consider the year 1962 unpropitious for the marriage.

Miss Cooke is a daughter of the late Mrs. Hope Noyes Cooke and John J. Cooke. A native of San Francisco, she spent most of her childhood in New York and made her debut in 1958 at the December Debutantes' Ball in Washington.

Check Forging Suspect Is Jailed Again

San Rafael salesman Charles Ashton McDonald, 45, freed four weeks ago of a charge of check forging because of insufficient evidence, was arrested at a San Rafael hotel last night on suspicion of probation violation after another defendant changed his story.

McDonald was arrested several weeks ago after Donald William Bute, 27, unemployed laborer, accused him of implication in forging and passing nearly $1,000 in checks.

Later Bute absolved McDonald, who was released. Still later Bute recanted and said he had cleared McDonald because of a promise to bring him cigarettes in jail.

Larkspur Trustees Will Hear Report

Larkspur School District trustees will hear a report on civil defense from Robert Johnson, principal of San Clemente School, today at 7:30 p.m. at the board meeting in the district office.

The case of Robert W. Cory, San Francisco truck driver charged with being an accomplice of a suspended San Rafael policeman facing trial on conspiracy, burglary and robbery charges, was continued yesterday to Dec. 11 for plea.

Newman is to enter a plea before Judge Sims next Monday. Robert H. Miller, 37, San Francisco refrigerator store employee, is to be arraigned the same day. Fred W. Sullins, 21, former San Francisco night club bouncer and third man accused of being an accomplice, pleaded innocent Nov. 20 and his trial is set for Jan. 3, 4 and 5.

DAILY NEWSPAPERS

ARE NOW CARRYING MORE ADVERTISING TO MORE PEOPLE THAN EVER BEFORE

Daily newspaper circulation in the United States has now reached 60,283,114*—this is the highest figure in the history of our country. The combined newspaper circulation of the U.S. and Canada has also climbed to a new record—64,397,118.*

Steady vigorous growth such as this can come from only one thing: ever-increasing public and advertiser recognition of the newspaper's pre-eminence as a medium of communication. That's why advertisers also are investing more money in newspapers than ever before—$3,702,800,000 in 1960.

It is particularly important to advertisers—both national and local—that people are reading almost a million and a half more newspapers than a year ago, more than ever before. It means that advertisers' messages now have an even greater opportunity to be seen, absorbed, and acted upon.

More readers mean more prospects reached, more customers sold, more value for the advertising dollar. For a rising sales curve, use the daily newspaper to carry your advertising to the largest constant consumer audience in North America.

New Science Program Told To Trustees

A new science program being devised for Kentfield seventh and eighth graders was described last night to the district trustees.

Anthony G. Bacich, curriculum director, said he and five staff members engaged on the project are determined to give the students more than the "traditional general science review."

Students will be exposed to an "atomic age circle" which starts with astronomy, then physics, geology, biology, chemistry, and ending in studies of space, said Bacich.

The trustees also heard a progress report on the district's first research project, the Travis rods for arithmetic instruction, developed by Wolfe Grade first grade teacher Ruth Travis.

Because of interest by elementary schools in the new mathematics approach, Supt. Howard C. Harmon forecast a need for teachers to update themselves continually to keep ahead of their pupils. The new mathematics started at the high school level and has just trickled down through the elementary grades, he said.

Hiring of Ben F. King as part- custodian at Kent School at $1.85 per hour has been approved by the board. King is a student at the San Francisco Theological seminary in San Anselmo.

$1,600 Rings, 2nd Suspect Still Missing

About $1,600 in rings and a second man accused of stealing them from a San Rafael jeweler last week were still missing today.

Arrested in San Francisco on Saturday for his alleged part in the $3,500 theft from Michael A. Gorb Credit Jewelers at 1115 Fourth Street was John Arthur Mitchell, 21, of San Francisco.

Questioned yesterday by San Rafael Police Officer Thomas C. Cheetham, who made the arrest, Mitchell said he did not know who his accomplice was. "I only know they call him 'Brothern,'" Mitchell said.

He met "Brothern," whom he described as a religious man, in a Fillmore Street pool hall in San Francisco, Mitchell said. "Brothern" suggested they "take a ride" on the day they wound up in the jewelry store, he said.

Cheetham said Mitchell looked at more than 1,000 mug photos in San Francisco yesterday without identifying the subject, who supposedly has the remaining rings.

Mitchell was to enter a plea today represented by the public defender. His bail, set yesterday at $3,150, was reduced to $1,050.

Ruling Is Due On Land Deal Dismissal Plea

Judge J. A. Branson of San Mateo County Superior Court is to rule Thursday at 9:30 a.m. on a motion for dismissal of conspiracy indictments against a Novato man and a wealthy Hillsborough landowner accused of a $19,680 land swindle.

The motions were argued yesterday by attorneys for Sergie Gregoriev of Novato, former high school teacher in San Carlos, and Thomas J. Callan Jr. of Hillsborough, whose father is a former San Mateo County supervisor and one of the peninsula's biggest landowners. Gregoriev was named in 68 counts of alleged fraud, and Callan in 62 counts.

Their attorneys contended testimony before the San Mateo County Grand Jury was insufficient to support the conspiracy charges. The prosecution countered that not one of 68 persons who supposedly deeded tax delinquent property to a corporation of which Callan is an officer could be located.

'Clearing House' Offer Made On Furnace Deals

The Associated Heating and Sheet Metal Contrators, Inc., today offered to act as a "clearing house" for all those who feel they were bilked by Holland Furnace Co.

During the past month, complaints of alleged fraud in the installation of furnaces have come from Corte Madera, San Rafael and San Anselmo.

Ray White, executive manager of the association, said a meeting has been called by his organization with the district attorney's office to discuss the situation.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales said the meeting would be held this week. "We are faced with the problem of having evidence of overcharging, and not much else," Bales said. "Most of the furnaces people have complained of have been removed, leaving no evidence of actual fraud."

"None of our members works on a door-to-door basis," White said. "We are more than willing to assist people who feel they have been treated unjustly. We don't want our industry degraded like this."

Drunken Driver Is Fined $276

Robert McAlpin Riddell, 42, of 112 Toyon Drive, Fairfax, must pay $276 fine and spend five days in jail for his second drunken driving offense in six months.

He was sentenced yesterday by Judge Leonard A. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court for driving while intoxicated along Broadway in Fairfax on Oct. 26. He had a previous conviction on March 21 this year. The judge allowed Riddell work furlough privilege during his jail sentence.

Mrs. Ruby Lee Allen, 60, of San Francisco drew $166 fine and six months probation for her first offense. She was caught on Highway 101 on Nov. 13. She was forbidden to drive for three months.

Sausalito Council Meeting Next Tuesday

Marin City School Plan Review Due

Sausalito school district trustees will hold a special meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the district office to review elementary school building plans at Marin City with Bert Klahn, executive director of the Marin County Housing Authority.

A panel discussion was held last night before the trustees by first grade teachers who reviewed the first grade curriculum. They also reported recent Parent - Teacher conferences were highly successful. Teachers who took part were Mrs. Doris Fredette, chairman, and Delcha Jensen, Central School, and Mrs. Beatrice Brown, Mrs. Lucille Depoli and Mrs. Florence Rains, Manzanita School.

The board also:

1. Accepted the agreement from Parego, Harney and Teague Inc. to transfer and exchange the property rights for a perimeter road at Bayside School.

2. Reviewed the revised plans developed by landscapers Royston, Hanamoto and Mayes for Bayside Park, and requested the firm provide detailed breakdown of costs.

3. Approved extension of sick leave to January for bus driver Alfred Quartararo, who is reported to be recovering at his home in Sausalito after a recent stroke.

Divorce Battle Ends In Unexpected Death

Unexpected death in the courthouse yesterday afternoon ended a divorce battle for Hector A. Canessa, 49, who had operated Al's Sewing Machine Service in Novato.

Canessa, contesting a divorce action brought by his wife of less than nine months, was on the witness stand when he asked Judge Richard M. Sims Jr. for a recess so he could take a pill. As he walked out to thec orridor, he collapsed.

An autopsy was to be performed today at Harry M. Williams Mortuary. He had been suffering from a heart condition.

A will, dated Nov. 14 this year, was found in Canessa's coat pocket. It did not mention his wife, Anne M. Canessa, 41, but left everything he owned to his mother, Aida Trectim of San Francisco, to his sister Elsa, and to his daughter by a previous marriage.

The will listed his property as including a home at 152 Blackstone Drive, Marinwood, three cars, and furniture.

The couple married last March 3 and separated on Oct. 3. Mrs. Canessa filed for divorce on Oct. 3, charging cruelty.

He cross-filed for divorce last Wednesday, charging her with cruelty.

Mrs. Canessa's divorce complaint said that he also had cash in excess of $10,000.

Crab Fishermen Now Promised 25 Cents A Pound

This price was originally asked by the Crab Boat Owners Assn. two weeks ago, at which time wholesalers agreed to raise the price from 16 to 20 cents. The 25-cent price is said to be the highest in recent years.

Crab man Cass Gidley of Sausalito said today that fishermen have been getting "less and less crabs since the season started" and that boats have left and are leaving for the north.

Eichler Zone Petition Going Before Planners

A public hearing on a petition by Eichler Homes, Inc., to rezone 16 acres of land northwest of Marinwood on Lucas Valley Road from agricultural to planned community zoning will be heard by the Marin County Planning Commission on Dec. 4.

The parcel adjoins 89 acres adjacent to the County Hospital and Farm, also owned by Eichler, which was recently designated as a planned community area. The hearing is item 18 on the commission's agenda. The meeting at 1711 Grand Avenue opens at 9 a.m.

A public hearing on a proposal by Freda Hoffman to rezone a 20,000-square-foot lot on Knoll Road opposite Knoll Lane south of Tiburon Boulevard will be heard as item No. 12 on the agenda. The owner seeks to rezone the parcel from suburban agricultural to multiple residential, with first multiple combined regulations. The regulations limit construction to one unit per 1,500 square feet.

The planners will hold a public hearing on an amendment to the Tiburon Peninsula Master Plan which would precisely locate a proposed ridge route over the Tiburon Peninsula between the proposed high school site and the subdivision of Marinero Residence No. 2. The master plan change will be heard first on the agenda.

Report On Traffic Due In Novato

The traffic committee will make recommendations for traffic changes to the Novato City Council at its meeting at 8 p.m. today in the community clubhouse.

The council will convene in the temporary city hall, then adjourn to its new quarters in the clubhouse.

The traffic committee will recommend that Sunset Parkway east of South Novato Boulevard be made a through street; that stop signs be placed on Villa Place at Virginia Avenue and on Wilson Avenue at Center Road, and that "yield" signs be placed at Ferris Drive and Feliz Road.

The council will be asked to hire a part-time secretary for the newly created parks and recreation advisory commission, and to schedule only one council meeting in December.

He's Good Skater At Age Of 85

HANCOCK, Wis. (AP)—Charles W. Christianson got a lifetime pass to Lo Nor Roller Rink on his last birthday—when he turned 85.

The gift is more generous than it might appear to be. Christianson, a native of Copenhagen, Denmark, skates at the rink nearly every evening and is usually the first to arrive and the last to leave.

Christianson almost never misses a night in the winter and misses very few in the summer, despite his cultivation of a half-acre cucumber patch. He says, "Picking cucumbers all day and then roller skating at night equalizes me. I'm not tired after skating. I usually go home and read for two or three hours."

OVERSEAS POST—Charles A. McGee of Norwood Avenue, Ross, has been named to manage the Sydney, Australia office of the United States Travel Service. Chamber of Commerce, was established in June to promote foreign travel to this country.

Strep Infections Rise In County

Thirty-nine new "strep" cases were reported during the week, said Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer.

San Rafael had 14 of the cases. Others were scattered throughout the county, with only Sausalito, Marin City and Corte Madera reporting none.

Measles was down to four cases and mumps to three cases last week. Also reported were three cases of gonorrhea and one of infectious hepatitis.

Pharmacist Guilty Of False Report

A former Marin County druggist, now a pharmacy owner in Seaside, has been found guilty of filing a false narcotics report to police.

Richard Hopelain, who lived until 1958 at 1415 Butterfield Road in Sleepy Hollow and owned a drug store in San Francisco, was found guilty on Nov. 20 with falsely reporting that all narcotics in his drug store had been stolen in a recent burglary.

Hopelain admitted, police said, to falsifying the report to cover the fact that 660 codein tablets were missing at the time of the burglary. He said he made the report to cover for a clerk, but realized he was "a fool" to do so.

The clerk, Mrs. Effie Warmuth of Carmel, said she had no knowledge of the missing narcotics. The district attorney's office did not charge her and said it had insufficient evidence to charge Hopelain with conspiracy, a felony.

Hopelain, who now lives in Carmel and is president of the Seaside Chamber of Commerce, was ordered to appear for a probation hearing on Dec. 7.

THERE'S A LIMIT

Cocktail Should Be Punctuation

But in spelling your day, it should be only a punctuation mark before dinner.

The Denver psychiatrist suggested limiting it to two to three cocktails after the day's work, "to put in a punctuation mark before dinner, to relax and unwind."

He frowned on martinis at lunch "to get through the day," and on drinking after dinner to lubricate conversation or induce sleep; in short, using alcohol as a drug.

This contraption would limit the drinker to one swallow each 15 minutes.

He and other speakers examined medical aspects of various American habits.

Looking at the coffee habit, D. E. Chester Ridgway of Cody, Wyo., said Americans drink so much of it—100 billion cups a year, he said—that it's bound to produce some illness, in nervousness, irritability, insomnia, stomach upsets, speedier heart rate.

Looking at pets in the home, Dr. Francis T. Candlin, Denver veterinarian, said dogs and cats often reflect their owners' behavior, including anxieties. He suggested cooperation between physicians and veterinarians could give some insights into what ails humans, or their pets.

As for sex, no "sound scientific conclusions" can yet be drawn from various studies, said Dr. Bradford Murphey of Denver.

Dr. Stanfield told reporters he takes a pre-dinner cocktail but "drinking in the daytime is unhealthy."

Mankind, he said in his speech, long ago adopted the "lubricant of social drinking—for good or ill. Its remarkable endurance and progression throughout history appears to testify to some function well enough served to justify its persistence."

With drinking, "the jokes seem funnier, the conversation wittier. The painful realities remote. Man, for a time, escapes the regimentation imposed by reason and restraint through the glass-enclosed tranquilizer," Dr. Stanfield said.

Improvements Granted In Corte Madera

Two of five requests for town "improvements" contained in a petition of 68 persons from the Corte Madera business district were granted last night by the Corte Madera Town Council. Three of the requests were turned down.

The town agreed to ask Northwestern Pacific Railroad to clear weeds from its property which runs through the business district, and consented to install a 6,000-lumen street light at Redwood and Palm avenues.

Rejected by the council were requests to remove trash along Hart Street, which is not in the town street system; to remove a planting area at Tamalpais Drive and Redwood Avenue and substitute a paved island, and to remove the "do not enter" sign at the entrance to a short, un-named street in front of Holy Innocents Episcopal Church.

Supervisors Continue Building Code Study

Protest by ranchers against provisions of a proposed Marin County building ordinance and housing code caused the board of supervisors to continue consideration until 2 p.m. Feb. 5 in order to allow further study.

Donald J. McIsaac of Olema, president of the Marin County Farm Bureau, told the board that "it appears we are losing many exemptions of the past" and that answers to this are wanted.

Four of his directors were present in support: former Supervisor James A. Marshall, Dave Burbank, Eugene Brown and George Perry.

"You're taking some parts from the state code," said Burbank, "and even your county counsel doesn't know all about it."

County Building Inspector Otto Meyer said enactment of a new state housing law provided a basic problem.

It provides, he said, that certain building code standards will be applied to all residential structures in all parts of the state "so those exempted because of agricultural use now come under the state housing law. If we were to exempt, you would have to get a state building permit, fees for which are 50 per cent over ours, and you'd have to get it from our office."

On the other hand, Meyer added, the proposed code contains some local provisions relaxing certain requirements. Overall it will be less cumbersome and costly to agriculture to delete all reference to agricultural exemption for homes, he said.

Burbank said "there's lots of opposition" to the new state law and it may be repealed at the next legislative session. Queried by Supervisor William Gnoss, Burbank said the California Farm Bureau Federation has opposed the law.

The supervisors also:

1. Heard the San Anselmo School District is "out of money" and advanced a $20,000 tide-over loan.

2. Sent to Army Engineers a Marin Rod and Gun Club recommendation of public access to levies which otherwise might make Corte Madera Creek inaccessable for fishing.

3. Declared surplus, for sale as waste, several tons of computer machine cards from the data processing bureau.

4. On request of Tiburon property owner Samuel R. Neider, ordered county counsel to prepare documents for relocation of Belvedere Drive to avoid going through a new shopping center near Highway 101.

5. Received a letter of thanks from the Stinson Beach Progressive Club concerning the new Stinson Beach flood control zone, and sent a copy to Public Works Director Marvin W. Brigham as the one responsible.

Fairfax Has Problems —This Time Drainage

If it isn't road problems in Fairfax, it's drainage problems.

Last night it was drainage, as City Atty. Wallace S. Myers recommended to the city council a compromise in a three-year-old dispute with Mrs. Elsie L. Frustuck of 300 Bolinas Road, who won a $5,000 judgment against the city in a suit over a culvert.

In 1958, the city replaced an 18-inch culvert across Sir Francis Drake Boulevard with a 24-inch line. Mrs. Frustuck contended this poured more water on property she owns near St. Rita's Church and caused destruction.

Myers recommended the city extend the drainage line to carry the water beyond Mrs. Frustuck's property. He suggested this might prove an acceptable compromise. He reported he had appealed the verdict but continued litigation would be more costly than extending the drainage line.

The council directed City Engineer Albert H. Seimer and Street Supt. Charles M. Thornton to investigate costs and report back Dec. 16.

In other actions last night the Fairfax City Council:

1. Delayed granting Barry W. Rogers a use permit to construct two homes on two of four lots on Toyon Drive that he bought from E. H. Rushton of Woodacre until it was determined whether the property had been segregated from other Rushton property since the city zoning ordinance was passed in 1956. Rogers had submitted no maps. The council was advised by Myers that if the property had been segregated ever since 1956, Rogers must submit the detailed maps, indicating improvements and his plans; otherwise Rushton must submit the maps showing sewage, drainage, etc., he said.

2. Instructed Myers to prepare a resolution to accept deed of cul de sac at end of San Gabriel Drive from Thomas Hotchkins.

3. Adopted ordinance amending sales and use tax.

4. Passed resolution blanketing 18 auxiliary policemen and two auxiliary policewomen under workman's insurance law.

5. Passed resolution to install stop sign at intersection of Tamalpais and Sequoia.

6. Voted to advertise examinations to be held Jan. 4 for street laborer; applicants to file by Dec. 28; starting pay $425 a month.

7. Decided to give further consideration Dec. 11 to conversion of Bothin Circle into a park.

NWP To Get A Hearing In Fairfax

The Fairfax City Council decided last night to hear a Northwestern Pacific Railroad representative at its meeting of Dec. 11 as to why the railroad seeks to abandon service through San Rafael.

The railroad's line through San Rafael has been closed since collapse of the Puerto Suello Hill tunnel in a fire last July 20. The railroad has petitioned the Interstate Commerce Commission to abandon the section.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors and city councils of San Rafael, Mill Valley and Corte Madera have protested the petition. Last night the Fairfax council agreed to a request by the railroad to hear an NWP representative describe the railroad's position in a "10-minute talk."

At its Nov. 13 meeting the Fairfax council delayed action on a request by the City of San Rafael to oppose the railroad's application.

Widening Of Gate Bridge Eliminates Parking Area

The three-quarter-million-dollar job of flaring the Marin end of the Golden Gate Bridge is underway.

A huge trailer of the Massman Construction Co., standing just to the west of the end of the bridge, is the first sign of an eight-month construction job which will widen the Marin end of the bridge viaduct by 20 feet, easing the curve onto the bridge itself and making the transition to the narrower bridge lanes safer.

But the immediate negative effect of the project is the elimination of what little parking area there is on the west side of the bridge.

As things are now, a motorist heading for San Francisco can drive off the highway onto a dirt parking lot, walk over to the Vista Point on a walkway below the bridge, return, get in his car and continue to the city.

We have long objected to this arrangement because a Marin resident who wanted to show a friend the view from Vista Point would have to drive across the bridge, make a U-turn and drive back, paying two tolls.

Accordingly, the State Division of Highways came up with a proposed $40,000 paved parking lot on the west side, with access roads in both directions, so a Marinite could drive down, park, turn around and go home without crossing the bridge or paying any toll.

This could be constructed in conjunction with the current bridge and highway widening.

The City of Sausalito had proposed that cars should be able to reach the Vista Point from Marin without crossing the bridge. The highway engineers worked out a one-way road system which makes this possible. But the cost is $100,000 more than the west-side parking lot. The state says it will not spend that extra $100,000.

In addition, the twisting route which such a road must take would practically eliminate its usefulness to cars wanting to stop and then proceed to San Francisco. Someone wanting to do this must drive nearly two miles — if he knows where to drive—to get across the highway from the west side to the east side and back again.

Because of this, and because we don't see any governmental agency—not the state—not the City of Sausalito—not the County of Marin—and most especially, not the Golden Gate Bridge board—ponying up that extra $100,000, we think Sausalito should reconsider its stand and encourage the highway people to go ahead with the west-side parking area.

We can't keep the existing condition. We are losing the existing parking area starting right now. Nothing will replace it. The only practical thing we see to do right now is for the state to build the west-side parking area. If we can find the $100,000 and build the road to Vista Point later, so much the better.

We urge the State Division of Highways to go ahead with planning such an improvement.

And we ask the Sausalito City Council to join us in this request.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

FACES DEATH WITH COURAGE

After staring down the barrels of 2 loaded pistols for 90 minutes, a tough-minded detective finally disarmed an overwrought teenager.

The detective, a 32-year-old war veteran, came upon the 14-year-older after the boy had shot and killed his own father. To calm the nervous youth, the lawman tossed his own gun on a nearby sofa.

Then he settled down to talk, a difficult task for someone on the receiving end of two lethal weapons. At one point the young man began to cry, but recovered before he would surrender.

Clear thinking in a tight spot requires long training and rigid self-discipline. Ask the Lord to strengthen your resolve to react bravely to difficult situations.

And show your sincerity by keeping your wayward desires under the direction of your mind and will.

"I chastise my body and bring it into subjection." (1 Corinthians 9:27)

Bob Hope's Formula For Success: Keep Moving, Do Different Things

NEW YORK (AP)—What performer has entertained more people than any other man in history?

The nod might well go to Bob Hope, who didn't invent vaudeville, and stage, movies, radio or television—but became a top star in all those fields.

In the last quarter century Hope figures he made 53 movies and they brought in some 250 million dollars.

"All but one or two got into the profit picture," he remarked.

That feat in itself is enough to win Bob a golden name forever in Hollywood annals—if not an Academy Award.

At, 58, Hope's hair is thinning a bit, but he still has the fastest quip in show business. He said during a stopover here the other day that he's trying to slow down, as his doctors suggested some years ago.

The trouble is—he doesn't know how to.

"I keep a schedule on my washstand, a schedule on my desk, and a schedule in my car," he said.

"I have to lead a scheduled life. There isn't any other way."

In addition to his chores as an entertainer, Bob has multi-million-dollar business interests ranging from oil wells to dairy farms, packing plants and professional baseball and football clubs.

"But I try not to let it all get my stomach worked up," he said.

His success formula is simple.

"Keep moving. Never let yourself get trapped. Try doing different things so you never feel stale," he says.

THE PROBLEM of boredom that afflicts some stars who find fame chafing and wearying never has upset Hope. After more than 40 years in show business he is still in love with an audience—any audience.

"I don't have time to think about boredom," he said. "If I had my life to live over again, I couldn't—I wouldn't be able to find the time.

YOU GET BORED only when you bore the audience—or when you get stuck doing the same thing. I try to avoid that.

At the peak of his career Hope is as well-loved for his sense of charity as for his sense of humor.

No Survival In Nuclear War?

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

As one who has long enjoyed and respected the Independent-Journal, I am dismayed by the "You Can Survive" series currently appearing on page 1 of your paper. Since when does the I-J print opinion--controversial and potentially dangerous opinion — in this prominent spot? To the extent that you succeed in convincing people that we can survive a nuclear war, you are doing us the greatest possible disservice.

A few of us may survive the initial horror, but opinion just as "scientific" as Prof. Libby's leads me to believe that most of us won't and the rest will wish they hadn't. Already the jungle aspect appears when Riverside and Nevada citizens talk of organizing to protect themselves with guns from fellow-citizen refugees. And people are asking their churches and their government if it will be all right to shoot neighbors trying to enter their shelters! Would you really like to survive?

How much better if you addressed your efforts to sincerely working for a workable world government, knowing that we will have to give up much that we are accustomed to. And for disarmament, knowing that nuclear war is really like rabies. The only defense is prevention. Once the patient has it, there is no recovery.

Your cartoon of Nov. 15 (only a little less vicious than your hate-mongering anti-Khrushchev depictions) pictures Nehru as an ethereal dreamer. I wonder who is really unrealistic? Nehru or the comfortable, complacent American who stubbornly refuses to face the fact that the day when he can have it all his own way has passed?

Is It Necessary To Kill The Rare?

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Mrs. Bertram Koel hopes that her committee will secure peaceful and sincere thinking solutions to the nuclear madness that envelops us. Laurens van der Post, brilliant South African writer lecturing here at the moment, prays that we humans who are white will recognize the black soul within ourselves" and thus destroy the roots of racial prejudice.

Both persons are known to me, and I hold them in affection, as they each are pursuing the rational mind of mankind for a greater purpose than man is doing for himself alone, and I hope that they succeed and lead him to this goal.

In humble imitation of their nobler purpose I seek only the minds of the lesser, ignobler man, the man of bloodlust, who goes under the very hypocritical euphemism of "sportsman" or "happy hunter," and it is he whom I wish to lead to either rapid blindness or self destruction, whichever is more deserving.

In this evening's paper (11/21) you have two pictures of some of these people who forage in the dim prehistoric urges of predatory man, which instinct is no longer a valid necessity except as a sort of fertility rite indulged in with the hope of proving inadequate manhood by rebuilding the tattered image with status symbols of the kill!! I quote the relative excerpts from the captions as a point. The italics or capitals are mine.

Picture No. 2. Page 9. "Marin Hairdresser Gets Honker." " . . . exhibits a rare and beautiful Canadian Honker Goose he bagged."

If these persons were to tell me that it was the crisp, muted crunch of dewed grass in the golden warming sunrise; or the taste of dawn's early lights; or the tangy bite of the unburnt air in the misty preludes to day's birth; or the rough sanding, searing surge of thrusting blood in cold veins drumming urgently at the doors of excitement; if these brought them their happiness, I would agree.

If they tell me that this is why they go hunting, then I will say, why in the devil don't they take a camera instead?

But, if this is why these station-wagoned, Jeeped, Coleman-stoved, beer frozen, Acrylon bagged, lensed rifled so-called sportsmen do go hunting, I am left confused. Is it necessary to kill rare and beautiful things to feel the dusted kiss and caress of Nature as she tucks Earth to bed; or experience the hot and tempered stroke of the angered sun as he sweeps midday past; or lie softly, sensually bathed in the pastel silvered embrace of the moody moon; or hear the hiss of the sonnets of seduction as the breezes tumble the leaves and grasses about our dreary heads? Why?? Why kill??

Cannot the camera shoot the "kill" instead, or the camera fulfill the satiation of the stalk, or the camera stir the faeces as a mountain lion focuses closely, or the camera embrace the beauty and enrich the soul as day dreams her hours? Can only a gun that brings pounding agony or squirted blood, or numbing torture, or the jerk of unwelcome death in twisted flayed ballet, can only these pains satisfy those lustful people?

Perhaps I should enjoin Mrs. Koel or Mr. van der Post to desist their saviour aims so that we may, in our foolishness, perish. Surely then the animals would survive better than we, and the high ideals on which man has smugly rested his laurels will be more befitting on the minute and energetic minds of ants, whom, certainly, will succeed us as rulers, but with, I am certain, greater compassion toward animals than that which our "sportsman" displays.

Mr. Binswanger, with eight hungry mouths to feed, braced his employer for a substantial raise. "For six years," he wailed, "I haven't been able even to buy one suit of decent clothes for myself. Lord, how the threads are unraveling in this worn-out coat I'm wearing!"

"OK," conceded the boss wearily. "You can have a $10 raise. But please, I beg you, don't show me your stringy coat any more. This organization can't afford any fringe benefits!"

Nearly 80 Hours Of Preparation Goes Into Novato Council Agenda

Mayor Wayne Womack bangs his gavel down, calling the Novato City Council meeting to order. The council approves the agenda which has an average of 25 items on it.

There may or may not be any additions to the agenda. But it is approved as the work set before the council for the next three hours.

Few people realize the hours of work that go into making up the agenda so that the meeting can run smoothly. It starts the morning after the previous council meeting. Deputy City Clerk Kathleen Simkins has spent about eight hours typing up the minutes of the meeting the night before. Of course, these must be approved by the council.

ON WEDNESDAY prior to the council meeting, J. Julien Baget, city administrator, makes the first rough draft of an agenda for the meeting. This includes all the items that have come up before the city planning commission two weeks before and items pertinent to running each department.

The public works department, city administrator, city attorney and council each have a set of items on the agenda. These are the unfinished and new business that must go on the agenda.

FINAL DEADLINE for items to appear on the printed agenda is 10 a.m. Friday before the council meets on Tuesday. That does not mean that no later business can be added to the agenda after that. It means that the secretarial work necessary to preparation for the meeting will not be included.

Last minute items can be added by the council before it approves the agenda at the first of each meeting. Right after that, citizens can address the council on any matter that is not on the agenda. This assures everyone of having a chance to get his business before the city council.

THE TEMPO of work in the City Hall increases on Friday, reaching its climax during the afternoon.

At least eight copies are made of all letters, ordinances, resolutions, planning commission recommendations and staff reports, and department head recommendations.

These are made into six folders so that the five councilmen and city attorney can have them on Friday afternoon. Usually these folders are 60 to 80 pages long, weighing about one and one-half pounds.

This gives the councilmen the weekend to study all the reports, letters, warrants that must be paid and everything that will come up at the city council meeting. In short, it gives them time to study what decisions must be made by them before the council meeting.

ONE THING Novato City government does for reporters certainly is appreciated. It is furnishing them with the copies of the reports and letters. This assures the reporter of having the facts and figures in front of him instead of trying to take notes as fast as people talk.

By the end of Friday, when the packets are delivered to the councilmen, somewhere between 60 and 80 hours of labor have gone into preparing the agenda for the meeting.

Finland Is Only Start Of Soviet Plan To Engulf All Scandinavia

WASHINGTON — When Stalin took over most of Eastern Europe right after the war, his apologists — many of them in the West — were saying: "But it's only reasonable that Russia would want to have friendly and peaceful neighbors on its frontier."

The most friendly, peaceful, genuinely neutral, and respectful neighbor which the Soviet Union has on its frontiers today is not any of the Communist puppet-satellites. It is non-Communist, independent Finland.

And now Nikita Khrushchev is scowling at Helsinki. He has summoned Finnish President Urho K. Kekkonen to a conference in Siberia and is saying that it is time to talk over some new military arrangements.

EXPERIENCE WARNS us —and the Finns—that what Mr. K says he wants is only a small part of what he really wants.

He says he wants Finland's military help because he is afraid Germany is going to start a war.

In light of Moscow's military power and massive megaton bombs, it is unlikely that the Kremlin wants Finland's military aid.

It just wants Finland.

And the "anti-Stalin" Khrushchev is setting about to take over Finland by exactly the same means Stalin used to take over three other inoffensive neighbors — Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania.

IT LOOKS LIKE the same thing for Finland—if Khrushchev can work it.

The larger purpose is to use a defenseless Finland to intimidate all of Scandinavia into disarmed and pro-Soviet "neutrality."

This would mean that Russia would have a string of military bases from the shores of the Baltic from Leningrad to the borders of Western Europe.

But the Khrushchev objective doesn't even end here. At the moment the western shore of the Baltic is held by the well-armed, but sincerely neutral, Sweden and the shores of the outlets into the Kattegat and the North Sea are held by Denmark and Norway.

None of the Scandinavian countries wants to see Finland taken over by the Kremlin and the Soviet military force thrust to their borders.

AND SO, THEY are anxiously awaiting Khrushchev's next "proposal" — namely, that if Sweden will embrace a "true" (that is, pro-Soviet) neutrality, and if Norway and Denmark will break with NATO and give up all collective defense, nothing will happen to Finland!

I hope that Khrushchev is making a miscalculation. It is entirely possible that his threats will produce the opposite of the effect he wants. Norway's and Denmark's ties with the West may become stronger. Sweden may be driven into joining NATO.

Corte Madera Agrees To Building Compromise

Corte Madera town councilmen and spokesmen for the building industry last night agreed on a compromise amendment to the uniform building code.

Under the amendment, apartment buildings with more than 10 units must have "two means of egress . . . by which the ground can be safely reached." The means of egress, the councilmen agreed, may be a window, door, hallway or other method of reaching the outside of the building.

As originally proposed by Building Inspector William McBride, the amendment would have called for a fire escape or similar exit, from each apartment.

Not covered by the code as to fire escapes are apartment buildings containing less than 10 units.

Opposing the principle of fire escapes for each apartment were several contractors, with Carl Brown of the Associated Home Builders as spokesman. Their opposition was based on expense, lack of need, and design problems.

Approved without discussion were amendments to the code which call for (1) one-hour fire resistant walls and ceilings that separate different tenants in apartments, and (2) a minimum clearance of 18 inches under girders for warm air heating systems installed between a floor and the ground.

The council "approved the concept" of a new subdivision to be known as Sunnyside Terrace, adjoining the town park and bounded by Walnut, Pixley and Redwood Avenues.

The 18-lot subdivision would include a corner of the town park which would be sold to the developers by the city with the money going toward the city's share in street improvements.

In other action last night, the council:

1. Opposed a proposed amendment by the City of Larkspur to a tentative agreement with the county by which the county would assist in financing thoroughfares through cities. The Larkspur amendment would require that the county be required to use one-half its gasoline tax funds for city improvement. Under the present draft of the agreement, the county would not be bound to any specific amount of money.
2. Agreed to post a 25-mile-an-hour speed limit along Tamalpais Drive from the Highway 101 cloverleaf into the business district.
3. Set for Dec. 18 at 7:30 p.m. a public hearing on an amendment to the zoning ordinance which would require public hearings on matters not now required to go to hearings.
4. Set for Dec. 18 at 8 p.m. a public hearing on an appeal by Western Gas and Oil Assn. for larger signs on service stations. The request by the association had been turned down by the planning commission.
5. Approved preliminary design of street improvements for Baltimore, Redwood and Serra Avenues. Civil Engineer Carlos Gonzales of San Rafael was instructed to draw up improvement plans so costs could be determined.

Hospital Officers All Re-Elected

They are Dan E. Andersen, president; Edward P. Morphy, vice president; Mrs. Leiton J. Elder, secretary, and Paul R. Leahy, treasurer.

Mrs. Elder has been secretary since the board was formed in January 1958 at the time the hospitalw as re-organized on a non-profit basis.

Civic Center Blind Shop Is On Again

Detailed arrangements have been worked out for operation of a civic center coffee shop by the blind, Administrator Alan Bruce told Marin County supervisors yesterday.

This was in response to a recent suggestion by the Marin County Employees Assn. that it would undertake the operation because nobody seemed prepared.

Bruce said the board in April 1959 expressed intention to proceed with operation by the blind, but no formal agreement was made. A draft now has been submitted by the State Bureau of Vocational Rehibilitation, he reported.

The agreement does not cover details of management, insurance and similar point. Bruce suggested the matter be referred to county counsel, auditor-controller and himself for review. This would give the employees association a chance to bid too.

Supervisor William Gnoss said this sounded reasonable and gained unanimous support of a resolution embodying Bruce's recommendation.

Corte Madera Looks For Civil Defense Director

Wanted: One man, preferably retired and filled with sufficient public spirit to work without pay, to serve as defense director for the Town of Corte Madera.

A knowledge of military and defense matters would help in his work, which would entail assembling all information available on bomb shelters, fallout, radiation, survival and related matters for eventual dissemination to the public.

The council agreed last night, after more than an hour of discussion on civil defense, to seek such a man through service clubs, housing organizations, churches, clubs and individual suggestions. He will presumably be selected at the meeting of Dec. 18.

"I hope this doesn't give the impression that we are endorsing a plan of fallout shelters such as is being done in Livermore," said Councilman Raymond L. DeYoung. "We are just investigating the possibilities."

The decision to "hire" a defense director came from a work session, called for by Councilman Bud Cole last month, to determine the town's position on civil defense.

"We first have to decide whether the town wants to do anything," Cole said.

Cole, who spent most of the session reading from various publications on fallout and defense, said there was a "storehouse of information" available.

"I have been exposed to so many articles by 'experts' that I don't know where I'm going," commented Councilman Edward W. Colthurst.

"If each little town in the state makes their own plans, the result will be considerable confusion," said Raymond Brandt, president of the Mariner Cove Improvement Assn. "Personally, I think the town should keep in touch with the county in regard to community plans."

Norman Eaton, president of the Marina Village Improvement Assn., said his group was workingf out its own plan. "Even a bad plan is better than none at all," Eaton said.

Questioned as to what facilities in the town would be suitable for conversion to community shelters, Town Manager Arthur H. Brandow said: "The answer is that we have no adequate building."

Presumably, on Dec. 18, the new defense director will take it from there.

Mrs. Roosevelt Hits Rockefeller, Kennedy On CD

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt yesterday criticized both the Kennedy administration and Rockefeller plans on civil defense.

The former first lady told a press conference that civil defense and civil protection should not be "a haphazard or chance commercial enterprise."

"The administration has not yet given us a lead on what it wants done," she said.

She added that "an individual shelter program is utterly futile. Such a program is advanced by New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is perfect nonsense."

Point Reyes Developer Hits Back At Critics

A Point Reyes developer hit back at critics yesterday. As result, Marin County supervisors asked county counsel to check their powers to deny building permits and their potential liability if they do so unlawfully.

Benjamin P. Bonelli, an attorney, appeared before the board because he'd read in the Independent-Journal of two communications it was to consider.

In one, the Homestead Valley Improvement Club requested the board to grant no more building permits in the Point Reyes area until final decision has been made about a possible national seashore. In another, the Marin Federation of Improvement Clubs protested "substandard subdivisions" on Point Reyes.

"I don't think you can do it," said Bonelli with reference to possible shutdown on permits. Claiming he represents "directly or indirectly some 110 property owners on the Point Reyes Peninsula," he asked rejection of any such request as attempting confiscation of their holdings.

Bonelli cited constitutional amendments on due process of law and Supreme Court interpretations "protecting from confiscation virtually every conceivable interest in real property capable of ownership."

"No schoolboy with an eighth grade knowledge of the Constitution or the slightest devotion to its principles," said Bonelli, "would have the effrontery to make such a request to this board. Only a ruthless, arrogant, avaricious minority group dedicated to the disruption of orderly county government could do it."

Supervisor George Ludy of Inverness obtained unanimous support for a motion directing the county counsel to clear up the legal rights of the board.

Tam Stars Win Hall Of Fame Honor

Two Tamalpais High School football players have been named from Marin County to the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame.

Quarterback Larry (Tex) Hamilton and center Pete Hindley were selected by the Marin committee on the basis of the athletes' scholastic, leadership and football ability, Harold Allison, committee chairman and principal of Sir Francis Drake High School, announced today.

The pair were to have their pictures taken with San Francisco's Mayor George Christopher today and will be feted along with athletes from other Bay Area counties at a banquet Friday night at the Marine Memorial building in San Francisco.

The two were chosen from nominations from Redwood, San Rafael, Sir Francis Drake, Marin Catholic, Novato, and the San Rafael Military Academy. The three areas upon which the awards were made were "counted equally," explained chairman Allison. Others on the selection committee in this county were Jim Gilmartin, sports editor of the Independent-Journal; Dick Read, head football coach at the College of Marin; and James Hanretty, football coach and athletic director of Tamalpais High.

Hamilton, 17, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack C. Hamilton of 305 Ross Drive, Mill Valley. The five-foot seven-inch 145-pound senior lettered in freshman football, and for three years was first string on the varsity grid team. He has maintained a 3.59 grade point average (a scale in which 4. equals a straight "A") throughout his high school career and is a member of the California Scholarship Assn. This year Tex is expected to be given a lifetime membership in the organization. At Tam, Hamilton also belongs to the "T" Honor Society, plays Jayvee baseball, was selected as the school's Boys State representative for Boys State Government in Sacramento last summer, is presently chief of Self Government (an appointed student government office) and was president of his junior class.

Hindley is also a member of and is expected to be given a lifetime membership in the CSA. The 17-year-old Tam student body president is the son of Mrs. Dorothy Hindley of 48 Carmelita Avenue, Mill Valley.

A senior, he has maintained a 3.84 grade average in high school, is an officer in the T Honor Society, a semi-finalist in the National Merit Scholarship program, was president of his sophomore class, former president of the letterman's club, and played Jayvee baseball.

The six-foot two-inch, 180-pound athlete has been first string varsity center for two years and also lettered as a freshman play and as a Jayvee gridder when he was a sophomore.

Marin High School Basketball Squads Open Play This Week

By PAUL MILLER

The first 1961-62 basketball games for Marin County Athletic League teams are this week.

In addition to fresh and green varsity players, there are two new head coaches in the league this season.

At San Rafael High Mike Diaz, a social science teacher, will take over where Bob Muster, now the Bulldogs' head football coach, left off. And in a unique position at Novato will be O. T. McAtee, recently coach and teacher at Davidson Junior High School in San Rafael for two years. McAtee's position is new mentor of a team which has yet to win a league game.

This week's pre-league high school games are as follows:

Today, Drake played Balboa High in San Francisco; Tam, Lowell High of San Francisco at home, and Tomales at Novato. Tomorrow, San Rafael faces San Francisco Polytechnic at home, 4 p.m.; and Redwood, Montgomery High 3:30 p.m., at Santa Rosa. Friday, Marin Catholic plays the San Rafael Military Academy at the academy at 3:30 p.m. Dec. 5, Terra Linda opens against Del Valle at home, 4 p.m.

Coach Dick Hart of the Redwood Giants, defending MCAL champions, might as well be a brand new coach in Larkspur. At last year's June graduation he lost his first two teams. And its not looking any brighter at Giantsville here at the outset of the season. Every player out for the team has missed at least two days of eight days of practice and Hart himself three days with the flu.

The mentor said he has not even decided on a tentative first string yet. "Tomorrow's game is going to be a real experiment."

Hart has three non-lettering seniors returning, all front linemen: Pete Coy, Bill Epidendio and Don Rogers. Among some of the other prospects for the Giant squad which will have to try and fill some big footsteps including a trip to the Tournament of Champions, are Doug Detrick, Tod Lindner, Jud Longaker, Rick Skinner, Grant Stephenson, Kit Bricca and tennis star Reed Witt. All these players are former junior varsity or "B" team hoopsters. And added prospect is Jay Johnson, a transfer from Sacramento High School.

Coach Eddie Chavez' Indians ended the season as runner-ups in last season's MCAL race with a healthy 7-3, won-loss record. But coach Chavez this year faces about the same problem as Hart over at Giantsville: no returning varsity lettermen.

"We have a fair group of 'B' kids," said Chavez. But in a scrimmage last week they looked "lousy and they knew it," said the mentor.

Scheduled starting players for today's game were center Pepe Bardea (6-5), the team's only senior, the rest are juniors and a couple of sophs on the injury list; guards Warren Domino, football halfback "who is really hustling" in practice, and Bill Gillingham; forwards Billy Nelson and Jim Durbin, a junior varsity and latter varsity end this football season. Both these forwards have had sophomore team hoop experience.

Chavez also pointed up All-MCAL football end Art Foster as a player that may see a lot of hoop action this season ". . . it's just a matter of time." Foster will be a pivot man as is Rich Abbott. The two sophomores on the team, but out of action temporarily, are L. S. Williams and Pat Smith.

Bulldog coach Diaz, while for the past two years coaching junior varsity at Fairfield High School, has had a year of varsity experience at St. Vincent's High in San Francisco. The University of California, Berkeley, graduate will take over a reasonably strong squad which Muster last year placed in third spot in the MCAL's final standings with a 6-4 record. Diaz has nine lettermen back this season and four varsity football players who are already in condition.

Diaz said his tentative first string includes grid quarterback Jack Sovereign and 6-3 sophomore Rod Monti at forwards. Center spot will either go to gridder Rich Robertson (6-4) or Tony Mekisich (6-3) Both are seniors. Guard slots will be divided to either Bruce McPhail, an offensive end in the fall, Bret Tavini or former halfback Jack Haney.

"I feel we have a nucleus of a real good team," said Diaz.

Coach Bernie Schnieder, whose Marin Catholic Wildcats last year won the Marin County Athletic League's 1961 Christmas tournament and placed fourth in the league's final standings, said this week his squad looks "fair" in early season practice, but the Wildcats are hurting in the size department. They have only two players over six feet tall: Paul Kruger, 6-4, All-County and All-MCAL football end, and Bob Williams, a second string forward on the Wildcat varsity last year. Williams is 6-1. At the six-foot mark is Frank Burch. These players and star forward John Enos are the team's seniors.

Other good prospects are guard Jerry Smith, outstanding for the Catholics at guard last years; Ron O'Connell, guard and younger but bigger brother of alumnus Ed O'Connell, who was one of the smoothest players the MCAL will see. Ron led the county's Class B league in scoring last year and will no doubt see a lot of action this season even as a junior; Mike Sheehan, gridders John Hassett and Chuck Hardemann, and Paul Goeckle.

Schneider said that his boys to date "look like better shooters" than last year's squad.

Coach Carl Brown at Drake has two returning senior lettermen, both football players: end Dave Manuel and Steve Purcell, a football guard. The latter will be fighting for a first string guard spot on the basketball squad with senior grid man Ed Bowler and John Giesea, a former jayvee.

Tentative first string forwards for the Pirates are Brad Bush, 6-1, and John McBride, both "B" team stars last year. Center spot, said coach Brown, "right now is like 'our gang'" which includes former junior varsity John Wallace, 6-4; Larry Gaddy, 6-3, and Bruce Ketron, 6-2.

Some other players up from a strong Drake junior varsity and a champion B team that should help make Drake one of the big contenders of the MCAL this season are Kirk Jensen, 6 feet (formerly a center, but now playing the forward slot), Don Baker and Clyde Curley.

Brown said he would be able to say a "little more" about his team after a couple of games. But at this point it is one of the most hustling and accurate shooting squads to come along at Hub country, he admitted.

In five years of coaching, McAtee at Novato is facing a real challenge this year. He'll make history in that city if he only wins one this year. It will be the Hornets' first league victory.

McAtee will have two returning lettermen and eight seniors at his disposal. The team's big leader in early season is star tailback and safety Joe Colfer of the school's varsity MCAL champion football team. Colfer has already been elected captain and been pointed up by the new mentor as the "best player so far." The other senior letterman is Carl Morris, a front man.

After a week of practice, some others that McAtee said look good are Harry Cassidy, 6-3 pivot man; Mike French, a guard; Leonard Pidrazzini, and sophomore Nick Willard, both forwards.

"We lack experience," said McAtee, "but we are coming along real well. . . . I'm fairly confident about the team."

Red Hickey Frets Over Leaky 49er Defenses

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Although they are tied for second place in the National Football League's Western Conference, the San Francisco 49ers don't impress head coach Red Hickey.

He naturally has no complaint about the 79 points his troops have piled up in their past two wins, but the 59 surrendered by San Francisco have him bothered, especially since the Prospectors are at Baltimore this Sunday.

"We have to do better than this defensively or Johnny Unitas will throw us right out of the league," Hickey said today.

Hickey yanked veterans Abe Woodson and Dave Baker and replaced them with Jerry Mertens and Jim Ridlon Sunday because Viking quarterback Francis Tarkenton was completing too many tosses their way.

"We haven't stopped anyone lately," Hickey growled.

Injuries to Leo Nomellini, Monte Clark and Bob Harrison also hurt the Prospectors defense. Nomellini will be ready for full scale action against the Colts.

Meanwhile, Vic Morabito, 49er president, would not disclose last night what the chances were that R. C. Owens will return to the club after this year.

The famed pass-snagging star did not sign a contract with the 49ers this season and is in the process of playing out his option.

Interest in whether the 25-year-old end would be with the team next year heightened after his sensational performance against Minnesota Sunday. He caught five passes for 138 yards and tallied one touchdown.

Minoso Will Join Musial In The St. Louis Outfield

Thee ven swap, consummated last night after hours of negotiations, was the second inter-league deal of the day at the annual baseball convention. Cleveland sent right-handed pitcher Bobby Locke (4-4) to the Chicago Cubs for infielder Jerry Kindall (.242).

Johnny Keane, manager of the Cardinals, was almost as pleased by the acquisition of Minoso as he was when his daughter presented him with his second grandchild last week.

"Minnie will play left field and Musial will switch to right," he announced. "Stan is equally at home in right field as he is in left."

Today the Cincinnati Reds announced the purchase of pitcher Dave Sisler from the Washington Senators for $75,000.

Sisler, 30, had a 2-8 record with the Senators in 45 games, all in relief. The right-hander had a 4.20 earned run average.

TIDE LOSES GROUND IN GRID POLL

The Crimson Tide, unbeaten and untied in nine games, sat out an open date last weekend and lost considerable ground in the Associated Press poll to Ohio State's Buckeyes, who walloped Michigan 50-20.

DROP SUPPORTERS

The semifinal poll showed Alabama slipping from 39 first-place votes last week to only 26 this week among the 49 sports writers and sportscasters on the AP panel.

The Buckeyes from the Big Ten, finishing an 8-0-1 season in strong fashion, increased their first-place draw from 6 last week to 21 this week.

BOWL BOUND

Alabama, counting heavily on its awesome defense, is a strong favorite to dump Auburn and wrap up its first undefeated and untied season in 16 years, and then head into the Sugar Bowl.

In the poll, Alabama ran up a total of 459 points on the basis of 10 for a first-place vote, 9 for a second-place vote, etc. Ohio State was only seven behind with 452.

Only 2 Bowl Game Berths Still Open

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

A once-blurred bowl picture was in sharp focus today following a rush of acceptances and the elimination of the fledgling National Trophy Bowl, in Washington, D.C.

Only two spots in nine other bowls remained to be filled. One of those, in New York's Gotham Bowl, is expected to be decided today when Auburn indicates whether it will play Utah State Dec. 9 at the Polo Grounds.

The other spot is in Houston's Bluebonnet Bow, opposite Kansas, which along with Utah State, Miami (Fla.) and Penn State accepted postseason bids yesterday. Miami will face Syracuse in Philadelphia's Liberty Bowl on Dec. 16 and Penn State will meet Georgia Tech in the Gator Bowl on Dec. 20.

The National Trophy Bow, trying for its first game this year, gave up the chase when H. C. Van Arsdale, executive director, told Memphis State that scheduling problems were too much for the sponsors. The Memphis school had hoped to get a spot in the game scheduled for Dec. 30.

Van Arsdale said he had been working on prospects since Sept. 26 but the confused bowl picture of the past week made the staging of the game "all but impossible."

The same fate could still befall the Gotham committee, which is banking on a favorable reply from Auburn, which also had been woed by the National Trophy Bowl. Auburn winds up its regular season this week against Alabama, the nation's top-ranked team. Alabama will give its final okay to a spot in the Sugar Bowl against Arkansas after the game. Kansas' opponent will be Rice if the Owls beat Baylor on Saturday.

Dec. 9

Gotham Bowl, at New York—Utah State (9-0-1) definite. Auburn (6-3) with one game to play invited.

Aviation Bowl, at Dayton, Ohio — New Mexico (6-4) vs. Western Michigan (5-3-1).

Dec. 16

Liberty Bowl, at Philadelphia—Syracuse (7-3) vs. Miami (Fla.) (6-3) with one game to play.

Bluebonnet Bowl, at Houston — Kansas (6-3-1) definite Rice (6-3) invited if it beats Baylor on Saturday.

Dec. 29

Tangerine Bowl, at Orlando, Fla. — Middle Tennessee (7-3) vs. Lamar Tech (6-2-1).

Dec. 30

Jan. 1

Orange Bowl, at Miami—Colorado (8-1) vs. Louisiana State (9-1).

Sugar Bowl, at New Orleans—Arkansas (8-2) vs. Alabama (9-0) with one game remaining.

Mississippi and Ohio State have not indicated they will play in Dallas, and Pasadena, respectively. But neither have denied that bids have been offered and that they are favorably inclined.

The FISHIN' FOOL

STEVENS

So the rains have come, and so, as usual, a flock of avid angling addicts have begun laying plans for a coastal steelhead trip. Already I have answered my phone several times to assure the caller that his chances of getting steelhead in any of the loop streams is very, very slim.

Just set the record straight — and perhaps to save some of my readers a fruitless trip—suppose we analyze this steelhead business. Okay? (Mind you, I am now speaking of what I call the LOOP streams —the Russian, the Gualala, the Garcia, Navarro, Noya, Big, Little and Ten Mile river, mainly).

The season on steelhead opens on November 1. We all know that, but a lot of folks don't realize that almost never are there any steelhead in the aforementioned streams at that time. Salmon? Yes. Silvers mostly but also kings in some of those streams. The oldtimers take it for granted that it is only AFTER the runs of salmon have come and are about gone, before any steelhead come in from the ocean to spawn. There may be an occasional steelie happen along, but no real runs.

THE SALMON usually finish their spawning runs toward the end of November or the first of December. So, we don't expect steelhead action until the end of November or the first of December. And, sad to relate, it is the end of November and the first of December that historically the rains begin along the coast. The rains open the mouths of the bar-bound streams and allow the steelhead to come in from the ocean. BUT, the heavy rains that are needed to open the bars and activate the fish milling around outside the mouths, raise the level of the streams and turn the color of the water to such an extent that chances to catch such fish as have come in are just about nil.

After a period of hard rains, it takes from one week to 10 days for most of the streams to lower to a normal level and for the water to clear enough to work a lure of a roeberry. When the water has cleared to the extent that the color is somewhat like someone had emptied a huge can of milk in the water, that is the ideal time for the catching of steelhead.

OKAY, SO what happens? If there is no rain for perhaps a week AFTER the water has assumed a milky appearance, there is a good chance that the water will be too clear for successful fishing except for skillful fly fishing—or spinner work. So we sit back and pray for rain. In time it comes and the whole cycle is repeated. The steelhead come in from the ocean, they rest up in the deeper holes in order to accustom themselves to the increased oxygen in the fresh water. The river gradually lowers and on the next rain, the fish that are in the holes will move upstream on their way to the spawning grounds. A new batch comes in from the ocean and rests up in place of the fish already gone upstream.

DURING A normal season, it is safe to say that not over one third of the elapsed time, from the opening to the close of the season on the last day of February, will furnish prime conditions for the taking steelhead.

The best advice I can pass along is this: Pay no attention to reports on how many fish have been or are being taken on any certain stream. Just make sure the bar at the mouth of such streams as you will visit is open, and that the water conditions are prime. Contact the weather bureau and learn how much if any rain has fallen in the area, especially learn whether rain has fallen back in the hills from the coast. If it has been raining hard, postpone your trip. If it starts raining hard during the night when you are at your spot, better eat breakfast and head for home. If you get word that a week has passed since the last hard rain, get in the old bus and head for your favorite spot. Your chances are good.

TO CLOSE the subject — make no mistake about it, while the prime steelhead fishing days are rather few, the catching of just one tide-run winter steelhead on the proper tackle constitutes a complete and soul-satisfying experience. There just isn't any fish that swims that can beat such a steelhead under such conditions. Allah be praised, I have spoken. Goodbye, good luck and go get 'em!

Golf Pros Not So Camera Shy When It Comes To Lucrative Television Show

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—This was a few years back during a P.G.A. tournament and Jackie Burke, usually a mild, smiling man, was so upset he couldn't eat his dinner.

"Those photographers," he stormed, blue eyes blazing. "One of them snapped a picture today just as I hit an approach shot and I flubbed it. I could have buried my wedge in his skull."

Now, as it develops, it's all a matter of who takes the picture—and what's in it for the man swinging the club.

THERE HAS been, from time to time, disgraceful coercion of photographers on various golf courses. They have been threatened with ejection for daring to snap a shutter within earshot, run off by officious marshals and by their mere presence drawn looks from the ham actors among the pros which told the crowd clearly that these were lowly pariahs with malicious intentions.

But matches filmed for television have shown the loudest complainants among the pros for what they are, a bunch of brassie Barrymores who love to play to the gallery. The lonely click of the still camera, or the whirr of a for-free motion picture camera, sends them into an Academy Award dramatic performance.

It's something else again when the gears grind and mesh on the matches being filmed for television and they must wait interminably between shots.

ACTUALLY, IT'S quite surprising what a difference money makes.

Concrete evidence comes in the boasts concerning the excellence of matches filmed for NBC'S All-Star Golf Show. Despite the fact that every shot is delayed and recorded to the accompaniment of several cameras, Peter Thomson shot a 10 under par 60 in one of the 12 matches filmed and the highest round was a one over par 72.

Bang, clatter, grind . . .

The golfers in the six matches turned in 138 par holes, 59 birdies, 13 bogies, five double bogies and an eagle.

Bang, clatter, grind . . .

ONE OF the five double bogies occurred when Jerry Barber's caddy repaired a ball mark on the green and he was assessed a two-stroke penalty.

Bang, clatter, grind . . .

Arnold Palmer smashed a 350-yard drive and on the same hole canned a 45-foot putt for a birdie.

Bang, clatter, grind . . .

Gary Player stepped up and holed a 55-footer, a spot where most pros demand absolute silence and lack of movement.

Bang, clatter, grind . . .

STAN LEONARD and Doug Sanders played 36 holes without a single bogey, firing a total of 20 birdies and an eagle.

Bang, clatter, grond . . .

Click . . .

"If I get my hands on that guy, I'll bury my wedge in his skull."

How ridiculous can you get?

Coaches Pick Santa Clara, Troy To Win

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Stronger collegiate basketball teams are in prospect along the West Coast this season with close competition expected in both the Big Five and West Coast Athletic Conference.

In its initial meeting of the year yesterday, the Northern California Basketball Writers and Broadcasters Association tabbed the University of Southern California as favorite in the Big Five and Santa Clara in the WCAC.

Each of the five WCAC coaches present predicted a tougher fight in their league than during last season when Loyola of Los Angeles copped the honors.

The writers picked Loyola to finish second and San Jose State third in the seven-school league.

Behind USC, the finish was tabbed as Washington second and Stanford third.

All of the teams in the area open this weekend. St. Mary's hosts Sacramento State on Friday night with Chico State playing at San Jose. Both USF and California play alumni teams.

On Saturday night, USF plays at Stanford, University of the Pacific at California, Chico State at Santa Clara and San Jose State at San Francisco State. Chico State and San Francisco State are members of the Far Western Conference.

Venturi To Play In Marin Golf Benefit

In one of the most heartwarming golf events played in Northern California, dozens of golf "teams" will gather at Marin Golf and County Club, Friday, Dec. 8, to tee off in the first annual Muscular Dystrophy Invitational.

Leading the team tourney will be Ken Venturi and the self styled "world champion golfing disc jockey," Jim Lange, who were the first ones to sign up with Tournament Chairman Chuck McHugh.

Each team will donate $40 to play in the event in the portion of all monies collected from entries will go to aid research and care for the nation's 250,000 dystrophic patients, most of them just young children. Although there will be plenty of fine prizes, they will be modest in keeping with the purpose of this unusual tournament.

Already signed up and ready to play with, as yet unnamed partners, are Harvey Ward, Jim Davenport, Hobie Landrith and Lon Simmons.

Team entries can be mailed to Chuck McHugh, chairman, First Annual Muscular Dystrophy Invitational, 1500 Bush Street, San Francisco. The entry fee includes a buffet dinner and top entertainment after the tournament.

According to McHugh, who has put in a lot of time on this Tournament along with Bill McGarry of Garry Enterprises, funds raised from this tournament help to provide and support Muscular Dystrophy Clinics; therapy; orthopedic equipment; counseling; transportation to and from hospitals and recreational events and numerous family services.

California Rings To Be Busy Tonight

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

At Fresno, Ben (Bandit) Medina battles to square accounts with speedy Billy Thomas of San Francisco who stopped the Fresno boxer in their initial meeting.

Also on the Richmond card, Pete Heiser, former Northern California Golden Gloves champion, will make his hometown pro debut against George Thomas of Oakland. The two have met before—in Oakland —with a draw decision.

At San Jose, welterweights Gaspar Ortega of Tijuana battles Frankie Ramirez of Los Angeles over the route of 10 rounds or less.

A Sacramento card scheduled for tonight was canceled because, matchmaker John Sylvester said, suitable preliminary fighters were not available. The main event was to have been a rematch of Trino Savala, Sacramento, and Arturo Vingochea, Mexico. Sylvester said that with all the other boxing shows in Northern California tonight, "there is not enough talent to go around."

Youngsters like this are more than newspaperboys. They've become a healthy economic force, both for their own betterment and the good of the community. Imagine: these young fellows, since the start of the Independent-Journal Merchants Point Program, have purchased some $5,-500 worth of goods and services from participating merchants. (Using points, earned as commissions for new subscriptions, redeemable by the I-J at cash value).

Merchants in the plan both gain business and help these younger businessmen gain in the knowledge of buying and saving. (Some boys for instance, are putting savings with Marin firms toward a college education).

In addition, our 600 newspaperboys, earning nearly $200,000 annually, are placing these funds to work in Marin—banking, investing, buying, adding to the economy and to their own advancement. It's all part of the community values which these self-reliant youngsters create by doing a job. In this, we believe, everyone gains.

American Impressions—

Marin's AFS Students Discuss Differences and Similarities

By PATRICIA ZINN

Seated around the blazing fireplace at the Meadow Club, American Field Service exchange students in Marin were in high spirits after observing their first Thanksgiving. Mari Sogayar of Brazil even suggested, "It was so good I feel like introducing it in my country."

The nine students along with their American brothers and sisters and Mrs. Joseph Marshall of Belvedere, director of the AFS program in Marin, were luncheon guests on Friday of Mrs. William Zimmerman of Del Mesa.

Missing from the group was Kenyon Gilson of South Africa who was at Lake Tahoe with his American family, Dr. and Mrs. Delman Smith and son, Danny, of Sausalito.

The group seemed happy to be reunited. It afforded the opportunity to discuss and show pictures of their recent weekend in Santa Rosa. They also talked of similarities and differences among their own countries and America.

Bente Hildeng, who is attending Tamalpais High School, finds the climate in Marin much warmer than in her native Norway and amusingly pointed out that at Christmas "We have horses instead of reindeer pulling the sleighs." Bente is making her home in America with the John R. McDonnells of Mill Valley. The attractive young lady who wants to study medicine, is popular at Tam, where she was a candidate for football queen and is president of the International Club. "In Norway," she said, "students may quit after seven years of schooling. It is very hard to get into high school, for you must take an examination."

Mari also wants to study medicine and at Redwood High School she is taking physics and physiology which she hopes will further her chances in passing an examination to medical school in Brazil. The vivacious brunette, who is living with the Harry Rothrock family in San Anselmo, "likes every thing here." "Oh sure," she says, "I would like to come back." Mari's father owns a coffee plantation in the state of Parana although her family makes their home in Sao Paulo.

School rallies have been a highlight during Servet Mutlu's stay in America, for the exchange student at Redwood High says that they don't exist in Turkey. Servet, who makes his home with Dr. and Mrs. Charles Secor in Larkspur, finds "I am changing plans every day—now, I want to be a mechanical engineer." He finds the climate and terrain of southern Turkey comparable to Marin.

Frans Zonneveld enjoyed telling the others of skating on the dykes in his native Holland and was enthusiastically looking forward to a trip to the snow with the Ski Club at Novato High School. The young man, who is staying with the Eugene DeBrechts in Novato, seems to be enjoying the weather and remarked that the weather in Holland is cloudy with "not many sunny days."

Nineteen-year-old Gertrud Axelrod of Sweden is attending the Katharine Branson School where she is enrolled in the special advanced mathematics course and taking piano lessons. Gertrud, is also learning to ride horseback during her stay with the Joe Cooper Jrs., in Kentfield. Her ambition is to be an elementary school teacher.

At Sir Francis Drake High School Sergio Pecarelli is still surprised to find himself changing classes because in Italy "only the teachers are moving," Sergio, who lives near Milan, says that the American school system offers "much more communication between teacher and student." For Sergio, who is staying with Dr. and Mrs. Aaron Ungersma of San Anselmo, the spirit at football games is much greater than the soccer games in Italy and he is all for that.

Jeanne Bui of Viet Nam has been "freezing" since arriving in Marin for the temperature of her hometown, Saigon, is much higher. Jeanne makes her home with the Roscoe Smiths in San Anselmo while attending Drake High School. She is concentrating on improving her English while in this country.

"People are very welcoming" says Catherine Boyer of Toulouse, France, who is living with the Joseph Jacobsens of San Rafael. Catherine, who has never attended a coeducational school, likes San Rafael High School, particularly, the football games.

She pointed out that the Toulouse terrain is flat and has many plains.

Gerd Wissman, in comparing the American schools with that of Germany, noted that the stress in his country was on academic theory while that in the U. S. was on practice. Gerd attends San Rafael High and resides with the Robert Houstons in San Rafael. He noted no difference in the two climates but did go on to say "In California everything is in greater measure."

The young man was quite impressed that the driving age in America is 16 "while in Germany one must be 18."

Women Voters Unit Meetings Are Announced

"Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act" is the subject for discussion at this week's unit meetings of the League of Women Voters of Mill Valley held at 9:45 a.m. at the homes of members.

Todays' meeting was held at the home of Mrs. H. L. Shain. Tomorrow Mrs. S. I. Hayakawa will be the hostess, and Thursday's hostess will be Mrs. E. B. Chiswell.

Discussion leaders are Mesdames Stephen C. Kaufman, H. H. Bjornstrom, G. S. Sarkaria and Arthur Sestak of the foreign policy workshop.

Members are taking final consensus on this issue, which will be the first major legislation to be considered by Congress in January. The world trade situation created by the common market of the European countries has made necessary a careful re-evaluation of the League's position.

Down Go Pockets

Harvey Berin, New York manufacturer, lowered the placement of pockets in spring dresses so that there is no fabric bulge when the wearer sits. As the fashion show commentator pointed out this advantage, a buyer in the audience whispered to her neighbor—"I wonder why they put pockets in 'em at all. Most women already have enough around the hips."

We're All Cheaters So It's No Wonder Children Learn It

We all are cheaters, one way or another. We may not tell big lies, or steal from the poor box. But we break speed laws, tell little fibs and cut a good many corners.

It is no wonder our children cheat — we set such bad examples. If there's a test at school which seems important, and if they think they can get by with it, the majority of our boys and girls will cheat. Teachers have tried many systems to stop them but none succeeded completely. There's going to be at least a little cribbing, no matter what.

I've been checking the honor system. It puts pupils on their honor not to fudge. It sounds good and usually works, for a time. Then the more desperate kids begin to take advantage of it, and others see them and follow suit. Eventually nearly all of them cheat their heads off, under te "onor system."

Should teachers ignore cheating? No. That makes a mockery of education. Children learn to cheat their way through life. Lessons aren't mastered. The few thoroughly honest youngsters are handicapped. The nearest thing to a solution to cheating is eternal vigilance. Teachers should prepare tests in which cribbing is difficult. They should seat their pupils so collaboration is impossible. They should personally patrol the room, every minute of every test. They should expect the worst, and be prepared for it.

Those caught cheating should be punished. They should be made very uncomfortable, but they needn't be disgraced for life. A means should be provided for them to work their way back to good standing.

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "My boy is 15. He wants to have dates, but is too young to drive. Would it be proper for me to take him to pick up his girl, drive them to their parties, and call for them afterward?" Mrs. K.H.

(A) Yes, indeed. That's the way millions of us parents do it.

Radio Near Bath Has Its Dangers

A leisurely tub bath is relaxing, and when combined with soft music from a nearby radio it may have even greater soothing effect. But the use of a regular cord radio, near a bath, has its dangers.

In co-operation with the National Safety Council, Sony Corporation of America issued this public service notice today: If an ordinary radio, with electrical power from house current (AC) is used while one is taking a bath, be sure it is placed away from the tub with no chance of it slipping into the water. A playing radio that slips into the water could create enough of an electrical shock to the bather to cause death.

YOUR HOUSEHOLD

Grandma's Method Praised For Washing The Durables

A home laundry specialist advises going back to some of grandma's techniques for washing durables — including bath towels, bobby sox, underwear and sheets.

Mrs. Jessie Cartwright contends that housewives have forgotten how to wash these items in the course of learning all about washing nylons, dacrons, treated cottons and stuffed toys.

"As a result, the everyday clothes and linens come out of the automatic washer gray, yellow, spotted, stained, creased and dingy," she told delegates to the recent National Home Laundry Conference.

Mrs. Cartwright, director of home economics for a laundry equipment manufacturer, suggests a return to these time-tested principles for washing durables:

—Sort white clothes from colored.

—Use cleaning fluid to remove grease and other non-water soluble stains and spots.

—Use hot water, at least 140 degrees.

—Use soft water or at least soften the rinse.

—Soak baby clothes and diapers in cool water before washing in hot water, then rinse and rinse in soft or softened water, using no highly alkalized solutions, to avoid diaper rash.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Don't Believe All You Hear About Those Brilliant Plays

If you want anybody to listen to your bridge stories you have to praise the other fellow when he tells you about the brilliant play he made in a game the other night. Still, you're allowed to wonder what really happened.

The story goes that this hand was played in Amsterdam about 25 years ago. West opened the deuce of diamonds, declarer put up the ace from the dummy, and East brilliantly played the king of diamonds!

South had been planning to draw trumps and try the club finesse. East could see that the club finesse would work, so he tried to steer South to a play that would fail.

Naturally, South didn't want to risk the club finesse when he knew all about the diamonds. He drew trumps and finessed with dummy's ten of diamonds.

Down one. And the story is still being told, 25 years later.

WHAT HAPPENED: Maybe it really happened that way. If so, we have to give East credit.

Maybe East played a normal nine of diamonds at the first trick. Later, while South was scoring up the grand slam and rubber, East observed that he should have played the king.

Naturally, everybody would admire the idea even though it was just an afterthought. And by the time the story was told for the tenth time, a week later, it would develop that East really had played the king of diamonds. Hurrah for East!

While you're cheering, don't forget about West. He didn't blink when his partner dropped the king of diamonds. Any ordinary mortal would stare at South in astonishment and ask, "What are you doing with all those diamonds?" And then the cat would be out of the bag.

What luck to have a partner with a good poker face just when you're going to make a play that would knock any ordinary partner right off his chair!

DAILY QUESTION: Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes. You hold:

What do you say?

Answer: Bid two clubs. The hand is not quite good enough for a jump to three clubs. The bidding shown in the diagram is a trifle too enthusiastic.

German Church Sends Thanks

GLENDALE (UPI)—The North Glendale Methodist Church received a postcard from a methodist pastor in East Germany thanking the Californians for financial help.

The post card closed with this cryptic line "II Corinthians 4:8."

The passage reads: We are troubled on every side, yet not distressed; we are perplexed but not in despair, persecuted but not forsaken; cast down, but not destroyed."

Abandoned Mine May Be Used As Shelter

CHESTER, Mass (UPI) — An abandoned emery mine may serve as a fallout shelter for this town's entire population of 1,000.

Civil Defense authorities are considering a plan to use as a giant shelter this mine, not used since 1905, whose entrance is less than 400 yards from busy Route 20.

Methodists Now Number 10 Million

CHICAGO (UPI)—A 10-year-old girl from Wilson, N.C., is reported to be the 10-millionth member of the Methodist church.

Cancer Researchers May Lose Funds

NEW YORK (UPI) — A few years ago it was "Mr. Republican." A few days ago it was "Mr. Democrat." Within easy memory it was a secretary of state and also a celebrated movie actor. But hundreds of thousands will tell you this fate is not reserved only for the high and mighty.

Cancer displays no partiality. It takes the obscure as readily as the famous who get the big publicity. There hardly exists an American who hasn't lost a relative or a friend. That has to be since it killed 265,000 last year. If cancer isn't in every home, it's close by.

This brings up a matter of 15 million dollars which is embittering cancer research scientists. They want it. They thought they were going to get it. Now it looks as though they won't. It is the 15 million health-education-welfare Secretary Abraham Ribicoff lopped off the 1961-62 budget of the National Cancer Institute.

You might ask why scientists should fret over a mere 15 million. The institute, which is the federal government's cancer research arm, will still have 127 million dollars to work with, and that's a considerable increase over its current budget of 111 million dollars.

In addition there is the approximately 11 million dollars a year the public puts into cancer research through contributions to the American Cancer Society, and the some 8 million dollars it contributes annually to a number of other private research agencies.

The reason the scientists fret is a simple one when it is reduced to its essence. They now know enough about cancer to know the enormous amount they don't know. Put this against an indisputable fact and you will see why to them the matter is urgent.

This fact is the only real "answer" to cancer is (1) the ability to prevent it and (2) the ability to cure it. As of now cancer prevention is much more stabs-in-the-dark maneuvers than an actuality and the "cures" (surgery and radiation) are workable in pathetically small percentages of cancer victims.

This "real" answer can come only out of basic scientific research and in view of the little that is known in relation to the whole of what isn't known, this research has to be diffused over the origins of life and also over all the circumstances and conditions in which life exists.

That takes scientific manpower — manpower to plan, manpower to experiment and study, manpower to translate the results into practical applications to people.

The over-all medical word for cancer is "neoplasm" which merely means, "new growth." Cancer is "new growth" of cells and tissues which have been freed of the natural controls over growth. The "new growth" pursues its outlaw course until it kills the host. Other medical words for cancer refer to the type of cell or tissue in which the "new growth" is occuring.

Something had to trigger this "new growth," wherever it is. Cancer science must know what it is in every case if it is going to come up with the real "answer"—not only what it is but precisely how it works.

In some cases it is a spontaneous happening within the cell. In others, it is some kind of poisoning from the outside—from the environment. For instance, Speaker Sam Rayburn, "Mr. Democrat," had two sisters who died of cancer. That indicates a hereditary or "genetic" factor.

Sen. Maurine Neuberger (D-Ore.) is recovering from surgery which removed cancerous tissue from the intestine. Her husband, the late Sen. Richard L. Neuberger, had similar surgery. Man and wife are unalike genetically but they share intimately one environment. Could this explain anything as regards the Neubergers? That is merely one of the hundreds of unanswered cancer questions.

Factory Front Office Overtaking Workers

NEW YORK (AP)—In many a factory, the front office men and women are fast overtaking the production workers in numbers and also in percentage of total operating costs.

Since 1947 the number of blue collar workers has dipped 4 per cent, due largely to an average 3 per cent a year rise in output per man-hour that often means more goods from fewer men and women on the production lines.

In the same period the number of nonproduction workers has gone up 63 per cent. This has had a big effect on over-all manufacturing overhead—both in total costs and in their inflexibility in the business cycle.

In 1947, salaries counted for one-fourth of total factory payrolls. Now they are more than one-third of the total.

And average annual salaries in 1960 were $7,300 in manufacturing industries, compared to the annual wages of $4,700. The gap of $2,600 compares with a difference of $1,900 in 1953 between average white collar salary and blue collar wage.

The very increase in productivity, due to mechanization and automation, that has let factories hold the line or decrease workers has built up much of the increased demand for the white collar worker.

Mechanization and record keeping for such things as pensions, tax withholding, hospital insurance, has meant more paper work. Clerical workers are the largest group of white collar employees, but their increase since 1952 has been 13 per cent, quite modest compared with the gains in the professional and technical ends of manufacturing. One reason for the more modest growth of clerical rolls may be that here, too, much of the work is done increasingly by machines.

Sales workers, managers, executives and proprietors also have increased in numbers in the last decade.

All of this is a big part of the reason that overhead costs have risen so persistently in recent years, the Chase Manhattan Bank, New York, notes today in its review of business.

As far as production lines alone are concerned, the rise in output per man hour of work has been fairly steady in the last decade as new machines and methods took over in the factories and better plants were built.

But count in all manufacturing company costs—both blue and white collar—and the rate of growth in productivity has slowed notably since 1955. The bank's economists think this could be due to the rapid increase in the number of nonproduction workers.

They say output per salaried employee has fallen off sharply, putting a drag on over-all output per man-hour.

The increase in payrolls per man-hour over output per man-hour came in two spurts — the Korean War sent both wage and salary unit costs higher. The other was between 1955 and 1958 when productivity dropped while salaries continued to rise, although wage costs per unit of output were held down by mechanization.

Right now the business recovery is increasing productivity faster than employee compensation. The bank economists think maintaining this trend could play a big part in setting the duration and strength of the upturn.

Religious Ads Called Good Sell

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Advertising "sells" religion as surely as it sells any product, according to the Knights of Columbus.

The K. of C. advertises widely throughout the country and has received more than four million responses to its explanations of Roman Catholic doctrine in the last 13 years.

An estimated 1,500 inquiries reach the organization's headquarters in St. Louis every day. Nearly 430,000 persons have asked for instruction in the Catholic faith.

Student Population Expected To Double

NEW YORK (UPI)—A population increase by 1970 is expected to almost double the present student population of the nation's secondary schools, according to a report by Allied Chemical Corporation's building materials division.

California is expected to have almost 800,000 more high school students by 1970, a rise of 85 per cent over last year, while Arizona anticipates a jump of 70 per cent and Florida an increase of 80 per cent.

The news of today's events is always waiting for you in your evening I-J. (Which is a little different than waiting until tomorrow to read about "yesterday.")

As an evening newspaper, our deadline is always today. Our entire editorial staff combs the county, the nation, the whole world, to bring you the news as it happens. That is the basic job of a newspaper . . . and of the far-flung news-gathering resources of AP and UPI who serve us that we may serve you.

As a result, 68% of all Marin County families take the I-J. By being part of today it's part of their lives . . . and part of the fun of coming home.

Aldous Huxley To Talk At Marin College

British-born Aldous Huxley, 67, author of more than 40 novels, plays, books of essays and poetry, will talk on "Human Potentialities" at 8 p.m., Dec. 7, in Olney Hall at the College of Marin.

Huxley's talk is the second in the college-sponsored concert and lecture series which started last spring. It will be open to the public without charge.

Huxley was born in Godalming, England. He is the son of Leonard Huxley, author and editor; the grandson of Thomas Huxley, famed English biologist and essayist, and the brother of Julian Huxley, English novelist and critic.

Huxley has had nine novels published, including "Brave New World," a novel of a future society of scientific regimentation.

He has lived and worked in Los Angeles since 1934, but still retains British citizenship.

Kennedy Lays It On The Line In Soviet Press Interview

Says Effort 'To Communize' Is Root Of World Conflict

WASHINGTON (AP) — President John F. Kennedy told the Soviet people through their own government newspaper today that the root of East-West troubles is the Russian effort to "communize . . . the entire world."

In an interview with Alexei Adzhubei, editor of Izvestia and son-in-law of Premier Nikita Khrushchev, the U.S. chief executive laid heavy stress on the aim of freedom of choice for peoples—and he said the peoples of Eastern Europe do not have it.

Kennedy dealt with the Berlin conflict as the focus of East-West tensions, overshadowing issues such as trade and disarmament. An agreement on Berlin could lead to "peace in this century in Central Europe," Kennedy said. But he firmly turned thumbs down again on a settlement that would give the East German puppet regime control over West Berlin or its access routes.

On another major point of East-West conflict, Kennedy told the Soviet editor:

"It is this effort to push outward the Communist system, on to country after country, that represents, I think, the great threat to peace."

'NATIONAL INTERIOR'

"If the Soviet Union looked only to its national interest and to providing a better life for its people under conditions of peace, I think there would be nothing that would disturb the relations between the Soviet Union and the United States."

The lengthy interview, which took place last Saturday at Kennedy's home in Hyannis Port, Mass., was as much dialogue as a question-and-answer session.

To Kennedy's comment on the Soviet's attempt to spread its system around the world, Adzhubei replied, "I cannot agree with you in that part of your answer where you are saying that we are trying to 'communize' the world."

'AGAINST EXPORT'

Adzhubei said the Communist party congress last month declared "that we are against any export of the revolution, but we are also against any export of counterrevolution."

He told Kennedy that from the Soviet viewpoint, the United States is interfering in the affairs of many other countries.

In response to Adzhubei's remarks, Kennedy said he did not want to get into a debate. But he asserted that the United States wants every nation to have the right to make a free choice as to its government.

The president noted that in the beginning the great majority of Cubans supported the revolution led by Fidel Castro, but he said Castro has failed to keep his commitments on free elections and progress.

Until Castro permits free and honest elections, Kennedy said, his regime cannot claim to represent the majority.

With reference to Cheddi Jagan, leftist leader of British Guiana, Kennedy said: "Mr. Jagan, on the other hand, who was recently elected prime minister in British Guiana is a Marxist, but the United States doesn't object — because that choice was made by an honest election, which he won."

Giving a general view, Kennedy said:

"If the people of any country choose to follow a Communist system in a free election, after a fair opportunity for a number of views to be presented, the United States would accept that. What we find to be objectionable and a threat to the people, is when a system is imposed by a small militant group by subversion, infiltration, and all the rest."

Kennedy added that the United States hopes the Soviet Union will also accept and recognize the right of free choice by other peoples.

"If we could get that on both sides," Kennedy said, "I believe the Soviet Union and the United States, which have so

State Might Relax Date On Hospital

Fusselman Says Prospects Good For Time Change

Prospects for a slight relaxation of the state's Dec. 11 "first deadline" for county hospital solution are good, Chairman William D. Fusselman told his fellow supervisors yesterday.

Fusselman reported informally on events since last week, including instruction to County Engineer Harold M. Engle to busy himself at top speed in preparing plans and specifications for temporary strengthening of the present hospital in Lucas Valley.

Engle thought he "might need two or three days more" than allowed by the Dec. 11 deadline, said Fusselman. He said Robert J. Barnecut, the state's engineer, had agreed and intimated extra leeway could be arranged.

LETTER READ

Just before adjournment, Asst. Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell handed the board a letter reporting investigation of the recent offer by attorney Peter Allen Smith on behalf of clients showed that it would be "definitely feasible to Marin County" to take up this private construction deal, entailing care at $350 per patient monthly.

Mitchell had been asked to check figures submitted by Smith as against current cost to the county, which he gave as $346.50 per patient, including items not in the Smith offer. Deducting doctors' salaries and cost of prescriptions and drugs, this figure came down to $319.60.

$665,000 COST

Assuming a county construction cost of $665,000 for a new hospital, Mitchell estimated $37.40 monthly depreciation cost which brought the over-all county cost to $357, which was the figure he compared with Smith's $350.

Mitchell explained he got the $665,000 cost figure from another private offer by Frank E. March, consisting of $585,000 for cost of structure plus $80,000 for equipment, but not including land cost. Marsh's proposal, one of three private offers so far laid before the board, calls for construction on county-owned property.

Since acceptance of the temporary strengthening plan by the state is conditional on supervisors' agreement on some scheme for providing a new hospital — this decision being due no later than Dec. 18—further consideration of permanent plans was on this afternoon's agenda.

Edward I. Butler Succumbs At 87; Former Judge Of Superior Court

Marin Public Service Dates Back To 1906

Edward I. Butler, who served 31 years as Marin Superior Court judge, died early today in a local hospital after a series of strokes. He was 87 years old.,

Requiem High Mass will be celebrated for him at 9:30 a.m. Thursday at St. Raphael's Catholic Church, with the cortege forming at 9:15 a.m. at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery. The Rosary will be recited at the mortuary at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

Judge Butler entered the hospital Nov. 18 after suffering a heart attack at a rest home at 1535 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, where he had resided since his health began to fail about two years ago.

Judge Butler's 31 years on the Superior Court bench is a record for Marin County. He was appointed in 1920 to fill out the term of Judge Edgar T. Zook, who had retired. Re-elected five times without opposition, he retired in 1951.

The judge-to-be entered politics in 1906. He was successful in his first race, being elected assemblyman from Marin County. He served four years in the Assembly, then ran for district attorney, failing to unseat the incumbent, Thomas Boyd, father of present San Rafael attorney Thomas P. Boyd.

CITY ATTORNEY

In 1912, he was elected city attorney of San Rafael. He served in that office until 1915, then was elected district attorney in his second bid for that office. He served as district attorney until appointed to the bench.

His years on the bench embraced the period of the "noble experiment" — prohibition — during which liquor runners unloaded their wares in secluded coves along the Marin shore. Many prohibition cases, as well as other crimes, including murder, which rose from underworld contests over the liquor traffic, were tried in his court. It was the only Superior Court in Marin until 1950, the year before Judge Butler's retirement.

BORN IN MONTEREY

He was born Nov. 21, 1874, in Monterey, the son of Michael Butler, a carpenter, and Mary A. Butler, both immigrants from Ireland. When he was a small child, the family moved to Napa, and in 1880 moved to Inverness, settling in what was then known as Carlin Gulch and starting a dairy business Later they lived for a time in the White House, near Point Reyes Station, then acquired a large dairy ranch on the Point Reyes Peninsula near Drake's Estero.

Butler attended Point Reyes School and the old Black District Grammar School. In 1896, he entered old St. Mary's College in Oakland, and completed both high school and college courses to receive his A.B. degree four years later. During his last year at college, he was student body president. He was on football, baseball and track teams at the college.

Three years at Hastings College of Law in San Francisco followed. After admission to

Mrs. Smith Says She Would Like To Resign

Mrs. Elizabeth Rudel Smith of Kentfield, treasurer of the United States, told a hometown audience at College of Marin today she would like to resign to participate in the California campaign next year, "but I will discuss the situation with people in Washington."

Mrs. Smith gave a talk entitled "The Role of the Educated Woman in a World of Tension" to a crowded assembly today at 11 a.m., in Olney Hall.

Mrs. Smith stressed the importance of the United States system of government over the dictatorship type of government. She was against radical right and radical left theories.

"I am, by nature, an active participant in government affairs," she said.

"The 1962 elections in California are more significant than any other state in the United States," said Mrs. Smith.

She said she would not be able to participate in the California campaign and remain at her position in Washington.

"Our world today, the future is yours to mold, I wish you luck," she said in closing her speech, which was followed by questions from the audience.

Among the questions was a query on the progress of her plan for various colors of currency. She answered that she had not yet taken it up with Secretary of the Treasury C. Douglas Dillon, but plans to in about two weeks.

A similar question regarding changing the size of currency for various denominations was brought up but she said the problem in the Bureau of Engraving would be too great at this time. "One thing at a time," she declared.

$60,000-Plan For Paradise Park Discussed

A $60,000 project for renovating the fishing pier and building a boat launching ramp at Marin Country's Paradise Park near Tiburon was discussed by state and county officials today.

Ray J. Nesbit, coordinator of the State Wild Life Conservation Board, outlined a proposal by which the board would reconstruct the pier and build boat facilities, then turn it over to the county for operation and maintenance.

The dock, an adjunct of the former Tiburon Naval Net Depot, would be reinforced and resurfaced, a rail placed around it and benches installed. The boat-launching ramp, 35 feet wide, would be constructed south of the pier.

Supervisor J. Walter Blair invited conservation board representatives to attend a meeting of the board of supervisors to explain the project. Nesbit suggested that it be considered by the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission, scheduled to meet Dec. 6.

Gibbs Lawson, chairman of the parks commission, said an earlier plan for a boat-launching ramp at the site had met with opposition from property owners. The present master plan for the park, up for consideration at the next meeting, does not include a ramp.

Literary Life Gets Rough In Sausalito

The Sausalito literary scene was unusually turbulent today —so turbulent that two editors of Contact magazine and a part-time janitor wound up in jail after a battle with police.

The literary flavor of the fisticuffs was heightened by the fact they occurred just outside the Bar With No Name at 757 Bridgeway, which is frequented by the avant garde literati and publishes a literary journal of sorts itself.

Jailed were William Harvey Ryan, 33, of 317 Bridgeway, Sausalito, editor and publisher of Contact; his co-editor, Calvin Brice Kentfield, 37, of 100 Greenbrae Boardwalk, Larkspur, author of the book, "Mrs Bridge," and Norman Anthony Disher, 35, the part-time janitor, who gave his address as P.O. Box 94, Sausalito.

The affair started as a tussle, for unknown reason, between Ryan and Kentfield.

Police Officers Robert Ward and John Higgins were on duty at 2 a.m., sitting in a patrol car outside the police station with Officer Ted Zink, who had gone off duty at midnight. They saw a crowd on the sidewalk across the street and investigated.

Strike In Paris

PARIS (UPI)—Paris became almost a ghost city today when public utilities and transportation were cut off by a nationwide strike of a half-million French workers.

Railway workers began a 24-hour strike at 4 a.m. Parisian subway and bus employees walked out an hour later. Gas, electrical and water services were cut off at 6 a.m.

The strike, supported by all three major trade unions, was aimed at forcing the government to end its freeze on wages and prices.

Trial Plea Rejected

RUSSELL, Kan. (AP) — Two young soldiers condemned to the gallows for one of seven murders have lost an attempt to get a new trial.

Judge Benedict P. Cruise rejected the motion yesterday, and set Saturday for sentencing James Douglas Latham, 19, of Mauriceville, Tex., and George Ronald York, 18, of Jacksonville, Fla.

York and Latham were found guilty of first-degree murder for the robbery slaying of an elderly railroad worker near Sharon Spring, Kan. They also admitted murders in Florida, Tennessee, Illinois and Colorado.

Knight In Hospital

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Former Gov. Goodwin J. Knight's doctor says he's 90 per cent sure the 64-year-old Republican has hepatitis and will need at least four weeks to recover.

The doctor's statement came as Knight's campaign aides were denying yesterday that illness would knock him out of the 1962 gubernatorial contest.

Knight has been in a suburban Burbank hospital since Saturday and tests for infectious hepatitis were ordered. Results of the tests are not yet in hand.

Autry Fined

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Western actor Gene Autry, 52, co-owner of the Los Angeles Angels, has pleaded guilty to a drunken driving charge and paid a $1,500.

He was given a 10-day suspended sentence and placed on probation for three years.

Asks For Food

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown has asked the federal government to ship more surplus grain to California for use in event of enemy attack.

The governor, in a letter to Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman, acknowledged the stockpiling of some two million bushels of wheat earlier in the year.

Terry Jo 'Home'

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI)—The lone survivor of a Florida yachting vacation which ended in high seas horror was secluded with relatives today while her elders planned her future.

Terry Jo Duperrault, 11, had her first real family dinner in more than a month last night at the home of her uncle, Ralph Scheer. Two large dogs roamed the grounds of the suburban home to discourage the curious.

She spent the afternoon playing with the three Scheer children after her arrival from Milwaukee shortly after noon.

3 Die In Crash

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (UPI)—A B-47 six-jet Air Force bomber crashed in flames last night attempting an emergency landing at Plattsburgh Air Force Base where another crippled B-47 managed a safe landing.

Three crew members perished in the flaming wreckage, but the fourth staggered away from the crash scene and was reported in "good" condition at the base hospital with a sprained back.

Both of the two-million-dollar planes were attached to the 100th Bombardment Wing of the Strategic Air Command at Pease Air Force Base, New Hampshire.

For West Alliance

ANKARA, Turkey (UPI)—Premier Ismet Inonu said yesterday the new Turkish government's foreign policy would continue to be based on its alliance with the West.

Inonu, outlining the program of the coalition government he formed this month, said Turkey "sincerely wishes" to join the European Common Market. It already is a member of NATO and CENTO, the western military alliances.

Hollywood Pair Weds

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Actor Ben Gazzara and actress Janice Rule eloped to San Francisco last weekend because "it is such a romantic place" and they decided it was time to get married.

Gazzara, 31, and Miss Rule, revealed yesterday they were married.

We have been going together for two years and decided it was about time we got married . . . we chose San Francisco because it is such a romantic place and I had never been there," Gazzara explained.

It was the second marriage for both.

The couple took out a license here Saturday morning and that night were married in the San Francisco home of judge Leland Lazarus.

Philco Corp. Sale To Ford Is Approved

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Stockholders of the Philco Corp. today approved sale of the company to Ford Motor Co.

Stockholders approved the sale by a vote of 3,426,653 to 80,801.

Philco President James M. Skinner Jr., announced that the transaction will be closed on or before Dec. 11, probably in Dearborn, Mich.

Common stockholders voted 3,335,940 in favor of the sale with 80,471 against. Preferred holders voiced approval by a vote of 90,713 to 330.

Approximately 250 persons attended the meeting at Philco headquarters here. There was extensive questioning of Skinner by stockholders who objected to the sale on the grounds that the proposed exchange of 4½ shares of Philco stock for 1 share of Ford stock was "unfair."

Clash Over Bridges' Vacancies Discounted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George D. Aitken (R-Vt.) discounted today reports that Republican liberals and conservatives may clash over filling party posts vacated by the death of Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N.H.).

Aiken, who quarterbacked an unsuccessful 1958 effort of liberals to capture the GOP floor leadership which went to Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.) said in a telephone interview he has given no thought to organizing a similar drive next January.

"I hope the vacancies will be filled with men who will add to the progressive image of the party in the 1962 elections," he said. "But I doubt that we're going to have any fight about it."

Aiken said he assumes that if Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass.) wants it he can have the job of chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, which Bridges held. Saltonstall, who takes a middle road course, is regarded as far less conservative than Bridges.

If Saltonstall takes this job, his own chairmanship of the conference of all Republican senators would be open when GOP members meet in January to realign their forces.

Aiken, who has been mentioned as a possible choice for the conference chairmanship, said "some mighty unusual circumstances" would have to arise for him to take the job. He said he prefers to operate as an individual, without assuming responsibilities for party policies with which he might disagree.

Sen. John Sherman Cooper, (R-Ky.) who made the unsuccessful race against Dirksen in 1958, has told friends he isn't particularly interested in trying again for a leadership spot.

The policy and conference chairmanships are less attractive than they were when a GOP president was in the White House but the leadership posts carry a measure of prestige and add to the audience of any senator who holds the title. For this reason several Republican veterans may be in the bidding for them.

Among these may be Sens. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind.), Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) and Karl E. Mundt (R-S.D.). All are classed as conservatives.

Rockefeller Ends Personal Search For His Missing Son

HOLLANDIA, Dutch New Guinea (AP) — New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller today abandoned his fruitless personal search for his youngest son Michael in the treacherous New Guinea jungle and began the long, sad journey home.

"The chances of finding Mike are greatly diminished," Rockefeller said as he left search headquarters in Merauke, on the south coast of Dutch New Guinea.

"A miracle could happen and perhaps it will. But we must be realistic. The hope is very small," the governor said.

The governor's 23-year-old son has been missing since his native catamaran raft capsized off the swampy jungle south coast area and he tried to swim to the shore three and one-half miles away on Nov. 19. A Dutch companion stayed with the overturned raft and was rescued the next day.

Although Rockefeller left for the United States, the hunt for his son will continue. Australian helicopters planned another day of criss-crossing the 1,000-square-mile search area, and ground parties of Papuan natives and Dutch officials will comb the jungle for at least another month, checking isolated native villages in the chance that the youth lies hurt or ill in one of them.

The search for young Rockefeller was the biggest ever made in New Guinea, enlisting between 6,000 and 7,000 persons on the ground, ships of the Dutch navy at sea and Dutch, Australian and private planes.

Bowles Job: 'Neglected Countries'

New Post Deals With Africa, Asia And Latin America

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chester Bowles, President John F. Kennedy's new special adviser on African, Asian and Latin American affairs, will be dealing with countries he feels the United States has neglected.

Kennedy announced the new post for Bowles late yesterday, 24 hours after removing the controversial Democrat from the No. 2 job in the state department.

AMBASSADOR

Bowles, in his new assignment, will report directly to Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk on "long-range planning and policy in this area and the improvement of our operation and representation in the countries involved," the White House said.

He will have the title of ambassador. Press secretary Pierre Salinger refused to say whether the new job would be a promotion or demotion for Bowles. However, sources said Bowles would get a raise from his present $22,500 a year salary and an increase in his protocol rank.

White House officials sought to emphasize the positive aspects of Bowles' new job.

REPLACEMENT

Bowles was replaced as undersecretary of state by George W. Ball, the former undersecretary for economic affairs. The move, included in Sunday's job reshuffling in the White House and state department, was expected to give Rusk a firmer grip over the department and afford better coordination of foreign policy operations.

Salinger said Bowles' new job carries "particular emphasis on problems of the new and developing countries."

"He will undertake special missions for the president in these areas," Salinger said, and will be an ex-officio member of the policy planning council.

JFK DELIGHTED

"The president is delighted to have Bowles in the new job, which deals with an area Kennedy "considers second to none in importance," Salinger said.

Stories have been rife that Bowles was on the way out of the State Department because of a lack of administrative talent.

Bowles was assigned to the territory he knows and likes best.

He has maintained since joining the administration that the United States too long has turned its back on Africa, Latin America and Asia.

"Right now," Bowles said Aug. 15, "most Asians, Africans and Latin Americans are profoundly skeptical of our capacity consistently to live up to our revolutionary tradition in support of self-determination and equality for all peoples."

U.S., Britain Agree To Turn Down Russ 'New' Test Ban Plan

Soviet Bid For Uncontrolled Ban Held Loaded By West

GENEVA (UPI)—U.S. and British nuclear delegates agreed formally today to turn down Russia's new bid for an indefinite uncontrolled nuclear test ban, it was reported here.

U.S. delegation chief Arthur H. Dean and British Minister of State Joseph Godber decided at a strategy session on firm opposition to Moscow's loaded "new approach" nuclear plan, informed sources said.

Soviet delegate Semyon K. Tsarapin was scheduled to present the Kremlin's new four-point test ban proposal to the Geneva conference which resumes this afternoon after a three-month recess.

The United States and Britain agreed to reaffirm at the Geneva conference table their insistence on effective, international policing of any nuclear test ban, the sources said.

They were calling for an explanation of Russia's latest "nuclear offerings" to determine whether the Soviets intend to back completely out of their previous agreement that a test ban should be properly policed.

The two Western nuclear powers had not received any direct information from the Soviets on the so-called "new" plan 20 hours after it had been handed out by the Kremlin to neutralist nations.

"They did not even have the courtesy to hand us a copy," one Western source said.

They refuted as "ridiculous" charges by Pravda, the Communist Party organ, in Moscow today that the United States and Britain were "utilizing information from French atomic tests."

But the Moscow rumblings were considered an ill omen for any fruitful negotiations. Hopes for agreement on a test ban were slimmer than ever.

Bay Area Telephone Strike Is Settled

OAKLAND (AP) — A four-day strike of Bay Area telephone workers against the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. and the Western Electronic Co. ended early today.

Announcement of the settlement came at the end of talks that began at 5 p.m. yesterday.

Cal Lord, president of Communications Workers of America, Oakland Local 9415, emerged from the final bargaining session at 3:40 a.m. and announced:

"We have reached a settlement of the entire dispute on the condition we order the people back to work this morning."

A telephone company spokesman confirmed the statement and said that pickets were already being withdrawn.

The strike began Friday to back up demands that two women operators suspended by the telephone company be reinstated. The CWA estimated that 8,000 workers were off the job yesterday.

Lord said officials of 30 other locals in Northern California and Nevada had agreed last night to join the walkout unless the dispute was settled.

Lord said the company had agreed that there would be no disciplinary action or recrimination on the part of either PT&T or Western Electric.

"We won the point that all PT&T grievances will be settled immediately," Lord said. "The Western Electric Co. stated that it is ready to submit its suspension and other issues to immediate arbitration."

Western Electric, which supplies equipment for the telephone company, was struck after more than 400 workers were suspended for using company time to join the protest against PT&T. Western Electric workers are also members of Local 9415.

Main effect of the strike was delay in some long distance calls, the company said.

U.S. Votes For Asian-African Plan In U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The United States split with its major Western allies last night and joined 96 other U.N. members in overwhelming endorsement of an Asian-African resolution creating a 17-member committee to make recommendations for speeding an end to colonialism.

There were no opposing votes. Britain, France, Spain and South Africa abstained, Honduras was absent and Portugal—a chief target of the resolution—was listed as not participating.

The General Assembly rejected a Soviet proposal to have the assembly declare 1962 "the year of the elimination of colonialism." The vote was 19 in favor, 46 opposed and 36 abstentions.

Thus for the second straight year the assembly refused to let the Soviet Union take the leadership away from the newly independent countries of Asia and Africa in their drive against colonialism.

Last year the United States abstained on an Asian-African resolution urging a speedy end to colonialism. Some members of the U.S. delegation made it plain they personally opposed the abstention—cast on orders of the Eisenhower administration then in office.

Buy an annuity and live

Financial insecurity can lead to a barren and lonely existence for the older person. Those years after 60 can also bring the fear of out-living capital and the worry of managing the savings of a lifetime. The result—often severe stresses that can be dangerous to both physical and mental health.

People who buy annuities buy freedom from worry and fear. Our annuitants find that a regular income guaranteed for life brings peace of mind, helps make those sunset years a rich and satisfying experience. And we know that many live to a ripe old age.

Whether you are 30 and buying an annuity in advance or you are 70 and want payments to start now there's an annuity designed to bring you peace of mind. The Man from Manufacturers would be pleased to give you the complete story. Be sure to ask him about the favourable tax picture.

KENNEDY

much to gain from peace, could live in peace."

Kennedy told Adzhubei, for the Russian people to read, that if progress could be made on the problem of Germany and Berlin, "then in my opinion it would provide a most important step in improving our relations in other areas."

Kennedy said also that an agreement to ban nuclear tests would lead to other agreements on disarmament.

The interview was published just as U.S. and British negotiators met with Soviet representatives at Geneva in a resumption of nuclear test ban talks which collapsed when the Soviet Union began testing in the atmosphere last September.

Kennedy said Berlin is a critical area of great concern to both East and West.

"If we can solve the problem of Germany and Berlin, I believe we can find our relations substantially improved," Kennedy said.

Declaring that both countries had suffered heavy losses in World War II, and that he personally had lost a brother and a brother-in-law in that war, Kennedy said: "We want to prevent another war arising out of Germany."

Throughout the interview—not one in the U.S. tradition—Adzhubei persistently made little speeches to lay the Soviet line against what Kennedy said.

He contended that "social changes" which have occurred in the world have been voluntary instead of the result of instigation from Moscow.

"What we object to," Kennedy said, "is the attempt to impose communism by force, or a situation where once a people may have fallen under communism, the Communists do not give them a fair opportunity to make another choice."

Kennedy asserted that peoples of Eastern Europe — behind the Iron Curtain — lack the privilege of free choice.

Adzhubei countered by saying the Communists do not consider certain elections to be free in the Western world. He asserted that "for a long period of time you considered that Trujillo (the assassinated dictator of the Dominican Republic) was elected in a way. You have been saying the same about the regime of the Shah of Iran as well."

Then Adzhubei asked about the Soviet proposal for an agreement on what the Russians call general and complete disarmament. He asked what Kennedy's views are as to the prospects of such a pact.

Kennedy reminded him that the United States and the Soviet Union in their joint declaration last September agreed on the principle of general disarmament.

But, the president added, there is a "basic disagreement" in this area.

The Soviet Union, Kennedy reminded, would permit only inspection of weapons which are destroyed and would not allow inspection of weapons which remain.

"One side could destroy 100 bombers but still have 1,000 or 2,000 bombers left," Kennedy said.

"If you are really going to provide orderly disarmament, it seems to me you have to inspect not only those weapons which have been destroyed, but also these weapons that remain."

The Soviet Union has repeatedly branded similar Western proposals as an attempt at spying.

Kennedy, continuing his reply, said the United States cannot now withdraw its forces from Europe when the Soviets would, as their part of the arrangement, withdraw their troops only a few hundred miles.

Therefore, he added, there must be an "understanding" on the Berlin and German questions.

Kennedy said he is "hopeful" that the Soviet Union in future negotiations "will permit us to continue to exercise the rights which we now have in West Berlin."

The United States, he said, wants to stay in West Berlin only as long as the people ask for this country to stay.

Then Kennedy repeated that if the two big powers can reach an agreement on West Berlin and on "a peaceful settlement in the center of Europe" then relations between the two countries will greatly improve.

Adzhubei again spelled out the well-known Soviet position, saying his country does not intend to turn West Berlin over to East Germany and that the freedom of West Berlin could be guaranteed by adding Soviet troops to the forces of the three Western powers.

But he said it would be elementary to ask permission of the East Germans to visit West Berlin or to send goods into the city.

Then he said that according to the Potsdam agreement the entire city of Berlin was put under four-power authority and the Soviet Union violated this agreement by turning East Berlin over to East Germany.

Now the Soviet Union seeks to place Soviet troops in West Berlin, Kennnedy said, but does not suggest that troops of the other three powers be placed in East Berlin.

As to access to West Berlin, Kennedy said the statements of East German Communist Chief Walter Ulbricht, "which vary from week to week" give no assurances whatsoever for freedom of access to West Berlin.

Russians Make One Change In JFK Interview

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House said today the Soviet government made one substantive change in President John F. Kennedy's interview with Izvestia editor Alexei Adzhubei.

Press secretary Pierre Salinger said the original transcript, agreed to by Adzhubei as accurate, quoted the editor as saying the results of Premier Nikita Khrushchev's 1959 visit to the United States "were not completely satisfactory."

As the interview was published in Moscow, however, this sentence was rewritten to say:

"But the positive results of that trip were wrecked and brought to nothing by the well known actions of the then American administration."

Maid Found Hanged In Basement

Lois Mooers, a maid for Dr. and Mrs. M. F. Allende of Sausalito, was found dead this morning in the Allende basement, hanged from a rafter with a length of clothesline.

Chief Deputy Coroner William C. Bradley said Mrs. Allende, who lives at 125 Santa Rosa Avenue, found Miss Mooers was not up and about this morning. Looking for her, she found her at 8:40 a.m. hanging from a rafter in the basement workroom.

A note in Miss Mooers' white smock read: "Dear Beverly, I may be down but not out. Haven't heard the count of 10 yet. Read someplace that it doesn't matter if . . ."

Bradley said her toes were barely touching the floor. He said she apparently tied the clothesline to the rafter and placed a loop about her neck while standing on a chair, then stepped off.

The deputy coroner said he did not know the identity of "Beverly."

Miss Mooers, about 48 years old, had worked for the Allendes for three years, living in the home. She spent her off time with her mother, Mrs. Carol Mooers of 127 Spring Grove Avenue, San Rafael.

Mrs. Allende could give no reason why the maid should have taken her life.

Study Set On Future Of San Jose

San Jose school trustees last night decided to make a study of six possibilities for the future of that district and present it to the Marin County committee on School District Organization.

Unification with Novato District was defeated in last Tuesday's election.

The six possibilities listed by the board were:

1. Another unification election, with election of a board to govern the proposed new district to be held separately.
2. Annexation to the Novato District.
3. Unification of the San Jose District alone.
4. Splitting the district between the San Rafael High School and Novato Unified School Districts by boundary change.
5. Unification with the Dixie District.
6. A high school to be built by San Rafael High School District in the San Jose District.

the bar in 1903, Butler was associated first with the legal firm of Lemmon and Haskins, then established his own law office in San Rafael, where his family had moved meantime to a house on Fifth Avenue.

In 1906, his father built a home on Laurel Place where Judge Butler resided until failing health caused him to enter a rest home on Fifth Avenue two years ago. He resided at the rest home until his fatal illness.

As a member of the California National Guard, Butler spent 34 days on guard duty in San Francisco after earthquake and fire destroyed the city on April 18, 1906.

Judge Butler served for 28 years on the San Rafael Library Board, resigning in 1940.

During six years service in the National Guard, in which he rose to lieutenant, he was a member of the state rifle team that represented California at the National Rifle Shoot at Camp Perry, Ohio, in 1907. His interest in firearms was allied closely to interest in hunting and fishing, which remained his principal hobby until his last years. He was a member of Marin Lodge 1108, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, and of the Knights of Columbus and Native Sons of the Golden West.

The judge was the last of the four children of Michael and Mary A. Butler to survive. He also outlived his sister and two brothers. His closest surviving relative is a nephew, Harold E. Geary of San Rafael.

It took 15 minutes for the three policemen to overcome and handcuff Disher, Ryan and Kentfield — during much of which, they said, they were impeded by Dr. Irving Igdaloff of 45 Caledonia Street.

When the fight finally ended, they drove to Marin General Hospital, where Officer Zink was found to have a bruised elbow, and Ward, a groin injury.

Then the three civilian combatants were taken to the county jail. Kentfield and Ryan were booked on suspicion of resisting arrest, assault and battery, and disturbing the peace, and their bail was set at $1,522.50 each. Disher was also booked on suspicion of felonious assault, with bail set at $2,047.50.

The profits of avant-garde publishing being what they are, nobody had come up with the bail money by this afternoon.

Mrs. Parham contends a settlement made before her divorce from Kaiser in 1948 was the result of a deliberate plan to mislead her about the value of community property.

Actor's Food Firm Under FDA's Fire

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Mrs Mary Cummings, wife of actor Robert Cummings who is vice president of Nutri-Bio Corp., said today the firm claims no therapeutic value for its products.

A shipment of Nutri-Bio vitamin and mineral tablets and literature—including a copy of Cummings' book, "Stay Young and Vital,"—was seized yesterday in Washington by agents of the Food the Drug Administration.

The FDA charged the tablets were falsely promoted as cures for ailments ranging from heart trouble to impotency.

"This apparently was the work of an individual, independent distributor (R. B. Andrews) of the product," said Mrs. Cummings. "He apparently was not operating according to the rules of the Nutri-Bio. We make no claims of therapeutic value. If this person made any claims of therapeutic value he would be subject to termination immediately."

The actor's wife emphasized that Cummings' book was written long before his association with the firm "and has nothing to do with the company."

Cummings earlier said "The company itself makes no such claims. All it (Nutri-Bio) is is a dietary food supplement containing organic vitamins and minerals plus proteins.

"You are what you eat," Cummings has said.

Mrs. Cummings said the Beverly Hills firm is "happy to cooperate with the FDA. We do a job of educating people to get exercise, take care of themselves, eat the best foods they can obtain and to be sure to use supplements."

"We claim no therapeutic qualities for our product. You wouldn't say a carrot is therapeutic. Our product is food. We're in the food business," she said.

Larkspur Plans Unit Meeting Set Tonight

Larkspur planning commissioners will consider rezoning a strip of land 120 feet deep next to Magnolia Avenue, extending from Elite Cleaners 2,600 feet south, from commercial to multiple family residential at their meeting today at 8 p.m. in the city hall.

The planners will decide on architectural supervision for Fred Schefer to construct a new grocery store on Magnolia Avenue at Ward Street.

The commission will also consider a variance request from Robert Busse, Larkspur realty broker, for construction of a residence at Magnolia and Madrone avenues, in an area zoned commercial.

In spite of its description as "prairie wolf" the coyote is much smaller than the true wolf and more closely resembles the jackal.

Construction Contract Is Awarded By Hospital

The board of Ross General Hospital last night awarded to Herrero Brothers of San Francisco a $200,000 contract to build a psychiatric wing and remodel the east wing of its existing building, Dr. John C. Siemens, adminstrator, announced today.

The new construction, to start immediately and be finished by July 1, will provide 16 bed spaces on the second floor of the new structure and enable the psychiatric service to care for 25 patients instead of 10 as heretofore, Dr. Siemens said.

The 65,000 square feet of new construction will provide recreation space, a day room, dining room facilities, and an outdoor patio for patients.

Ground floor space will provide an occupational therapy room, a class room for nursing students and office space for outpatients.

The new psychiatric wing will be attached to the east wing.

Dr. Siemens said the expansion of the psychiatric wing, under the direction of Dr. J. M. Stubblebine, is being financed by the sale of stock to physicians, private loans from friends of the hospital, and an increase in the hospital's loan from Crocker-Anglo National Bank.

Novato Cars Are Pilfered

Apparently someone wanted to outfit his Volkswagen in tires and gasoline. Three people reported to Novato police after work yesterday that their cars had been pilfered sometime Sunday night.

Consideration of rezoning of Hanna Industrial Park from planned industrial to heavy industrial was continued last night by the Novato Planning Commission until Jan. 22.

A committee was named to work with the developers in drawing up deed restrictions to be applied to the various sections of the industrial park. Named to the committee were Commissioners Howard Schoof and Alfred Bellucci, the county planning staff, and a representative of Hanna Industrial Park developers. This industrial park lies north of Highway 37 and east of Highway 101.

A committee was also named to study Al Miller's request to build a detached building at his residence at 1250 Leafwood Drive which would require a setback variance. This committee is composed of Schoof, Lucille Cannon and Henry J. Kaehler. It is to report Dec. 11.

In other action, the commission:

1. Approved rezoning from limited agricultural to roadside business for John and Rose Rapozo for land adjacent to the Skylark Motel at 5613 Redwood Highway.
2. Approved architectural supervision for the Novato Community Methodist Church on South Novato Boulevard across from Yukon Way.
3. Denied a use permit for Jehovah's Witnesses to build a church on a 17,650-square-foot lot at 801 to 733 Lamont Avenue, contending the lot is inadequate for a church of any size.
4. Approved the tentative map of 2½-acre Canaveral Court subdivision, to be developed by Clark and Moosdorf south of Dutch Court subdivision on McClay Avenue.
5. Granted architectural supervision to Jim Keith for an industrial building on the north side of Grant Avenue 100 feet east of Reichert Avenue.
6. Continued until Jan. 8, a rezoning request of Ralph J. and Gladys A. Weseman to change from residential to general commercial, three lots on the east side of Fourth Street beginning 150 feet north of Grant Avenue.

Bus Is Missing For Several Days

It's one thing to lose a Greyhound bus and it's another not to miss it enough to report it for several days.

Elmer M. McVerry, superintendent of Western Greyhound Lines of San Francisco, yesterday reported to Novato police that someone had taken a Greyhound bus from the company's Novato parking lot on Highway 101 sometime between last Wednesday and Friday.

By the way, he added, the bus has been found—in a shallow ditch in Loma Verde.

Officer Hurt By 2 Youths Back On Job

San Rafael Police Officer John J. Kingston, who was severely hurt when two youths kicked and struck him at a San Rafael restaurant on Oct. 18, has returned to duty after a 16-day layoff.

Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa said Officer Kingston returned to his post yesterday but still requires daily therapy for back injuries.

Ronald D. Abrao, 18, of Marinwood and John D. Forwood, 19, of Novato, are serving six months in jail for the beating. They pleaded guilty to battery, resisting arrest and disturbing the peace. Judge Leonard A. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court gave the youths a scolding before sentencing them to jail and to three years' supervised probation on Nov. 17.

San Rafael police went to the Griddle Cafe on Oct. 18 on complaints that the two youths were bothering patrons. Police said the youths resisted.

Teachers Suspended In 'Triangle' Fight

Charles McCardell, 35, San Francisco naval architect, was free in $2,100 bail today after arraignment in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of felonious assault.

Victim of the assault, Denton S. Winn, 37, of Petaluma, and McCardell's estranged wife, Elaine, of Tamalpais Valley, were suspended from teaching in San Jose District schools last night, pending investigation of the affair.

Winn was released from Marin General Hospital late yesterday after 30 stitches were taken in his scalp and two stitches in his left arm to close wounds which sheriff's officers claimed were inflicted by McCardell with an 18-inch auto jack handle.

Judge Leonard A. Thomas gave McCardell until Monday to plead to the felonious assault charge, reduced from an original charge of assault with intent to commit murder.

McCardell's wife was not injured.

McCardell said he followed Winn and his estranged wife to her home at 366 Tennessee Avenue, Tamalpais Valley, early Sunday. He admitted he struck Winn three times with the jack handle, but claimed he did so in self-defense.

San Jose School District trustees last night decided to take no action on dismissal of Winn and Mrs. McCardell pending a closed session with the two teachers, which was set tentatively for Monday night. Both were suspended from teaching pending that session.

Braverman, owner of Braverman's Furniture in San Anselmo, is associated with W. P. Murray Jr., D. F. Murray, A. J. Bianchi, Forrest E. Brown, Lawrence P. McNear Sr. and Graham McPhail in the venture.

They have petitioned the California State Banking Department for permission to establish the Bank of Marin County, with initial capitalization of one million dollars.

American Deb To Wed Himalayan Prince

NEW YORK (AP) — Hope Cooks, 21-year-old debutante and Sarah Lawrence College student, will become the bride of the Maharaj Kumar, Palden Thondup Namgyal, of the Himalayan mountain principality of Sikkim.

The engagement was announced last night by Miss Cooke's uncle, former Ambassador Selden Chapin and Mrs. Chapin.

They said Miss Cooke is in Sikkim — a tiny country of 150,000 between Nepal and Bhutan just south of Communist China. She is studying the Tibeto-Burman language and the Buddhist religion.

There was no indication whether she plans to convert from her Episcopalian faith to the Buddhist religion.

The Maharaj, 38, a widower, has three children by his previous marriage. He virtually rules his small country and its nomadic population while his father, the Maharaja, occupies himself with religious affairs.

The principality, whose defense and foreign policy is governed by India, has been the target of recent Red Chinese incursions.

The romance between the debutante and the prince began three years ago when Miss Cooke was on a tour of India. Later, she went on a pack trip to Sikkim, where the two renewed their acquaintance.

The engagement will be a long one, with the wedding scheduled no earlier than January, 1963. Buddhist advisers to the ruling family consider the year 1962 unpropitious for the marriage.

Miss Cooke is a daughter of the late Mrs. Hope Noyes Cooke and John J. Cooke. A native of San Francisco, she spent most of her childhood in New York and made her debut in 1958 at the December Debutantes' Ball in Washington.

The Philippines number more than 7,000 islands.

Check Forging Suspect Is Jailed Again

San Rafael salesman Charles Ashton McDonald, 45, freed four weeks ago of a charge of check forging because of insufficient evidence, was arrested at a San Rafael hotel last night on suspicion of probation violation after another defendant changed his story.

McDonald was arrested several weeks ago after Donald William Bute, 27, unemployed laborer, accused him of implication in forging and passing nearly $1,000 in checks.

Later Bute absolved McDonald, who was released. Still later Bute recanted and said he had cleared McDonald because of a promise to bring him cigarettes in jail.

The case of Robert W. Cory, San Francisco truck driver charged with being an accomplice of a suspended San Rafael policeman facing trial on conspiracy, burglary and robbery charges, was continued yesterday to Dec. 11 for plea.

Newman is to enter a plea before Judge Sims next Monday. Robert H. Miller, 37, San Francisco refrigerator store employee, is to be arraigned the same day. Fred W. Sullins, 21, former San Francisco night club bouncer and third man accused of being an accomplice, pleaded innocent Nov. 20 and his trial is set for Jan. 3, 4 and 5.

DAILY NEWSPAPERS

Daily newspaper circulation in the United States has now reached 60,283,114*—this is the highest figure in the history of our country. The combined newspaper circulation of the U.S. and Canada has also climbed to a new record—64,397,118.*

Steady vigorous growth such as this can come from only one thing: ever-increasing public and advertiser recognition of the newspaper's pre-eminence as a medium of communication. That's why advertisers also are investing more money in newspapers than ever before—$3,702,800,000 in 1960.

It is particularly important to advertisers—both national and local—that people are reading almost a million and a half more newspapers than a year ago, more than ever before. It means that advertisers' messages now have an even greater opportunity to be seen, absorbed, and acted upon.

More readers mean more prospects reached, more customers sold, more value for the advertising dollar. For a rising sales curve, use the daily newspaper to carry your advertising to the largest constant consumer audience in North America.

New Science Program Told To Trustees

A new science program being devised for Kentfield seventh and eighth graders was described last night to the district trustees.

Anthony G. Bacich, curriculum director, said he and five staff members engaged on the project are determined to give the students more than the "traditional general science review."

Students will be exposed to an "atomic age circle" which starts with astronomy, then physics, geology, biology, chemistry, and ending in studies of space, said Bacich.

The trustees also heard a progress report on the district's first research project, the Travis rods for arithmetic instruction, developed by Wolfe Grade first grade teacher Ruth Travis.

Because of interest by elementary schools in the new mathematics approach, Supt. Howard C. Harmon forecast a need for teachers to update themselves continually to keep ahead of their pupils. The new mathematics started at the high school level and has just trickled down through the elementary grades, he said.

Hiring of Ben F. King as part- custodian at Kent School at $1.85 per hour has been approved by the board. King is a student at the San Francisco Theological seminary in San Anselmo.

$1,600 Rings, 2nd Suspect Still Missing

About $1,600 in rings and a second man accused of stealing them from a San Rafael jeweler last week were still missing today.

Arrested in San Francisco on Saturday for his alleged part in the $3,500 theft from Michael A. Gorb Credit Jewelers at 1115 Fourth Street was John Arthur Mitchell, 21, of San Francisco.

Questioned yesterday by San Rafael Police Officer Thomas C. Cheetham, who made the arrest, Mitchell said he did not know who his accomplice was. "I only know they call him 'Brothern,'" Mitchell said.

He met "Brothern," whom he described as a religious man, in a Fillmore Street pool hall in San Francisco, Mitchell said. "Brothern" suggested they "take a ride" on the day they wound up in the jewelry store, he said.

Cheetham said Mitchell looked at more than 1,000 mug photos in San Francisco yesterday without identifying the subject, who supposedly has the remaining rings.

Mitchell was to enter a plea today represented by the public defender. His bail, set yesterday at $3,150, was reduced to $1,050.

Ruling Is Due On Land Deal Dismissal Plea

Judge J. A. Branson of San Mateo County Superior Court is to rule Thursday at 9:30 a.m. on a motion for dismissal of conspiracy indictments against a Novato man and a wealthy Hillsborough landowner accused of a $19,680 land swindle.

The motions were argued yesterday by attorneys for Sergie Gregoriev of Novato, former high school teacher in San Carlos, and Thomas J. Callan Jr. of Hillsborough, whose father is a former San Mateo County supervisor and one of the peninsula's biggest landowners. Gregoriev was named in 68 counts of alleged fraud, and Callan in 62 counts.

Their attorneys contended testimony before the San Mateo County Grand Jury was insufficient to support the conspiracy charges. The prosecution countered that not one of 68 persons who supposedly deeded tax delinquent property to a corporation of which Callan is an officer could be located.

'Clearing House' Offer Made On Furnace Deals

The Associated Heating and Sheet Metal Contrators, Inc., today offered to act as a "clearing house" for all those who feel they were bilked by Holland Furnace Co.

During the past month, complaints of alleged fraud in the installation of furnaces have come from Corte Madera, San Rafael and San Anselmo.

Ray White, executive manager of the association, said a meeting has been called by his organization with the district attorney's office to discuss the situation.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales said the meeting would be held this week. "We are faced with the problem of having evidence of overcharging, and not much else," Bales said. "Most of the furnaces people have complained of have been removed, leaving no evidence of actual fraud."

"None of our members works on a door-to-door basis," White said. "We are more than willing to assist people who feel they have been treated unjustly. We don't want our industry degraded like this."

Drunken Driver Is Fined $276

Robert McAlpin Riddell, 42, of 112 Toyon Drive, Fairfax, must pay $276 fine and spend five days in jail for his second drunken driving offense in six months.

He was sentenced yesterday by Judge Leonard A. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court for driving while intoxicated along Broadway in Fairfax on Oct. 26. He had a previous conviction on March 21 this year. The judge allowed Riddell work furlough privilege during his jail sentence.

Mrs. Ruby Lee Allen, 60, of San Francisco drew $166 fine and six months probation for her first offense. She was caught on Highway 101 on Nov. 13. She was forbidden to drive for three months.

Sausalito Council Meeting Next Tuesday

Sausalito city council will hold its next regular meeting Tuesday, Dec. 5, at which time it is expected to discuss final approval of a contract for hiring planning consultant William E. Spangle Jr.

Councilmen Howard Sievers and Michael Harris, meeting as a committee, have approved changes in the form of a contract.

Marin City School Plan Review Due

Sausalito school district trustees will hold a special meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the district office to review elementary school building plans at Marin City with Bert Klahn, executive director of the Marin County Housing Authority.

A panel discussion was held last night before the trustees by first grade teachers who reviewed the first grade curriculum. They also reported recent Parent - Teacher conferences were highly successful. Teachers who took part were Mrs. Doris Fredette, chairman, and Delcha Jensen, Central School, and Mrs. Beatrice Brown, Mrs. Lucille Depoli and Mrs. Florence Rains, Manzanita School.

The board also:

1. Accepted the agreement from Parego, Harney and Teague Inc. to transfer and exchange the property rights for a perimeter road at Bayside School.

2. Reviewed the revised plans developed by landscapers Royston, Hanamoto and Mayes for Bayside Park, and requested the firm provide detailed breakdown of costs.

3. Approved extension of sick leave to January for bus driver Alfred Quartararo, who is reported to be recovering at his home in Sausalito after a recent stroke.

Council, Rail Attorney Will Meet Tomorrow

A meeting of San Rafael City Councilmen and attorney Boris H. Lakusta on continued railroad service to the city will be held tomorrow at 4:30 p.m. in the city hall.

The meeting, originally scheduled for yesterday, is to reveal Lakusta's campaign to force the railroad to restore service which was cut off when the tunnel at Puerto Suello hill caved in during a fire on July 20.

Divorce Battle Ends In Unexpected Death

Unexpected death in the courthouse yesterday afternoon ended a divorce battle for Hector A. Canessa, 49, who had operated Al's Sewing Machine Service in Novato.

Canessa, contesting a divorce action brought by his wife of less than nine months, was on the witness stand when he asked Judge Richard M. Sims Jr. for a recess so he could take a pill. As he walked out to thec orridor, he collapsed.

An autopsy was to be performed today at Harry M. Williams Mortuary. He had been suffering from a heart condition.

A will, dated Nov. 14 this year, was found in Canessa's coat pocket. It did not mention his wife, Anne M. Canessa, 41, but left everything he owned to his mother, Aida Trectim of San Francisco, to his sister Elsa, and to his daughter by a previous marriage.

The will listed his property as including a home at 152 Blackstone Drive, Marinwood, three cars, and furniture.

The couple married last March 3 and separated on Oct. 3. Mrs. Canessa filed for divorce on Oct. 3, charging cruelty.

He cross-filed for divorce last Wednesday, charging her with cruelty.

Mrs. Canessa's divorce complaint said that he also had cash in excess of $10,000.

Crab Fishermen Now Promised 25 Cents A Pound

This price was originally asked by the Crab Boat Owners Assn. two weeks ago, at which time wholesalers agreed to raise the price from 16 to 20 cents. The 25-cent price is said to be the highest in recent years.

Crab man Cass Gidley of Sausalito said today that fishermen have been getting "less and less crabs since the season started" and that boats have left and are leaving for the north.

Eichler Zone Petition Going Before Planners

A public hearing on a petition by Eichler Homes, Inc., to rezone 16 acres of land northwest of Marinwood on Lucas Valley Road from agricultural to planned community zoning will be heard by the Marin County Planning Commission on Dec. 4.

The parcel adjoins 89 acres adjacent to the County Hospital and Farm, also owned by Eichler, which was recently designated as a planned community area. The hearing is item 18 on the commission's agenda. The meeting at 1711 Grand Avenue opens at 9 a.m.

A public hearing on a proposal by Freda Hoffman to rezone a 20,000-square-foot lot on Knoll Road opposite Knoll Lane south of Tiburon Boulevard will be heard as item No. 12 on the agenda. The owner seeks to rezone the parcel from suburban agricultural to multiple residential, with first multiple combined regulations. The regulations limit construction to one unit per 1,500 square feet.

The planners will hold a public hearing on an amendment to the Tiburon Peninsula Master Plan which would precisely locate a proposed ridge route over the Tiburon Peninsula between the proposed high school site and the subdivision of Marinero Residence No. 2. The master plan change will be heard first on the agenda.

Report On Traffic Due In Novato

The traffic committee will make recommendations for traffic changes to the Novato City Council at its meeting at 8 p.m. today in the community clubhouse.

The council will convene in the temporary city hall, then adjourn to its new quarters in the clubhouse.

The traffic committee will recommend that Sunset Parkway east of South Novato Boulevard be made a through street; that stop signs be placed on Villa Place at Virginia Avenue and on Wilson Avenue at Center Road, and that "yield" signs be placed at Ferris Drive and Feliz Road.

The council will be asked to hire a part-time secretary for the newly created parks and recreation advisory commission, and to schedule only one council meeting in December.

He's Good Skater At Age Of 85

HANCOCK, Wis. (AP)—Charles W. Christianson got a lifetime pass to Lo Nor Roller Rink on his last birthday—when he turned 85.

The gift is more generous than it might appear to be. Christianson, a native of Copenhagen, Denmark, skates at the rink nearly every evening and is usually the first to arrive and the last to leave.

Christianson almost never misses a night in the winter and misses very few in the summer, despite his cultivation of a half-acre cucumber patch. He says, "Picking cucumbers all day and then roller skating at night equalizes me. I'm not tired after skating. I usually go home and read for two or three hours."

Strep Infections Rise In County

Thirty-nine new "strep" cases were reported during the week, said Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer.

San Rafael had 14 of the cases. Others were scattered throughout the county, with only Sausalito, Marin City and Corte Madera reporting none.

Measles was down to four cases and mumps to three cases last week. Also reported were three cases of gonorrhea and one of infectious hepatitis.

Pharmacist Guilty Of False Report

A former Marin County druggist, now a pharmacy owner in Seaside, has been found guilty of filing a false narcotics report to police.

Richard Hopelain, who lived until 1958 at 1415 Butterfield Road in Sleepy Hollow and owned a drug store in San Francisco, was found guilty on Nov. 20 with falsely reporting that all narcotics in his drug store had been stolen in a recent burglary.

Hopelain admitted, police said, to falsifying the report to cover the fact that 660 codein tablets were missing at the time of the burglary. He said he made the report to cover for a clerk, but realized he was "a fool" to do so.

The clerk, Mrs. Effie Warmuth of Carmel, said she had no knowledge of the missing narcotics. The district attorney's office did not charge her and said it had insufficient evidence to charge Hopelain with conspiracy, a felony.

Hopelain, who now lives in Carmel and is president of the Seaside Chamber of Commerce, was ordered to appear for a probation hearing on Dec. 7.

THERE'S A LIMIT

Cocktail Should Be Punctuation

But in spelling your day, it should be only a punctuation mark before dinner.

The Denver psychiatrist suggested limiting it to two to three cocktails after the day's work, "to put in a punctuation mark before dinner, to relax and unwind."

He frowned on martinis at lunch "to get through the day," and on drinking after dinner to lubricate conversation or induce sleep; in short, using alcohol as a drug.

This contraption would limit the drinker to one swallow each 15 minutes.

He and other speakers examined medical aspects of various American habits.

Looking at the coffee habit, D. E. Chester Ridgway of Cody, Wyo., said Americans drink so much of it—100 billion cups a year, he said—that it's bound to produce some illness, in nervousness, irritability, insomnia, stomach upsets, speedier heart rate.

Looking at pets in the home, Dr. Francis T. Candlin, Denver veterinarian, said dogs and cats often reflect their owners' behavior, including anxieties. He suggested cooperation between physicians and veterinarians could give some insights into what ails humans, or their pets.

As for sex, no "sound scientific conclusions" can yet be drawn from various studies, said Dr. Bradford Murphey of Denver.

Dr. Stanfield told reporters he takes a pre-dinner cocktail but "drinking in the daytime is unhealthy."

Mankind, he said in his speech, long ago adopted the "lubricant of social drinking—for good or ill. Its remarkable endurance and progression throughout history appears to testify to some function well enough served to justify its persistence."

With drinking, "the jokes seem funnier, the conversation wittier. The painful realities remote. Man, for a time, escapes the regimentation imposed by reason and restraint through the glass-enclosed tranquilizer," Dr. Stanfield said.

Improvements Granted In Corte Madera

Two of five requests for town "improvements" contained in a petition of 68 persons from the Corte Madera business district were granted last night by the Corte Madera Town Council. Three of the requests were turned down.

The town agreed to ask Northwestern Pacific Railroad to clear weeds from its property which runs through the business district, and consented to install a 6,000-lumen street light at Redwood and Palm avenues.

Rejected by the council were requests to remove trash along Hart Street, which is not in the town street system; to remove a planting area at Tamalpais Drive and Redwood Avenue and substitute a paved island, and to remove the "do not enter" sign at the entrance to a short, un-named street in front of Holy Innocents Episcopal Church.

Supervisors Continue Building Code Study

Protest by ranchers against provisions of a proposed Marin County building ordinance and housing code caused the board of supervisors to continue consideration until 2 p.m. Feb. 5 in order to allow further study.

Donald J. McIsaac of Olema, president of the Marin County Farm Bureau, told the board that "it appears we are losing many exemptions of the past" and that answers to this are wanted.

Four of his directors were present in support: former Supervisor James A. Marshall, Dave Burbank, Eugene Brown and George Perry.

"You're taking some parts from the state code," said Burbank, "and even your county counsel doesn't know all about it."

County Building Inspector Otto Meyer said enactment of a new state housing law provided a basic problem.

It provides, he said, that certain building code standards will be applied to all residential structures in all parts of the state "so those exempted because of agricultural use now come under the state housing law. If we were to exempt, you would have to get a state building permit, fees for which are 50 per cent over ours, and you'd have to get it from our office."

On the other hand, Meyer added, the proposed code contains some local provisions relaxing certain requirements. Overall it will be less cumbersome and costly to agriculture to delete all reference to agricultural exemption for homes, he said.

Burbank said "there's lots of opposition" to the new state law and it may be repealed at the next legislative session. Queried by Supervisor William Gnoss, Burbank said the California Farm Bureau Federation has opposed the law.

The supervisors also:

1. Heard the San Anselmo School District is "out of money" and advanced a $20,000 tide-over loan.

2. Sent to Army Engineers a Marin Rod and Gun Club recommendation of public access to levies which otherwise might make Corte Madera Creek inaccessable for fishing.

3. Declared surplus, for sale as waste, several tons of computer machine cards from the data processing bureau.

4. On request of Tiburon property owner Samuel R. Neider, ordered county counsel to prepare documents for relocation of Belvedere Drive to avoid going through a new shopping center near Highway 101.

5. Received a letter of thanks from the Stinson Beach Progressive Club concerning the new Stinson Beach flood control zone, and sent a copy to Public Works Director Marvin W. Brigham as the one responsible.

Fairfax Has Problems —This Time Drainage

If it isn't road problems in Fairfax, it's drainage problems.

Last night it was drainage, as City Atty. Wallace S. Myers recommended to the city council a compromise in a three-year-old dispute with Mrs. Elsie L. Frustuck of 300 Bolinas Road, who won a $5,000 judgment against the city in a suit over a culvert.

In 1958, the city replaced an 18-inch culvert across Sir Francis Drake Boulevard with a 24-inch line. Mrs. Frustuck contended this poured more water on property she owns near St. Rita's Church and caused destruction.

Myers recommended the city extend the drainage line to carry the water beyond Mrs. Frustuck's property. He suggested this might prove an acceptable compromise. He reported he had appealed the verdict but continued litigation would be more costly than extending the drainage line.

The council directed City Engineer Albert H. Seimer and Street Supt. Charles M. Thornton to investigate costs and report back Dec. 16.

In other actions last night the Fairfax City Council:

1. Delayed granting Barry W. Rogers a use permit to construct two homes on two of four lots on Toyon Drive that he bought from E. H. Rushton of Woodacre until it was determined whether the property had been segregated from other Rushton property since the city zoning ordinance was passed in 1956. Rogers had submitted no maps. The council was advised by Myers that if the property had been segregated ever since 1956, Rogers must submit the detailed maps, indicating improvements and his plans; otherwise Rushton must submit the maps showing sewage, drainage, etc., he said.

2. Instructed Myers to prepare a resolution to accept deed of cul de sac at end of San Gabriel Drive from Thomas Hotchkins.

3. Adopted ordinance amending sales and use tax.

4. Passed resolution blanketing 18 auxiliary policemen and two auxiliary policewomen under workman's insurance law.

5. Passed resolution to install stop sign at intersection of Tamalpais and Sequoia.

6. Voted to advertise examinations to be held Jan. 4 for street laborer; applicants to file by Dec. 28; starting pay $425 a month.

7. Decided to give further consideration Dec. 11 to conversion of Bothin Circle into a park.

NWP To Get A Hearing In Fairfax

The Fairfax City Council decided last night to hear a Northwestern Pacific Railroad representative at its meeting of Dec. 11 as to why the railroad seeks to abandon service through San Rafael.

The railroad's line through San Rafael has been closed since collapse of the Puerto Suello Hill tunnel in a fire last July 20. The railroad has petitioned the Interstate Commerce Commission to abandon the section.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors and city councils of San Rafael, Mill Valley and Corte Madera have protested the petition. Last night the Fairfax council agreed to a request by the railroad to hear an NWP representative describe the railroad's position in a "10-minute talk."

At its Nov. 13 meeting the Fairfax council delayed action on a request by the City of San Rafael to oppose the railroad's application.

Widening Of Gate Bridge Eliminates Parking Area

The three-quarter-million-dollar job of flaring the Marin end of the Golden Gate Bridge is underway.

A huge trailer of the Massman Construction Co., standing just to the west of the end of the bridge, is the first sign of an eight-month construction job which will widen the Marin end of the bridge viaduct by 20 feet, easing the curve onto the bridge itself and making the transition to the narrower bridge lanes safer.

But the immediate negative effect of the project is the elimination of what little parking area there is on the west side of the bridge.

As things are now, a motorist heading for San Francisco can drive off the highway onto a dirt parking lot, walk over to the Vista Point on a walkway below the bridge, return, get in his car and continue to the city.

We have long objected to this arrangement because a Marin resident who wanted to show a friend the view from Vista Point would have to drive across the bridge, make a U-turn and drive back, paying two tolls.

Accordingly, the State Division of Highways came up with a proposed $40,000 paved parking lot on the west side, with access roads in both directions, so a Marinite could drive down, park, turn around and go home without crossing the bridge or paying any toll.

This could be constructed in conjunction with the current bridge and highway widening.

The City of Sausalito had proposed that cars should be able to reach the Vista Point from Marin without crossing the bridge. The highway engineers worked out a one-way road system which makes this possible. But the cost is $100,000 more than the west-side parking lot. The state says it will not spend that extra $100,000.

In addition, the twisting route which such a road must take would practically eliminate its usefulness to cars wanting to stop and then proceed to San Francisco. Someone wanting to do this must drive nearly two miles — if he knows where to drive—to get across the highway from the west side to the east side and back again.

Because of this, and because we don't see any governmental agency—not the state—not the City of Sausalito—not the County of Marin—and most especially, not the Golden Gate Bridge board—ponying up that extra $100,000, we think Sausalito should reconsider its stand and encourage the highway people to go ahead with the west-side parking area.

We can't keep the existing condition. We are losing the existing parking area starting right now. Nothing will replace it. The only practical thing we see to do right now is for the state to build the west-side parking area. If we can find the $100,000 and build the road to Vista Point later, so much the better.

We urge the State Division of Highways to go ahead with planning such an improvement.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

FACES DEATH WITH COURAGE

After staring down the barrels of 2 loaded pistols for 90 minutes, a tough-minded detective finally disarmed an overwrought teenager.

The detective, a 32-year-old war veteran, came upon the 14-year-older after the boy had shot and killed his own father. To calm the nervous youth, the lawman tossed his own gun on a nearby sofa.

Then he settled down to talk, a difficult task for someone on the receiving end of two lethal weapons. At one point the young man began to cry, but recovered before he would surrender.

Clear thinking in a tight spot requires long training and rigid self-discipline. Ask the Lord to strengthen your resolve to react bravely to difficult situations.

And show your sincerity by keeping your wayward desires under the direction of your mind and will.

Bob Hope's Formula For Success: Keep Moving, Do Different Things

NEW YORK (AP)—What performer has entertained more people than any other man in history?

The nod might well go to Bob Hope, who didn't invent vaudeville, and stage, movies, radio or television—but became a top star in all those fields.

In the last quarter century Hope figures he made 53 movies and they brought in some 250 million dollars.

"All but one or two got into the profit picture," he remarked.

That feat in itself is enough to win Bob a golden name forever in Hollywood annals—if not an Academy Award.

At, 58, Hope's hair is thinning a bit, but he still has the fastest quip in show business. He said during a stopover here the other day that he's trying to slow down, as his doctors suggested some years ago.

The trouble is—he doesn't know how to.

"I keep a schedule on my washstand, a schedule on my desk, and a schedule in my car," he said.

"I have to lead a scheduled life. There isn't any other way."

"Keep moving. Never let yourself get trapped. Try doing different things so you never feel stale," he says.

THE PROBLEM of boredom that afflicts some stars who find fame chafing and wearying never has upset Hope. After more than 40 years in show business he is still in love with an audience—any audience.

"I don't have time to think about boredom," he said. "If I had my life to live over again, I couldn't—I wouldn't be able to find the time.

YOU GET BORED only when you bore the audience—or when you get stuck doing the same thing. I try to avoid that.

No Survival In Nuclear War?

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

As one who has long enjoyed and respected the Independent-Journal, I am dismayed by the "You Can Survive" series currently appearing on page 1 of your paper. Since when does the I-J print opinion--controversial and potentially dangerous opinion — in this prominent spot? To the extent that you succeed in convincing people that we can survive a nuclear war, you are doing us the greatest possible disservice.

A few of us may survive the initial horror, but opinion just as "scientific" as Prof. Libby's leads me to believe that most of us won't and the rest will wish they hadn't. Already the jungle aspect appears when Riverside and Nevada citizens talk of organizing to protect themselves with guns from fellow-citizen refugees. And people are asking their churches and their government if it will be all right to shoot neighbors trying to enter their shelters! Would you really like to survive?

How much better if you addressed your efforts to sincerely working for a workable world government, knowing that we will have to give up much that we are accustomed to. And for disarmament, knowing that nuclear war is really like rabies. The only defense is prevention. Once the patient has it, there is no recovery.

Your cartoon of Nov. 15 (only a little less vicious than your hate-mongering anti-Khrushchev depictions) pictures Nehru as an ethereal dreamer. I wonder who is really unrealistic? Nehru or the comfortable, complacent American who stubbornly refuses to face the fact that the day when he can have it all his own way has passed?

Is It Necessary To Kill The Rare?

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Mrs. Bertram Koel hopes that her committee will secure peaceful and sincere thinking solutions to the nuclear madness that envelops us. Laurens van der Post, brilliant South African writer lecturing here at the moment, prays that we humans who are white will recognize the black soul within ourselves" and thus destroy the roots of racial prejudice.

Both persons are known to me, and I hold them in affection, as they each are pursuing the rational mind of mankind for a greater purpose than man is doing for himself alone, and I hope that they succeed and lead him to this goal.

In humble imitation of their nobler purpose I seek only the minds of the lesser, ignobler man, the man of bloodlust, who goes under the very hypocritical euphemism of "sportsman" or "happy hunter," and it is he whom I wish to lead to either rapid blindness or self destruction, whichever is more deserving.

In this evening's paper (11/21) you have two pictures of some of these people who forage in the dim prehistoric urges of predatory man, which instinct is no longer a valid necessity except as a sort of fertility rite indulged in with the hope of proving inadequate manhood by rebuilding the tattered image with status symbols of the kill!! I quote the relative excerpts from the captions as a point. The italics or capitals are mine.

Picture No. 2. Page 9. "Marin Hairdresser Gets Honker." " . . . exhibits a rare and beautiful Canadian Honker Goose he bagged."

If these persons were to tell me that it was the crisp, muted crunch of dewed grass in the golden warming sunrise; or the taste of dawn's early lights; or the tangy bite of the unburnt air in the misty preludes to day's birth; or the rough sanding, searing surge of thrusting blood in cold veins drumming urgently at the doors of excitement; if these brought them their happiness, I would agree.

If they tell me that this is why they go hunting, then I will say, why in the devil don't they take a camera instead?

But, if this is why these station-wagoned, Jeeped, Coleman-stoved, beer frozen, Acrylon bagged, lensed rifled so-called sportsmen do go hunting, I am left confused. Is it necessary to kill rare and beautiful things to feel the dusted kiss and caress of Nature as she tucks Earth to bed; or experience the hot and tempered stroke of the angered sun as he sweeps midday past; or lie softly, sensually bathed in the pastel silvered embrace of the moody moon; or hear the hiss of the sonnets of seduction as the breezes tumble the leaves and grasses about our dreary heads? Why?? Why kill??

Cannot the camera shoot the "kill" instead, or the camera fulfill the satiation of the stalk, or the camera stir the faeces as a mountain lion focuses closely, or the camera embrace the beauty and enrich the soul as day dreams her hours? Can only a gun that brings pounding agony or squirted blood, or numbing torture, or the jerk of unwelcome death in twisted flayed ballet, can only these pains satisfy those lustful people?

Perhaps I should enjoin Mrs. Koel or Mr. van der Post to desist their saviour aims so that we may, in our foolishness, perish. Surely then the animals would survive better than we, and the high ideals on which man has smugly rested his laurels will be more befitting on the minute and energetic minds of ants, whom, certainly, will succeed us as rulers, but with, I am certain, greater compassion toward animals than that which our "sportsman" displays.

Mr. Binswanger, with eight hungry mouths to feed, braced his employer for a substantial raise. "For six years," he wailed, "I haven't been able even to buy one suit of decent clothes for myself. Lord, how the threads are unraveling in this worn-out coat I'm wearing!"

"OK," conceded the boss wearily. "You can have a $10 raise. But please, I beg you, don't show me your stringy coat any more. This organization can't afford any fringe benefits!"

Nearly 80 Hours Of Preparation Goes Into Novato Council Agenda

Mayor Wayne Womack bangs his gavel down, calling the Novato City Council meeting to order. The council approves the agenda which has an average of 25 items on it.

There may or may not be any additions to the agenda. But it is approved as the work set before the council for the next three hours.

Few people realize the hours of work that go into making up the agenda so that the meeting can run smoothly. It starts the morning after the previous council meeting. Deputy City Clerk Kathleen Simkins has spent about eight hours typing up the minutes of the meeting the night before. Of course, these must be approved by the council.

ON WEDNESDAY prior to the council meeting, J. Julien Baget, city administrator, makes the first rough draft of an agenda for the meeting. This includes all the items that have come up before the city planning commission two weeks before and items pertinent to running each department.

The public works department, city administrator, city attorney and council each have a set of items on the agenda. These are the unfinished and new business that must go on the agenda.

FINAL DEADLINE for items to appear on the printed agenda is 10 a.m. Friday before the council meets on Tuesday. That does not mean that no later business can be added to the agenda after that. It means that the secretarial work necessary to preparation for the meeting will not be included.

Last minute items can be added by the council before it approves the agenda at the first of each meeting. Right after that, citizens can address the council on any matter that is not on the agenda. This assures everyone of having a chance to get his business before the city council.

THE TEMPO of work in the City Hall increases on Friday, reaching its climax during the afternoon.

At least eight copies are made of all letters, ordinances, resolutions, planning commission recommendations and staff reports, and department head recommendations.

These are made into six folders so that the five councilmen and city attorney can have them on Friday afternoon. Usually these folders are 60 to 80 pages long, weighing about one and one-half pounds.

This gives the councilmen the weekend to study all the reports, letters, warrants that must be paid and everything that will come up at the city council meeting. In short, it gives them time to study what decisions must be made by them before the council meeting.

ONE THING Novato City government does for reporters certainly is appreciated. It is furnishing them with the copies of the reports and letters. This assures the reporter of having the facts and figures in front of him instead of trying to take notes as fast as people talk.

By the end of Friday, when the packets are delivered to the councilmen, somewhere between 60 and 80 hours of labor have gone into preparing the agenda for the meeting.

Finland Is Only Start Of Soviet Plan To Engulf All Scandinavia

WASHINGTON — When Stalin took over most of Eastern Europe right after the war, his apologists — many of them in the West — were saying: "But it's only reasonable that Russia would want to have friendly and peaceful neighbors on its frontier."

The most friendly, peaceful, genuinely neutral, and respectful neighbor which the Soviet Union has on its frontiers today is not any of the Communist puppet-satellites. It is non-Communist, independent Finland.

And now Nikita Khrushchev is scowling at Helsinki. He has summoned Finnish President Urho K. Kekkonen to a conference in Siberia and is saying that it is time to talk over some new military arrangements.

EXPERIENCE WARNS us —and the Finns—that what Mr. K says he wants is only a small part of what he really wants.

He says he wants Finland's military help because he is afraid Germany is going to start a war.

It just wants Finland.

And the "anti-Stalin" Khrushchev is setting about to take over Finland by exactly the same means Stalin used to take over three other inoffensive neighbors — Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania.

IT LOOKS LIKE the same thing for Finland—if Khrushchev can work it.

This would mean that Russia would have a string of military bases from the shores of the Baltic from Leningrad to the borders of Western Europe.

But the Khrushchev objective doesn't even end here. At the moment the western shore of the Baltic is held by the well-armed, but sincerely neutral, Sweden and the shores of the outlets into the Kattegat and the North Sea are held by Denmark and Norway.

AND SO, THEY are anxiously awaiting Khrushchev's next "proposal" — namely, that if Sweden will embrace a "true" (that is, pro-Soviet) neutrality, and if Norway and Denmark will break with NATO and give up all collective defense, nothing will happen to Finland!

I hope that Khrushchev is making a miscalculation. It is entirely possible that his threats will produce the opposite of the effect he wants. Norway's and Denmark's ties with the West may become stronger. Sweden may be driven into joining NATO.

Corte Madera Agrees To Building Compromise

Corte Madera town councilmen and spokesmen for the building industry last night agreed on a compromise amendment to the uniform building code.

Under the amendment, apartment buildings with more than 10 units must have "two means of egress . . . by which the ground can be safely reached." The means of egress, the councilmen agreed, may be a window, door, hallway or other method of reaching the outside of the building.

As originally proposed by Building Inspector William McBride, the amendment would have called for a fire escape or similar exit, from each apartment.

Not covered by the code as to fire escapes are apartment buildings containing less than 10 units.

Opposing the principle of fire escapes for each apartment were several contractors, with Carl Brown of the Associated Home Builders as spokesman. Their opposition was based on expense, lack of need, and design problems.

Approved without discussion were amendments to the code which call for (1) one-hour fire resistant walls and ceilings that separate different tenants in apartments, and (2) a minimum clearance of 18 inches under girders for warm air heating systems installed between a floor and the ground.

The council "approved the concept" of a new subdivision to be known as Sunnyside Terrace, adjoining the town park and bounded by Walnut, Pixley and Redwood Avenues.

The 18-lot subdivision would include a corner of the town park which would be sold to the developers by the city with the money going toward the city's share in street improvements.

In other action last night, the council:

1. Opposed a proposed amendment by the City of Larkspur to a tentative agreement with the county by which the county would assist in financing thoroughfares through cities. The Larkspur amendment would require that the county be required to use one-half its gasoline tax funds for city improvement. Under the present draft of the agreement, the county would not be bound to any specific amount of money.
2. Agreed to post a 25-mile-an-hour speed limit along Tamalpais Drive from the Highway 101 cloverleaf into the business district.
3. Set for Dec. 18 at 7:30 p.m. a public hearing on an amendment to the zoning ordinance which would require public hearings on matters not now required to go to hearings.
4. Set for Dec. 18 at 8 p.m. a public hearing on an appeal by Western Gas and Oil Assn. for larger signs on service stations. The request by the association had been turned down by the planning commission.
5. Approved preliminary design of street improvements for Baltimore, Redwood and Serra Avenues. Civil Engineer Carlos Gonzales of San Rafael was instructed to draw up improvement plans so costs could be determined.

Hospital Officers All Re-Elected

They are Dan E. Andersen, president; Edward P. Morphy, vice president; Mrs. Leiton J. Elder, secretary, and Paul R. Leahy, treasurer.

Mrs. Elder has been secretary since the board was formed in January 1958 at the time the hospitalw as re-organized on a non-profit basis.

Civic Center Blind Shop Is On Again

This was in response to a recent suggestion by the Marin County Employees Assn. that it would undertake the operation because nobody seemed prepared.

Bruce said the board in April 1959 expressed intention to proceed with operation by the blind, but no formal agreement was made. A draft now has been submitted by the State Bureau of Vocational Rehibilitation, he reported.

The agreement does not cover details of management, insurance and similar point. Bruce suggested the matter be referred to county counsel, auditor-controller and himself for review. This would give the employees association a chance to bid too.

Supervisor William Gnoss said this sounded reasonable and gained unanimous support of a resolution embodying Bruce's recommendation.

Corte Madera Looks For Civil Defense Director

Wanted: One man, preferably retired and filled with sufficient public spirit to work without pay, to serve as defense director for the Town of Corte Madera.

A knowledge of military and defense matters would help in his work, which would entail assembling all information available on bomb shelters, fallout, radiation, survival and related matters for eventual dissemination to the public.

The council agreed last night, after more than an hour of discussion on civil defense, to seek such a man through service clubs, housing organizations, churches, clubs and individual suggestions. He will presumably be selected at the meeting of Dec. 18.

"I hope this doesn't give the impression that we are endorsing a plan of fallout shelters such as is being done in Livermore," said Councilman Raymond L. DeYoung. "We are just investigating the possibilities."

The decision to "hire" a defense director came from a work session, called for by Councilman Bud Cole last month, to determine the town's position on civil defense.

"We first have to decide whether the town wants to do anything," Cole said.

Cole, who spent most of the session reading from various publications on fallout and defense, said there was a "storehouse of information" available.

"I have been exposed to so many articles by 'experts' that I don't know where I'm going," commented Councilman Edward W. Colthurst.

"If each little town in the state makes their own plans, the result will be considerable confusion," said Raymond Brandt, president of the Mariner Cove Improvement Assn. "Personally, I think the town should keep in touch with the county in regard to community plans."

Norman Eaton, president of the Marina Village Improvement Assn., said his group was workingf out its own plan. "Even a bad plan is better than none at all," Eaton said.

Questioned as to what facilities in the town would be suitable for conversion to community shelters, Town Manager Arthur H. Brandow said: "The answer is that we have no adequate building."

Presumably, on Dec. 18, the new defense director will take it from there.

Mrs. Roosevelt Hits Rockefeller, Kennedy On CD

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt yesterday criticized both the Kennedy administration and Rockefeller plans on civil defense.

The former first lady told a press conference that civil defense and civil protection should not be "a haphazard or chance commercial enterprise."

"The administration has not yet given us a lead on what it wants done," she said.

Point Reyes Developer Hits Back At Critics

A Point Reyes developer hit back at critics yesterday. As result, Marin County supervisors asked county counsel to check their powers to deny building permits and their potential liability if they do so unlawfully.

Benjamin P. Bonelli, an attorney, appeared before the board because he'd read in the Independent-Journal of two communications it was to consider.

In one, the Homestead Valley Improvement Club requested the board to grant no more building permits in the Point Reyes area until final decision has been made about a possible national seashore. In another, the Marin Federation of Improvement Clubs protested "substandard subdivisions" on Point Reyes.

"I don't think you can do it," said Bonelli with reference to possible shutdown on permits. Claiming he represents "directly or indirectly some 110 property owners on the Point Reyes Peninsula," he asked rejection of any such request as attempting confiscation of their holdings.

Bonelli cited constitutional amendments on due process of law and Supreme Court interpretations "protecting from confiscation virtually every conceivable interest in real property capable of ownership."

"No schoolboy with an eighth grade knowledge of the Constitution or the slightest devotion to its principles," said Bonelli, "would have the effrontery to make such a request to this board. Only a ruthless, arrogant, avaricious minority group dedicated to the disruption of orderly county government could do it."

Supervisor George Ludy of Inverness obtained unanimous support for a motion directing the county counsel to clear up the legal rights of the board.

IN HALL OF FAME—Larry (Tex) Hamilton, left, and Pete Hindley, Tamalpais High School football stars, have been named as the Marin County representatives for National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame honors for 1961. Tam Stars Win Hall Of Fame Honor

Two Tamalpais High School football players have been named from Marin County to the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame.

Quarterback Larry (Tex) Hamilton and center Pete Hindley were selected by the Marin committee on the basis of the athletes' scholastic, leadership and football ability, Harold Allison, committee chairman and principal of Sir Francis Drake High School, announced today.

The pair were to have their pictures taken with San Francisco's Mayor George Christopher today and will be feted along with athletes from other Bay Area counties at a banquet Friday night at the Marine Memorial building in San Francisco.

The two were chosen from nominations from Redwood, San Rafael, Sir Francis Drake, Marin Catholic, Novato, and the San Rafael Military Academy. The three areas upon which the awards were made were "counted equally," explained chairman Allison. Others on the selection committee in this county were Jim Gilmartin, sports editor of the Independent-Journal; Dick Read, head football coach at the College of Marin; and James Hanretty, football coach and athletic director of Tamalpais High.

Hamilton, 17, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack C. Hamilton of 305 Ross Drive, Mill Valley. The five-foot seven-inch 145-pound senior lettered in freshman football, and for three years was first string on the varsity grid team. He has maintained a 3.59 grade point average (a scale in which 4. equals a straight "A") throughout his high school career and is a member of the California Scholarship Assn. This year Tex is expected to be given a lifetime membership in the organization. At Tam, Hamilton also belongs to the "T" Honor Society, plays Jayvee baseball, was selected as the school's Boys State representative for Boys State Government in Sacramento last summer, is presently chief of Self Government (an appointed student government office) and was president of his junior class.

Hindley is also a member of and is expected to be given a lifetime membership in the CSA. The 17-year-old Tam student body president is the son of Mrs. Dorothy Hindley of 48 Carmelita Avenue, Mill Valley.

A senior, he has maintained a 3.84 grade average in high school, is an officer in the T Honor Society, a semi-finalist in the National Merit Scholarship program, was president of his sophomore class, former president of the letterman's club, and played Jayvee baseball.

The six-foot two-inch, 180-pound athlete has been first string varsity center for two years and also lettered as a freshman play and as a Jayvee gridder when he was a sophomore.

Marin High School Basketball Squads Open Play This Week

By PAUL MILLER

The first 1961-62 basketball games for Marin County Athletic League teams are this week.

In addition to fresh and green varsity players, there are two new head coaches in the league this season.

At San Rafael High Mike Diaz, a social science teacher, will take over where Bob Muster, now the Bulldogs' head football coach, left off. And in a unique position at Novato will be O. T. McAtee, recently coach and teacher at Davidson Junior High School in San Rafael for two years. McAtee's position is new mentor of a team which has yet to win a league game.

This week's pre-league high school games are as follows:

Today, Drake played Balboa High in San Francisco; Tam, Lowell High of San Francisco at home, and Tomales at Novato. Tomorrow, San Rafael faces San Francisco Polytechnic at home, 4 p.m.; and Redwood, Montgomery High 3:30 p.m., at Santa Rosa. Friday, Marin Catholic plays the San Rafael Military Academy at the academy at 3:30 p.m. Dec. 5, Terra Linda opens against Del Valle at home, 4 p.m.

Coach Dick Hart of the Redwood Giants, defending MCAL champions, might as well be a brand new coach in Larkspur. At last year's June graduation he lost his first two teams. And its not looking any brighter at Giantsville here at the outset of the season. Every player out for the team has missed at least two days of eight days of practice and Hart himself three days with the flu.

The mentor said he has not even decided on a tentative first string yet. "Tomorrow's game is going to be a real experiment."

Hart has three non-lettering seniors returning, all front linemen: Pete Coy, Bill Epidendio and Don Rogers. Among some of the other prospects for the Giant squad which will have to try and fill some big footsteps including a trip to the Tournament of Champions, are Doug Detrick, Tod Lindner, Jud Longaker, Rick Skinner, Grant Stephenson, Kit Bricca and tennis star Reed Witt. All these players are former junior varsity or "B" team hoopsters. And added prospect is Jay Johnson, a transfer from Sacramento High School.

Coach Eddie Chavez' Indians ended the season as runner-ups in last season's MCAL race with a healthy 7-3, won-loss record. But coach Chavez this year faces about the same problem as Hart over at Giantsville: no returning varsity lettermen.

"We have a fair group of 'B' kids," said Chavez. But in a scrimmage last week they looked "lousy and they knew it," said the mentor.

Scheduled starting players for today's game were center Pepe Bardea (6-5), the team's only senior, the rest are juniors and a couple of sophs on the injury list; guards Warren Domino, football halfback "who is really hustling" in practice, and Bill Gillingham; forwards Billy Nelson and Jim Durbin, a junior varsity and latter varsity end this football season. Both these forwards have had sophomore team hoop experience.

Chavez also pointed up All-MCAL football end Art Foster as a player that may see a lot of hoop action this season ". . . it's just a matter of time." Foster will be a pivot man as is Rich Abbott. The two sophomores on the team, but out of action temporarily, are L. S. Williams and Pat Smith.

Bulldog coach Diaz, while for the past two years coaching junior varsity at Fairfield High School, has had a year of varsity experience at St. Vincent's High in San Francisco. The University of California, Berkeley, graduate will take over a reasonably strong squad which Muster last year placed in third spot in the MCAL's final standings with a 6-4 record. Diaz has nine lettermen back this season and four varsity football players who are already in condition.

Diaz said his tentative first string includes grid quarterback Jack Sovereign and 6-3 sophomore Rod Monti at forwards. Center spot will either go to gridder Rich Robertson (6-4) or Tony Mekisich (6-3) Both are seniors. Guard slots will be divided to either Bruce McPhail, an offensive end in the fall, Bret Tavini or former halfback Jack Haney.

"I feel we have a nucleus of a real good team," said Diaz.

Coach Bernie Schnieder, whose Marin Catholic Wildcats last year won the Marin County Athletic League's 1961 Christmas tournament and placed fourth in the league's final standings, said this week his squad looks "fair" in early season practice, but the Wildcats are hurting in the size department. They have only two players over six feet tall: Paul Kruger, 6-4, All-County and All-MCAL football end, and Bob Williams, a second string forward on the Wildcat varsity last year. Williams is 6-1. At the six-foot mark is Frank Burch. These players and star forward John Enos are the team's seniors.

Other good prospects are guard Jerry Smith, outstanding for the Catholics at guard last years; Ron O'Connell, guard and younger but bigger brother of alumnus Ed O'Connell, who was one of the smoothest players the MCAL will see. Ron led the county's Class B league in scoring last year and will no doubt see a lot of action this season even as a junior; Mike Sheehan, gridders John Hassett and Chuck Hardemann, and Paul Goeckle.

Schneider said that his boys to date "look like better shooters" than last year's squad.

Coach Carl Brown at Drake has two returning senior lettermen, both football players: end Dave Manuel and Steve Purcell, a football guard. The latter will be fighting for a first string guard spot on the basketball squad with senior grid man Ed Bowler and John Giesea, a former jayvee.

Tentative first string forwards for the Pirates are Brad Bush, 6-1, and John McBride, both "B" team stars last year. Center spot, said coach Brown, "right now is like 'our gang'" which includes former junior varsity John Wallace, 6-4; Larry Gaddy, 6-3, and Bruce Ketron, 6-2.

Some other players up from a strong Drake junior varsity and a champion B team that should help make Drake one of the big contenders of the MCAL this season are Kirk Jensen, 6 feet (formerly a center, but now playing the forward slot), Don Baker and Clyde Curley.

Brown said he would be able to say a "little more" about his team after a couple of games. But at this point it is one of the most hustling and accurate shooting squads to come along at Hub country, he admitted.

In five years of coaching, McAtee at Novato is facing a real challenge this year. He'll make history in that city if he only wins one this year. It will be the Hornets' first league victory.

McAtee will have two returning lettermen and eight seniors at his disposal. The team's big leader in early season is star tailback and safety Joe Colfer of the school's varsity MCAL champion football team. Colfer has already been elected captain and been pointed up by the new mentor as the "best player so far." The other senior letterman is Carl Morris, a front man.

After a week of practice, some others that McAtee said look good are Harry Cassidy, 6-3 pivot man; Mike French, a guard; Leonard Pidrazzini, and sophomore Nick Willard, both forwards.

"We lack experience," said McAtee, "but we are coming along real well. . . . I'm fairly confident about the team."

Red Hickey Frets Over Leaky 49er Defenses

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Although they are tied for second place in the National Football League's Western Conference, the San Francisco 49ers don't impress head coach Red Hickey.

He naturally has no complaint about the 79 points his troops have piled up in their past two wins, but the 59 surrendered by San Francisco have him bothered, especially since the Prospectors are at Baltimore this Sunday.

"We have to do better than this defensively or Johnny Unitas will throw us right out of the league," Hickey said today.

Hickey yanked veterans Abe Woodson and Dave Baker and replaced them with Jerry Mertens and Jim Ridlon Sunday because Viking quarterback Francis Tarkenton was completing too many tosses their way.

"We haven't stopped anyone lately," Hickey growled.

Injuries to Leo Nomellini, Monte Clark and Bob Harrison also hurt the Prospectors defense. Nomellini will be ready for full scale action against the Colts.

Meanwhile, Vic Morabito, 49er president, would not disclose last night what the chances were that R. C. Owens will return to the club after this year.

The famed pass-snagging star did not sign a contract with the 49ers this season and is in the process of playing out his option.

Interest in whether the 25-year-old end would be with the team next year heightened after his sensational performance against Minnesota Sunday. He caught five passes for 138 yards and tallied one touchdown.

Minoso Will Join Musial In The St. Louis Outfield

Thee ven swap, consummated last night after hours of negotiations, was the second inter-league deal of the day at the annual baseball convention. Cleveland sent right-handed pitcher Bobby Locke (4-4) to the Chicago Cubs for infielder Jerry Kindall (.242).

Johnny Keane, manager of the Cardinals, was almost as pleased by the acquisition of Minoso as he was when his daughter presented him with his second grandchild last week.

Today the Cincinnati Reds announced the purchase of pitcher Dave Sisler from the Washington Senators for $75,000.

Sisler, 30, had a 2-8 record with the Senators in 45 games, all in relief. The right-hander had a 4.20 earned run average.

TIDE LOSES GROUND IN GRID POLL

The Crimson Tide, unbeaten and untied in nine games, sat out an open date last weekend and lost considerable ground in the Associated Press poll to Ohio State's Buckeyes, who walloped Michigan 50-20.

DROP SUPPORTERS

The semifinal poll showed Alabama slipping from 39 first-place votes last week to only 26 this week among the 49 sports writers and sportscasters on the AP panel.

The Buckeyes from the Big Ten, finishing an 8-0-1 season in strong fashion, increased their first-place draw from 6 last week to 21 this week.

Louisiana State is third, Texas fourth, Mississippi fifth and Colorado six, each moving up one rung.

BOWL BOUND

Alabama, counting heavily on its awesome defense, is a strong favorite to dump Auburn and wrap up its first undefeated and untied season in 16 years, and then head into the Sugar Bowl.

In the poll, Alabama ran up a total of 459 points on the basis of 10 for a first-place vote, 9 for a second-place vote, etc. Ohio State was only seven behind with 452.

The top ten, with first place votes in parentheses:

1. Alabama (26)	459
2. Ohio State (21)	452

Only 2 Bowl Game Berths Still Open

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

A once-blurred bowl picture was in sharp focus today following a rush of acceptances and the elimination of the fledgling National Trophy Bowl, in Washington, D.C.

Only two spots in nine other bowls remained to be filled. One of those, in New York's Gotham Bowl, is expected to be decided today when Auburn indicates whether it will play Utah State Dec. 9 at the Polo Grounds.

The other spot is in Houston's Bluebonnet Bow, opposite Kansas, which along with Utah State, Miami (Fla.) and Penn State accepted postseason bids yesterday. Miami will face Syracuse in Philadelphia's Liberty Bowl on Dec. 16 and Penn State will meet Georgia Tech in the Gator Bowl on Dec. 20.

The National Trophy Bow, trying for its first game this year, gave up the chase when H. C. Van Arsdale, executive director, told Memphis State that scheduling problems were too much for the sponsors. The Memphis school had hoped to get a spot in the game scheduled for Dec. 30.

Van Arsdale said he had been working on prospects since Sept. 26 but the confused bowl picture of the past week made the staging of the game "all but impossible."

The same fate could still befall the Gotham committee, which is banking on a favorable reply from Auburn, which also had been woed by the National Trophy Bowl. Auburn winds up its regular season this week against Alabama, the nation's top-ranked team. Alabama will give its final okay to a spot in the Sugar Bowl against Arkansas after the game. Kansas' opponent will be Rice if the Owls beat Baylor on Saturday.

Dec. 9

Gotham Bowl, at New York—Utah State (9-0-1) definite. Auburn (6-3) with one game to play invited.

Aviation Bowl, at Dayton, Ohio — New Mexico (6-4) vs. Western Michigan (5-3-1).

Dec. 16

Liberty Bowl, at Philadelphia—Syracuse (7-3) vs. Miami (Fla.) (6-3) with one game to play.

Bluebonnet Bowl, at Houston — Kansas (6-3-1) definite Rice (6-3) invited if it beats Baylor on Saturday.

Dec. 29

Tangerine Bowl, at Orlando, Fla. — Middle Tennessee (7-3) vs. Lamar Tech (6-2-1).

Dec. 30

Sun Bowl, at El Paso, Tex.—Villanova (7-2) vs. Wichita (8-2).

Jan. 1

Orange Bowl, at Miami—Colorado (8-1) vs. Louisiana State (9-1).

Sugar Bowl, at New Orleans—Arkansas (8-2) vs. Alabama (9-0) with one game remaining.

Mississippi and Ohio State have not indicated they will play in Dallas, and Pasadena, respectively. But neither have denied that bids have been offered and that they are favorably inclined.

The FISHIN' FOOL

STEVENS

So the rains have come, and so, as usual, a flock of avid angling addicts have begun laying plans for a coastal steelhead trip. Already I have answered my phone several times to assure the caller that his chances of getting steelhead in any of the loop streams is very, very slim.

Just set the record straight — and perhaps to save some of my readers a fruitless trip—suppose we analyze this steelhead business. Okay? (Mind you, I am now speaking of what I call the LOOP streams —the Russian, the Gualala, the Garcia, Navarro, Noya, Big, Little and Ten Mile river, mainly).

The season on steelhead opens on November 1. We all know that, but a lot of folks don't realize that almost never are there any steelhead in the aforementioned streams at that time. Salmon? Yes. Silvers mostly but also kings in some of those streams. The old-timers take it for granted that it is only AFTER the runs of salmon have come and are about gone, before any steelhead come in from the ocean to spawn. There may be an occasional steelie happen along, but no real runs.

THE SALMON usually finish their spawning runs toward the end of November or the first of December. So, we don't expect steelhead action until the end of November or the first of December. And, sad to relate, it is the end of November and the first of December that historically the rains begin along the coast. The rains open the mouths of the bar-bound streams and allow the steelhead to come in from the ocean. BUT, the heavy rains that are needed to open the bars and activate the fish milling around outside the mouths, raise the level of the streams and turn the color of the water to such an extent that chances to catch such fish as have come in are just about nil.

After a period of hard rains, it takes from one week to 10 days for most of the streams to lower to a normal level and for the water to clear enough to work a lure of a roeberry. When the water has cleared to the extent that the color is somewhat like someone had emptied a huge can of milk in the water, that is the ideal time for the catching of steelhead.

OKAY, SO what happens? If there is no rain for perhaps a week AFTER the water has assumed a milky appearance, there is a good chance that the water will be too clear for successful fishing except for skillful fly fishing—or spinner work. So we sit back and pray for rain. In time it comes and the whole cycle is repeated. The steelhead come in from the ocean, they rest up in the deeper holes in order to accustom themselves to the increased oxygen in the fresh water. The river gradually lowers and on the next rain, the fish that are in the holes will move upstream on their way to the spawning grounds. A new batch comes in from the ocean and rests up in place of the fish already gone upstream.

DURING A normal season, it is safe to say that not over one third of the elapsed time, from the opening to the close of the season on the last day of February, will furnish prime conditions for the taking steelhead.

The best advice I can pass along is this: Pay no attention to reports on how many fish have been or are being taken on any certain stream. Just make sure the bar at the mouth of such streams as you will visit is open, and that the water conditions are prime. Contact the weather bureau and learn how much if any rain has fallen in the area, especially learn whether rain has fallen back in the hills from the coast. If it has been raining hard, postpone your trip. If it starts raining hard during the night when you are at your spot, better eat breakfast and head for home. If you get word that a week has passed since the last hard rain, get in the old bus and head for your favorite spot. Your chances are good.

TO CLOSE the subject — make no mistake about it, while the prime steelhead fishing days are rather few, the catching of just one tide-run winter steelhead on the proper tackle constitutes a complete and soul-satisfying experience. There just isn't any fish that swims that can beat such a steelhead under such conditions. Allah be praised, I have spoken. Goodbye, good luck and go get 'em!

Golf Pros Not So Camera Shy When It Comes To Lucrative Television Show

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—This was a few years back during a P.G.A. tournament and Jackie Burke, usually a mild, smiling man, was so upset he couldn't eat his dinner.

"Those photographers," he stormed, blue eyes blazing. "One of them snapped a picture today just as I hit an approach shot and I flubbed it. I could have buried my wedge in his skull."

Now, as it develops, it's all a matter of who takes the picture—and what's in it for the man swinging the club.

THERE HAS been, from time to time, disgraceful coercion of photographers on various golf courses. They have been threatened with ejection for daring to snap a shutter within earshot, run off by officious marshals and by their mere presence drawn looks from the ham actors among the pros which told the crowd clearly that these were lowly pariahs with malicious intentions.

But matches filmed for television have shown the loudest complainants among the pros for what they are, a bunch of brassie Barrymores who love to play to the gallery. The lonely click of the still camera, or the whirr of a for-free motion picture camera, sends them into an Academy Award dramatic performance.

It's something else again when the gears grind and mesh on the matches being filmed for television and they must wait interminably between shots.

Concrete evidence comes in the boasts concerning the excellence of matches filmed for NBC'S All-Star Golf Show. Despite the fact that every shot is delayed and recorded to the accompaniment of several cameras, Peter Thomson shot a 10 under par 60 in one of the 12 matches filmed and the highest round was a one over par 72.

Bang, clatter, grind . . .

The golfers in the six matches turned in 138 par holes, 59 birdies, 13 bogies, five double bogies and an eagle.

Bang, clatter, grind . . .

ONE OF the five double bogies occurred when Jerry Barber's caddy repaired a ball mark on the green and he was assessed a two-stroke penalty.

Bang, clatter, grind . . .

Bang, clatter, grind . . .

Gary Player stepped up and holed a 55-footer, a spot where most pros demand absolute silence and lack of movement.

Bang, clatter, grind . . .

STAN LEONARD and Doug Sanders played 36 holes without a single bogey, firing a total of 20 birdies and an eagle.

Bang, clatter, grond . . .

Click . . .

"If I get my hands on that guy, I'll bury my wedge in his skull."

How ridiculous can you get?

Coaches Pick Santa Clara, Troy To Win

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Stronger collegiate basketball teams are in prospect along the West Coast this season with close competition expected in both the Big Five and West Coast Athletic Conference.

In its initial meeting of the year yesterday, the Northern California Basketball Writers and Broadcasters Association tabbed the University of Southern California as favorite in the Big Five and Santa Clara in the WCAC.

Each of the five WCAC coaches present predicted a tougher fight in their league than during last season when Loyola of Los Angeles copped the honors.

The writers picked Loyola to finish second and San Jose State third in the seven-school league.

Behind USC, the finish was tabbed as Washington second and Stanford third.

All of the teams in the area open this weekend. St. Mary's hosts Sacramento State on Friday night with Chico State playing at San Jose. Both USF and California play alumni teams.

On Saturday night, USF plays at Stanford, University of the Pacific at California, Chico State at Santa Clara and San Jose State at San Francisco State. Chico State and San Francisco State are members of the Far Western Conference.

Venturi To Play In Marin Golf Benefit

In one of the most heartwarming golf events played in Northern California, dozens of golf "teams" will gather at Marin Golf and County Club, Friday, Dec. 8, to tee off in the first annual Muscular Dystrophy Invitational.

Leading the team tourney will be Ken Venturi and the self styled "world champion golfing disc jockey," Jim Lange, who were the first ones to sign up with Tournament Chairman Chuck McHugh.

Each team will donate $40 to play in the event in the portion of all monies collected from entries will go to aid research and care for the nation's 250,000 dystrophic patients, most of them just young children. Although there will be plenty of fine prizes, they will be modest in keeping with the purpose of this unusual tournament.

Already signed up and ready to play with, as yet unnamed partners, are Harvey Ward, Jim Davenport, Hobie Landrith and Lon Simmons.

Team entries can be mailed to Chuck McHugh, chairman, First Annual Muscular Dystrophy Invitational, 1500 Bush Street, San Francisco. The entry fee includes a buffet dinner and top entertainment after the tournament.

According to McHugh, who has put in a lot of time on this Tournament along with Bill McGarry of Garry Enterprises, funds raised from this tournament help to provide and support Muscular Dystrophy Clinics; therapy; orthopedic equipment; counseling; transportation to and from hospitals and recreational events and numerous family services.

California Rings To Be Busy Tonight

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

At Fresno, Ben (Bandit) Medina battles to square accounts with speedy Billy Thomas of San Francisco who stopped the Fresno boxer in their initial meeting.

Also on the Richmond card, Pete Heiser, former Northern California Golden Gloves champion, will make his hometown pro debut against George Thomas of Oakland. The two have met before—in Oakland —with a draw decision.

At San Jose, welterweights Gaspar Ortega of Tijuana battles Frankie Ramirez of Los Angeles over the route of 10 rounds or less.

A Sacramento card scheduled for tonight was canceled because, matchmaker John Sylvester said, suitable preliminary fighters were not available. The main event was to have been a rematch of Trino Savala, Sacramento, and Arturo Vingochea, Mexico. Sylvester said that with all the other boxing shows in Northern California tonight, "there is not enough talent to go around."

There were no knockdowns. Brown slipped to the canvas in the 10th when he missed Smith with a roundhouse right. Referee Vern Bybee, the only official, scored it 5-2 and three even.

Youngsters like this are more than newspaperboys. They've become a healthy economic force, both for their own betterment and the good of the community. Imagine: these young fellows, since the start of the Independent-Journal Merchants Point Program, have purchased some $5,-500 worth of goods and services from participating merchants. (Using points, earned as commissions for new subscriptions, redeemable by the I-J at cash value).

Merchants in the plan both gain business and help these younger businessmen gain in the knowledge of buying and saving. (Some boys for instance, are putting savings with Marin firms toward a college education).

In addition, our 600 newspaperboys, earning nearly $200,000 annually, are placing these funds to work in Marin—banking, investing, buying, adding to the economy and to their own advancement. It's all part of the community values which these self-reliant youngsters create by doing a job. In this, we believe, everyone gains.

For Michael Fraize, that's a window to the future. Just 13, he's already investing part of his earnings with Marin County Savings & Loan Association.

American Impressions—

By PATRICIA ZINN

Seated around the blazing fireplace at the Meadow Club, American Field Service exchange students in Marin were in high spirits after observing their first Thanksgiving. Mari Sogayar of Brazil even suggested, "It was so good I feel like introducing it in my country."

The nine students along with their American brothers and sisters and Mrs. Joseph Marshall of Belvedere, director of the AFS program in Marin, were luncheon guests on Friday of Mrs. William Zimmerman of Del Mesa.

Missing from the group was Kenyon Gilson of South Africa who was at Lake Tahoe with his American family, Dr. and Mrs. Delman Smith and son, Danny, of Sausalito.

The group seemed happy to be reunited. It afforded the opportunity to discuss and show pictures of their recent weekend in Santa Rosa. They also talked of similarities and differences among their own countries and America.

Bente Hildeng, who is attending Tamalpais High School, finds the climate in Marin much warmer than in her native Norway and amusingly pointed out that at Christmas "We have horses instead of reindeer pulling the sleighs." Bente is making her home in America with the John R. McDonnells of Mill Valley. The attractive young lady who wants to study medicine, is popular at Tam, where she was a candidate for football queen and is president of the International Club. "In Norway," she said, "students may quit after seven years of schooling. It is very hard to get into high school, for you must take an examination."

Mari also wants to study medicine and at Redwood High School she is taking physics and physiology which she hopes will further her chances in passing an examination to medical school in Brazil. The vivacious brunette, who is living with the Harry Rothrock family in San Anselmo, "likes every thing here." "Oh sure," she says, "I would like to come back." Mari's father owns a coffee plantation in the state of Parana although her family makes their home in Sao Paulo.

School rallies have been a highlight during Servet Mutlu's stay in America, for the exchange student at Redwood High says that they don't exist in Turkey. Servet, who makes his home with Dr. and Mrs. Charles Secor in Larkspur, finds "I am changing plans every day—now, I want to be a mechanical engineer." He finds the climate and terrain of southern Turkey comparable to Marin.

Frans Zonneveld enjoyed telling the others of skating on the dykes in his native Holland and was enthusiastically looking forward to a trip to the snow with the Ski Club at Novato High School. The young man, who is staying with the Eugene DeBrechts in Novato, seems to be enjoying the weather and remarked that the weather in Holland is cloudy with "not many sunny days."

Nineteen-year-old Gertrud Axelrod of Sweden is attending the Katharine Branson School where she is enrolled in the special advanced mathematics course and taking piano lessons. Gertrud, is also learning to ride horseback during her stay with the Joe Cooper Jrs., in Kentfield. Her ambition is to be an elementary school teacher.

At Sir Francis Drake High School Sergio Pecarelli is still surprised to find himself changing classes because in Italy "only the teachers are moving." Sergio, who lives near Milan, says that the American school system offers "much more communication between teacher and student." For Sergio, who is staying with Dr. and Mrs. Aaron Ungersma of San Anselmo, the spirit at football games is much greater than the soccer games in Italy and he is all for that.

Jeanne Bui of Viet Nam has been "freezing" since arriving in Marin for the temperature of her hometown, Saigon, is much higher. Jeanne makes her home with the Roscoe Smiths in San Anselmo while attending Drake High School. She is concentrating on improving her English while in this country.

"People are very welcoming" says Catherine Boyer of Toulouse, France, who is living with the Joseph Jacobsens of San Rafael. Catherine, who has never attended a coeducational school, likes San Rafael High School, particularly, the football games.

She pointed out that the Toulouse terrain is flat and has many plains.

Gerd Wissman, in comparing the American schools with that of Germany, noted that the stress in his country was on academic theory while that in the U. S. was on practice. Gerd attends San Rafael High and resides with the Robert Houstons in San Rafael. He noted no difference in the two climates but did go on to say "In California everything is in greater measure."

The young man was quite impressed that the driving age in America is 16 "while in Germany one must be 18."

Women Voters Unit Meetings Are Announced

"Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act" is the subject for discussion at this week's unit meetings of the League of Women Voters of Mill Valley held at 9:45 a.m. at the homes of members.

Todays' meeting was held at the home of Mrs. H. L. Shain. Tomorrow Mrs. S. I. Hayakawa will be the hostess, and Thursday's hostess will be Mrs. E. B. Chiswell.

Discussion leaders are Mesdames Stephen C. Kaufman, H. H. Bjornstrom, G. S. Sarkaria and Arthur Sestak of the foreign policy workshop.

Down Go Pockets

Harvey Berin, New York manufacturer, lowered the placement of pockets in spring dresses so that there is no fabric bulge when the wearer sits. As the fashion show commentator pointed out this advantage, a buyer in the audience whispered to her neighbor—"I wonder why they put pockets in 'em at all. Most women already have enough around the hips."

We're All Cheaters So It's No Wonder Children Learn It

We all are cheaters, one way or another. We may not tell big lies, or steal from the poor box. But we break speed laws, tell little fibs and cut a good many corners.

It is no wonder our children cheat — we set such bad examples. If there's a test at school which seems important, and if they think they can get by with it, the majority of our boys and girls will cheat. Teachers have tried many systems to stop them but none succeeded completely. There's going to be at least a little cribbing, no matter what.

I've been checking the honor system. It puts pupils on their honor not to fudge. It sounds good and usually works, for a time. Then the more desperate kids begin to take advantage of it, and others see them and follow suit. Eventually nearly all of them cheat their heads off, under te "onor system."

Should teachers ignore cheating? No. That makes a mockery of education. Children learn to cheat their way through life. Lessons aren't mastered. The few thoroughly honest youngsters are handicapped. The nearest thing to a solution to cheating is eternal vigilance. Teachers should prepare tests in which cribbing is difficult. They should seat their pupils so collaboration is impossible. They should personally patrol the room, every minute of every test. They should expect the worst, and be prepared for it.

Those caught cheating should be punished. They should be made very uncomfortable, but they needn't be disgraced for life. A means should be provided for them to work their way back to good standing.

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "My boy is 15. He wants to have dates, but is too young to drive. Would it be proper for me to take him to pick up his girl, drive them to their parties, and call for them afterward?" Mrs. K.H.

(A) Yes, indeed. That's the way millions of us parents do it.

Radio Near Bath Has Its Dangers

A leisurely tub bath is relaxing, and when combined with soft music from a nearby radio it may have even greater soothing effect. But the use of a regular cord radio, near a bath, has its dangers.

In co-operation with the National Safety Council, Sony Corporation of America issued this public service notice today: If an ordinary radio, with electrical power from house current (AC) is used while one is taking a bath, be sure it is placed away from the tub with no chance of it slipping into the water. A playing radio that slips into the water could create enough of an electrical shock to the bather to cause death.

YOUR HOUSEHOLD

Grandma's Method Praised For Washing The Durables

A home laundry specialist advises going back to some of grandma's techniques for washing durables — including bath towels, bobby sox, underwear and sheets.

Mrs. Jessie Cartwright contends that housewives have forgotten how to wash these items in the course of learning all about washing nylons, dacrons, treated cottons and stuffed toys.

"As a result, the everyday clothes and linens come out of the automatic washer gray, yellow, spotted, stained, creased and dingy," she told delegates to the recent National Home Laundry Conference.

Mrs. Cartwright, director of home economics for a laundry equipment manufacturer, suggests a return to these time-tested principles for washing durables:

—Sort white clothes from colored.

—Use cleaning fluid to remove grease and other non-water soluble stains and spots.

—Wash heavily-soiled greasy work clothes separately for about five minutes in hot water with sufficient detergent.

—Use hot water, at least 140 degrees.

—Use soft water or at least soften the rinse.

—Soak baby clothes and diapers in cool water before washing in hot water, then rinse and rinse in soft or softened water, using no highly alkalized solutions, to avoid diaper rash.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

Don't Believe All You Hear About Those Brilliant Plays

If you want anybody to listen to your bridge stories you have to praise the other fellow when he tells you about the brilliant play he made in the game the other night. Still, you're allowed to wonder what really happened.

The story goes that this hand was played in Amsterdam about 25 years ago. West opened the deuce of diamonds, declarer put up the ace from the dummy, and East brilliantly played the king of diamonds!

South had been planning to draw trumps and try the club finesse. East could see that the club finesse would work, so he tried to steer South to a play that would fail.

Naturally, South didn't want to risk the club finesse when he knew all about the diamonds. He drew trumps and finessed with dummy's ten of diamonds.

Down one. And the story is still being told, 25 years later.

WHAT HAPPENED: Maybe it really happened that way. If so, we have to give East credit.

Maybe East played a normal nine of diamonds at the first trick. Later, while South was scoring up the grand slam and rubber, East observed that he should have played the king.

Naturally, everybody would admire the idea even though it was just an afterthought. And by the time the story was told for the tenth time, a week later, it would develop that East really had played the king of diamonds. Hurrah for East!

While you're cheering, don't forget about West. He didn't blink when his partner dropped the king of diamonds. Any ordinary mortal would stare at South in astonishment and ask, "What are you doing with all those diamonds?" And then the cat would be out of the bag.

What luck to have a partner with a good poker face just when you're going to make a play that would knock any ordinary partner right off his chair!

DAILY QUESTION: Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes. You hold:

What do you say?

Answer: Bid two clubs. The hand is not quite good enough for a jump to three clubs. The bidding shown in the diagram is a trifle too enthusiastic.

German Church Sends Thanks

GLENDALE (UPI)—The North Glendale Methodist Church received a postcard from a methodist pastor in East Germany thanking the Californians for financial help.

The passage reads: We are troubled on every side, yet not distressed; we are perplexed but not in despair, persecuted but not forsaken; cast down, but not destroyed."

Abandoned Mine May Be Used As Shelter

CHESTER, Mass (UPI) — An abandoned emery mine may serve as a fallout shelter for this town's entire population of 1,000.

Civil Defense authorities are considering a plan to use as a giant shelter this mine, not used since 1905, whose entrance is less than 400 yards from busy Route 20.

Methodists Now Number 10 Million

CHICAGO (UPI)—A 10-year-old girl from Wilson, N.C., is reported to be the 10-millionth member of the Methodist church.

Betsy joined the church on March 26.

Cancer Researchers May Lose Funds

NEW YORK (UPI) — A few years ago it was "Mr. Republican." A few days ago it was "Mr. Democrat." Within easy memory it was a secretary of state and also a celebrated movie actor. But hundreds of thousands will tell you this fate is not reserved only for the high and mighty.

Cancer displays no partiality. It takes the obscure as readily as the famous who get the big publicity. There hardly exists an American who hasn't lost a relative or a friend. That has to be since it killed 265,000 last year. If cancer isn't in every home, it's close by.

This brings up a matter of 15 million dollars which is embittering cancer research scientists. They want it. They thought they were going to get it. Now it looks as though they won't. It is the 15 million health-education-welfare Secretary Abraham Ribicoff lopped off the 1961-62 budget of the National Cancer Institute.

You might ask why scientists should fret over a mere 15 million. The institute, which is the federal government's cancer research arm, will still have 127 million dollars to work with, and that's a considerable increase over its current budget of 111 million dollars.

In addition there is the approximately 11 million dollars a year the public puts into cancer research through contributions to the American Cancer Society, and the some 8 million dollars it contributes annually to a number of other private research agencies.

The reason the scientists fret is a simple one when it is reduced to its essence. They now know enough about cancer to know the enormous amount they don't know. Put this against an indisputable fact and you will see why to them the matter is urgent.

This fact is the only real "answer" to cancer is (1) the ability to prevent it and (2) the ability to cure it. As of now cancer prevention is much more stabs-in-the-dark maneuvers than an actuality and the "cures" (surgery and radiation) are workable in pathetically small percentages of cancer victims.

This "real" answer can come only out of basic scientific research and in view of the little that is known in relation to the whole of what isn't known, this research has to be diffused over the origins of life and also over all the circumstances and conditions in which life exists.

That takes scientific manpower — manpower to plan, manpower to experiment and study, manpower to translate the results into practical applications to people.

The over-all medical word for cancer is "neoplasm" which merely means, "new growth." Cancer is "new growth" of cells and tissues which have been freed of the natural controls over growth. The "new growth" pursues its outlaw course until it kills the host. Other medical words for cancer refer to the type of cell or tissue in which the "new growth" is occuring.

Something had to trigger this "new growth," wherever it is. Cancer science must know what it is in every case if it is going to come up with the real "answer"—not only what it is but precisely how it works.

In some cases it is a spontaneous happening within the cell. In others, it is some kind of poisoning from the outside —from the environment. For instance, Speaker Sam Rayburn, "Mr. Democrat," had two sisters who died of cancer. That indicates a hereditary or "genetic" factor.

Sen. Maurine Neuberger (D-Ore.) is recovering from surgery which removed cancerous tissue from the intestine. Her husband, the late Sen. Richard L. Neuberger, had similar surgery. Man and wife are unalike genetically but they share intimately one environment. Could this explain anything as regards the Neubergers? That is merely one of the hundreds of unanswered cancer questions.

Factory Front Office Overtaking Workers

NEW YORK (AP)—In many a factory, the front office men and women are fast overtaking the production workers in numbers and also in percentage of total operating costs.

Since 1947 the number of blue collar workers has dipped 4 per cent, due largely to an average 3 per cent a year rise in output per man-hour that often means more goods from fewer men and women on the production lines.

In the same period the number of nonproduction workers has gone up 63 per cent. This has had a big effect on over-all manufacturing overhead—both in total costs and in their inflexibility in the business cycle.

In 1947, salaries counted for one-fourth of total factory payrolls. Now they are more than one-third of the total.

And average annual salaries in 1960 were $7,300 in manufacturing industries, compared to the annual wages of $4,700. The gap of $2,600 compares with a difference of $1,900 in 1953 between average white collar salary and blue collar wage.

The very increase in productivity, due to mechanization and automation, that has let factories hold the line or decrease workers has built up much of the increased demand for the white collar worker.

Mechanization and record keeping for such things as pensions, tax withholding, hospital insurance, has meant more paper work. Clerical workers are the largest group of white collar employees, but their increase since 1952 has been 13 per cent, quite modest compared with the gains in the professional and technical ends of manufacturing. One reason for the more modest growth of clerical rolls may be that here, too, much of the work is done increasingly by machines.

Sales workers, managers, executives and proprietors also have increased in numbers in the last decade.

All of this is a big part of the reason that overhead costs have risen so persistently in recent years, the Chase Manhattan Bank, New York, notes today in its review of business.

As far as production lines alone are concerned, the rise in output per man hour of work has been fairly steady in the last decade as new machines and methods took over in the factories and better plants were built.

But count in all manufacturing company costs—both blue and white collar—and the rate of growth in productivity has slowed notably since 1955. The bank's economists think this could be due to the rapid increase in the number of nonproduction workers.

They say output per salaried employee has fallen off sharply, putting a drag on over-all output per man-hour.

The increase in payrolls per man-hour over output per man-hour came in two spurts — the Korean War sent both wage and salary unit costs higher. The other was between 1955 and 1958 when productivity dropped while salaries continued to rise, although wage costs per unit of output were held down by mechanization.

Right now the business recovery is increasing productivity faster than employee compensation. The bank economists think maintaining this trend could play a big part in setting the duration and strength of the upturn.

Religious Ads Called Good Sell

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Advertising "sells" religion as surely as it sells any product, according to the Knights of Columbus.

The K. of C. advertises widely throughout the country and has received more than four million responses to its explanations of Roman Catholic doctrine in the last 13 years.

An estimated 1,500 inquiries reach the organization's headquarters in St. Louis every day. Nearly 430,000 persons have asked for instruction in the Catholic faith.

Student Population Expected To Double

NEW YORK (UPI)—A population increase by 1970 is expected to almost double the present student population of the nation's secondary schools, according to a report by Allied Chemical Corporation's building materials division.

California is expected to have almost 800,000 more high school students by 1970, a rise of 85 per cent over last year, while Arizona anticipates a jump of 70 per cent and Florida an increase of 80 per cent.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

The news of today's events is always waiting for you in your evening I-J. (Which is a little different than waiting until tomorrow to read about "yesterday.")

As an evening newspaper, our deadline is always today. Our entire editorial staff combs the county, the nation, the whole world, to bring you the news as it happens. That is the basic job of a newspaper . . . and of the far-flung news-gathering resources of AP and UPI who serve us that we may serve you.

As a result, 68% of all Marin County families take the I-J. By being part of today it's part of their lives . . . and part of the fun of coming home.

Two Accused Of Swindle Attempt Are Arraigned

Two Los Angeles men accused of attempting to swindle a retired 72-year-old Larkspur banker were arraigned in Marin Superior Court yesterday on extortion charges and granted a continuance by Judge Richard M. Sims Jr. to Dec. 11.

William A. Simon, 56, remained free in $5,250 bail. Robert T. Brown, 25, who had been free in the same amount, was returned to Marin County Jail when a bondsman reported one of the persons guaranteeing the bail had withdrawn.

The two are accused of trying to extort money from Redmond Everhard of 210 Murray Avenue, Larkspur, after Brown met him last September in Pershing Square in Los Angeles.

Everhard told Larkspur Police Chief Howard Clark that Brown persuaded him to go to a hotel room and then flashed what appeared to be a police bodge and told him he was under arrest on suspicion of lewd acts.

Everhard said he talked Brown out of the "arrest." He said a few days later, after he had returned to Larkspur, both Brown and Simon appeared at his home, showed badges and said they had come to return him to Los Angeles, then said he could post bail with them and skip any court appearance. Everhard locked the pair in the house and called police.

Records show Brown was arrested 11 times in five states since 1953, Clark said, and Simon had been arrested in 1926 in Dallas on a charge of bilking a hotel.

DEMO SPEAKER — Howard H. Jewell of San Francisco, assistant attorney general of California, will speak on "The Radical Right Versus Civil Liberties" before the San Rafael Democratic Club at Bermuda Palms at 8:30 p.m. on Wednesday. The meeting is open to the public.

Second Trial Is Scheduled For Accused Wife-Slayer

A second trial for Robert Burdett Rogers, 42, San Gabriel contractor, on a wife murder charge was set in Marin Superior Court yesterday for Jan. 9. The trial by jury is expected to last about two weeks.

Judge Richard M. Sims Jr. denied the request of attorney George T. Davis of San Francisco, who recently took Roger's case, for a change of venue. He also denied a request for bail and Rogers remained in Marin County Jail.

Rogers had received a number of continuances when his Southern California attorneys said they could not appear in court. He pleaded innocent to the new charge Oct. 23.

Rogers was convicted of slaying his estranged wife, Bertie, in San Rafael two years ago, and sentenced to five years to life in prison. Last July the State Supreme Court set aside the conviction and ordered a new trial on the basis that improper testimony was allowed in evidence in the first trial.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Canned fruit sales in the nation's supermarkets are increasing at a more rapid rate than overall store sales, the grocery edition of Chain Store Age reports.

Customer demand for canned fruit has pushed the total to $421 million in 1960 — a gain of 49 per cent over the last six years as compared with a gain of 42 per cent for the food chains as a whole.

'Suds' Opening Set For Friday

The first performance of Twin Cities Troupers' production of "Suds in Your Eye" will be given Friday at 8 p.m. in the Henry C. Hall School in Larkspur.

Ten percent of the gross ticket sales will be used to start a fund for resurfacing the Larkspur-Corte Madera School tennis courts, said business manager Betty Widlund.

The play will be shown at the same time Saturday and Dec. 8 and 9. It is sponsored by the Larkspur-Corte Madera Joint Recreation Commission.

Novato Club Directors Will Discuss Disbanding

Whether the Novato Community Club will be disbanded or kept alive will be discussed by the club's directors at 8 o'clock tonight in the clubhouse auditorium at the same time the Novato City Council is meeting in the dining room.

John Sorenson, president of Novato Community, Inc., said if the directors vote to disband the club, they must dispose of its remaining physical assets.

Although the club lost the clubhouse to the city, it still owns the furnishings, Sorenson said.

The city council will meet in the temporary city hall at 8 p.m. and then adjourn to the clubhouse dining room for its first meeting in the clubhouse. It introduced an ordinance two weeks ago to move its meeting place to the clubhouse.

The city was awarded the clubhouse on Sept. 14, in a suit in Marin County Superior Court.

"The city council will be using our chairs and tables for its meeting," Sorenson said.

Club membership is now 181, or within 40 of the all time high, Sorenson said. He maintained that the garden, book and drama sections are still in the club, although they have voted to withdraw. The drama section changed its name to Novato Community Theater. The garden section voted to withdraw to become the Novato Garden Club.

Persons injured in accidents in the United States last year totaled 46.4 million.
